HUDSON'S EUMENTHOL TOOTH POWDER

SECURES SOUND WHITE TEETH.

Some practical reasons why Hudson's Eumenthol Tooth Powder should be used for Cleansing and Preserving the Teeth.

BECAUSE it contains the Germicidal and Antiseptic virtues that have made Eumenthol Jujubes famous the world over.

BECAUSE it is not only an Antiseptic and Germicide, but cleanses mechanically, owing to the evolution of oxygen when in contact with water or moisture.

BECAUSE it is the oxygen which whitens the Teeth so wonderfully, and wards off decay as no other preparation for the Teeth can do or will do without affecting the Tooth Enamel.

Leading Scientists are agreed that a powder is superior to any liquid or paste for cleansing and preserving the teeth. The Committee of the British Dental Association recommend Powder for cleansing the teeth.

THERE IS PHOTOGRAPHY AND PHOTOGRAPHY.
WE ARE PROFESSORS IN PHOTOGRAPHY.

Photography is one of the professions which admit of all classes of aspirants. As sure as the various standards of Gold differ in value, so sure is there an equal difference to be found in Photographs. If a Photographer be not an artist he is but a mechanic, working by rule to obtain a given result. But the work of the artist appeals to the heart.
Our work is an incentive, and an ideal to every true lover of Art.
A TRUTH.—We number among our staff of Artists Gentlemen of HIGHEST TALENT, Specialists in each Department, Producers of good Original Work.

ARGYLL CARS.
It is not what a salesman claims for his cars, but what users say about them, that counts with the discerning buyer.
The users of ARGYLLS all speak well of them, because their cars give good service.
Ask any Argyll Owner how he gets along with his car, and he will tell you that it is economical to run, that its appearance is much admired, that the One Hand Hood is a fine thing when rain begins to fall, that he never had a skid through applying his "four wheel brakes," and that his engine is powerful, quiet, flexible, and a pleasure to drive. Then ask us about prices, specifications, and trial runs.

as the "King of Motor Bicycles."

In the London-Edinburgh Trial last month three L.M.C.'s were entered, securing Three Gold Medals and the Cup.

It takes a strong Motor Cycle for long distance work like the 800-mile London-Edinburgh Contest. The L.M.C.'s have the substance, and stand hard work anywhere.

Sole Agents:—

W. and F. LARKE, Ltd.,

LARKE, HOSKINS, 237 Castlereagh-street.

A GOOD MAKE OF SECOND-HAND CAR, in first-class order, is a better investment than a new, cheap Car. A New Car depreciates from thirty to fifty per cent. the first year; a Second-hand Car bought at the right place is always a Saleable Asset. We have Cars and Lorries that have had very little use going for half or less than half their original cost; and we are authorised by the owners to guarantee their condition. We have sold hundreds of Cars, and can refer you to satisfied clients throughout the country. We have Cars that have been taken as part payment for larger Cars of later models, and some that are portions of assigned estates. Write to us, stating the class of Car you want, and we will forward particulars of the Car we would recommend for your purpose if we have one that would suit you. Should you purchase a larger Car or a New Car, we would take your small Car as part payment. We have Cars we can sell on terms. Assistance given to purchasers, who will also be taught to drive. METZ "22."

AT BROCK'S CREEK, NORTHERN TERRITORY

We have received an unsolicited appreciation of the METZ "22" from Mr. James A. Walker, Mining Engineer, who writes as follows:—

"Dear Mr. Hellicar,—The METZ (to say nothing of the 22) goes very nicely, and I am not sorry I plunged into Friction Drive, especially on roads such as are here, as GEAR-CHANGING IS A SIMPLE MATTER, and there's lots of it to do at times, escaping stumps and such like."

MANY PEOPLE

will not be guided by testimonials from users of cars, but surely Mr. Walker's words are well worth weighing over. This gentleman visited Sydney, and thoroughly tested out for himself the claims we make for the wonderful simplicity and efficiency of the Friction Drive Transmission, and after he gave us the opportunity of DEMONSTRATING the car to him he was not long in deciding on a METZ, and from the above it is evident that he is QUITE SATISFIED with his purchase.

30 MILES TO THE GALLON.

THE 3½-H.P. NEW HUDSON.

MODEL 3A THREE-SPEED MOTOR CYCLE.

For an up-to-date Motor Cycle that fills every requirement of the most ardent tourist, this splendid machine cannot be surpassed.

We are continually receiving confirmation of its excellence from men who have tested it under all conditions.

Mr. R. J. Knodler, writing on July 17th, from Singleton, says:—"It affords me much pleasure to write you about my new Hudson 4-h.p. Motor Cycle purchased from you six weeks ago. Since purchasing I have done five hundred miles or more with Side Car, and over some of the roughest roads in the district, and so far I have never met a hill which I could not take with a twelve-stone passenger in the Side Car. The gears (Armstrong) are really a pleasure to manipulate, and a great boon to traffic driving and hill-climbing. In short, the New Hudson is THE Machine for Side Car or solo work, or the "go anywhere and pull anything" Motor Cycle. Wishing you every success in the Motor Trade."

If you want further proof of the superiority of the New Hudson, call and see the latest Model in our Showrooms.

HEARNE'S Bronchitis Cure

THE most common ailment in existence is "Just a Cold"; but how many Bright Young Lives have been cut off—how many Brilliant Careers prematurely ended through the simple neglect of "Just a Cold." If people only realised that nearly all victims of Bronchitis, Pneumonia, Asthma, Pleurisy and Consumption, owe their condition to the sad neglect of "Just a Cold," there would be fewer premature bereavements to grieve over and fewer heart-breaking partings to be inevitably faced. Nearly all cases of Bronchitis, Asthma, Pneumonia, Pleurisy and Consumption COMMENCED with "Just a Cold." Only too often a "Cough" is despised for its very insignificance, for the simple reason that, in its early stages, it causes little inconvenience to the Patient—even though it may irritate and annoy Church Congregations, and Concert and Theatre Audiences. If you have a Cold that has got right out of hand and become seriously acute with ALARMING SYMPTOMS showing, you need to get on to the RIGHT TREATMENT without delay. It is in such cases that HEARNE'S Bronchitis Cure proves most valuable—although ONE DOSE of this wonderful remedy will very often prove sufficient if taken at the commencement of a Cold.

"I think your Remedy a fine one"

Writes MISS MURIEL STARR

Dr. Sheldon's New Discovery

Miss Muriel Starr's appearance in the American drama "Madame X" is one of the sensational successes of the Australian stage. She has had a wonderful career of star-roles in America. Her Mary Turner in "Within the Law" has afforded Australians merely an idea of the work she is capable of doing. This remarkable actress writes to the Sheldon Drug Co., Ltd., as follows:—

SHELDON DRUG CO., LTD., SYDNEY.

Dear Sirs,—

I have been using your Dr. Sheldon's New Discovery for the past week, and although I have never given a testimonial for anything before in all my life, I feel that it is my duty now to write and tell you what a splendid Remedy I think Dr. Sheldon's New Discovery is.

I had such a nasty little cold, and it bothered me so much and affected my voice when speaking. I never was so annoyed before, and I could not seem to get rid of it—sometimes it was a little better and then much worse. At last I was told to try Dr. Sheldon's New Discovery, and I did, and I think it fine. The very first dose eased my throat and helped my voice, and now every trace of the cold is gone. There was no getting better and then worse again with that cold after starting with New Discovery—I simply improved right along, and I want to tell you that I think your Remedy a fine one, and I intend never to travel again without a bottle in my grip.

Wishing New Discovery every success,

I am, sincerely yours,

(Sgd.) MURIEL STARR.

(CHRONICLED BY SIR HENRY LUCY.)

Dull Days in the Commons—Premier's Royal Birthday Party—The Public and the Militant Suffragists—The Huth Collection—A Human Palimpsest.

LONDON, June 19.

The Home Rule Bill out of the House of Commons, thrust into the unwilling hands of the Peers, a condition of dullness has set in with irresistible force. On Monday night the Plural Voting Bill, a measure that stirs in the breast of the Conservative a feeling of animosity equalled only by the enthusiasm its prospects excite in the Liberal camp, passed its final stage after a debate that could not have been less emotional had it been concerned with a gas and water bill. There was a full attendance of members, brought in by urgent whips. But they came only for the division, and were not to be kept in their places by speeches of the character murmured over a foregone conclusion. It is never safe to predicate from current conditions prospect of continuance of calm in the House of Commons. At any moment a storm may break forth with the suddenness and roar of that which on Sunday broke over London. Certainly, with the three most contentious measures out of hand the possibility of fresh outbreak is decreased.

There was a scene whilst Mr. Balfour was still leader of the House that really alarmed members. In course of debate on the interminable Irish question, a temporary exile from Erin leaped to his feet, cleared the gangway, and bounded within striking distance of the Treasury bench upon which the Premier was seated. Wildly gesticulating, he shrieked remonstrance at the top of his voice. Mr. Balfour played his part admirably, smiling unconcerned. His colleagues were to outer appearance equally unmoved. But there was a distinct closing up of their ranks on either side of their chief in preparation to frustrate an attempt on the part of the irate gentleman from Ireland to fling himself bodily on the Premier. Their defensive interposition was not called for. Having concluded his remarks, the hon. member returned to his seat as if this method of continuing debate were part of ordinary procedure.

The Prime Minister has issued invitations for a reception at the India Office next Monday to celebrate the King's birthday. This is a function of annual occurrence, the chief difficulty in connection with which was in former days found in the marshalling of the multitude of guests arriving and departing. Environed and confronted by a gang of desperate women, whose spirit and achievements recall the work of the petroleuses of Paris in the days of the Commune, preparations for the festival assume the character of one held in a hostile country. With the card of invitation are smaller ones, on which is written the name of the guest, with doubly underlined intimation that none will be admitted without its presentation. It was at the King's birthday party held at the India Office five years ago that a personal attack upon the Prime Minister was made by two women who had surreptitiously obtained entrance. As their host, standing by the door, held out his hand to receive them, one struck him over the face with a short whip. I happened to watch the scene from the gallery, and observed with delight, how Mrs. Asquith, slight in figure, frail in appearance, rushed to the rescue of her husband. By way of weapon she had only a fan in her hand. Perhaps it was as well that in the hurry of the moment it did not occur to her to feel if she had a hairpin in her headgear.

In respect of the ordinary public performances of the militants, it is significant to note that the police are becoming more urgently engaged in defending them from the anger of the mob than in repressing their riotous behaviour. What is feared is an attempt to lynch the women who, feeling safe in the security of their outraged sex, go about burning houses and churches, hacking priceless pictures, and exploding bombs in the sacred precincts of Westminster Abbey. Up to the present time attempts to get at them and wreak rough justice have been frustrated by the police. Some day, with continuance of provocation, the barrier will be broken. The Home Secretary's scheme for getting at the wealthy conspirators who find the funds essential to carrying on this business, they themselves lurking in fancied security in the background, is hopefully regarded as calculated to put an end to a national scandal.

The fourth portion of the famous Huth collection of printed books and illuminated manuscript will three weeks hence come under the hammer of Messrs. Sotheby. Twenty-six days have already been occupied in distributing it. Four more will be required for the something more than 1600 lots composing this portion of the property. The catalogue, an illustrated volume of 160 pages, is of itself exceptionally interesting, well worth the half-crown charged for it. It is evidently the work of a scholar whose knowledge of books is, like Dick Swiveller's acquaintance with London, extensive and peculiar. Quite a shelf of books relating to Ireland reminds us that the Irish question, at length nearing a solution, is not new. One polished calf-bound volume deals directly with Ulster. Its title page bears the inscription: "A Faithful History of the National Affairs of Ireland: from the late K. James Accession to the Crown, to the Siege of Londonderry. Giving a True Account of the Occasions of the Miscarriages there: And of the Reasons why the Gentry abandon'd those Parts. By a Person who bore a great Share in those Transactions. Printed, and are to be Sold by Randall Taylor, near Stationers-Hall. 1690."

Amongst the illustrations in the catalogue is a facsimile, marvellously reproduced, of the title page of Ben Jonson's "Sejanus His Fall." It is the only copy on large paper known to book collectors. On the fly leaf is the following inscription in Ben Jonson's own handwriting: "To my perfect Friend, Mr. Francis Crane, I erect this pillar of friendship and Leaue It as the eternall Witnesse of my Loue. Ben Jonson." Another facsimile reproduces in bold type the title-page of "The True Chronicle History of King Leir and His Thre Daughters, Gonorill, Ragan, and Cordella, as it hath bene diuers and sundry times lately acted. Printed by Simon Stafford for John Wright, and are to bee sold at his ship at Christes Church dore next Newgate Market, 1605." This is the first edition of the drama from which Shakespeare is supposed to have taken the outline, and some of the incidents, with the names (differently spelled) of several of the dramatis personae, for his own play of King Lear.

The House of Commons, more particularly the Speaker, is extremely punctilious about admission of an addition to recognised Parliamentary words. In debate this week Mr. Neil Primrose, the promising younger son of Lord Rosebery, successfully ran the gauntlet. Complaining of the First Lord of the Admiralty declaring at Bradford that in respect of the existence of an armed force in Ulster the law should be enforced, later coming down to the House and "veering round," he described him as "the most perfect example of a human palimpsest extant." The Labour members looked anxiously towards the Chair, expecting the hon. member would be called to order. They, in common with some others, did not know what a palimpsest was, but it sounded uncommonly like a bad word. The Speaker, however, made no sign. He knew that what Mr. Primrose had in his mind was the apt illustration of a piece of parchment written upon twice, the original writing having been erased in order to make place for the second. There is a well-known story about O'Connell in verbal encounter with an angry fishwife shutting her up by calling her "a parallelogram." In such circumstances "palimpsest" would have equally well served.

A WOMAN'S LETTER.

The Height of the London Season.

LONDON, June 18.

At the moment the world amuses itself; the sun shines brilliantly; trees are at the zenith of their beauty; roses abound; and, above all other things, it is Ascot week. To those who know England much is summed up in this sentence. Though Tuesday, the first day of Ascot races, was cold enough to demand wraps, we have had glorious weather ever since. On Tuesday Ascot was "cloaked." There has never been such a sudden dash into popularity as this incursion of the cloak. It swept everything else before it on Tuesday. Cloaks of fine cloth, of satin, taffetas, velvet, and lace; no costume seemed complete without one. In the fine gossamer-like material the cloak simply hung from the shoulders of its wearer, looking, as the wind caught its voluminous folds, like a huge butterfly. Cloaks in fine Brussels net had graduated rows of ribbon run on them, a very early Victorian touch. Sometimes they were lined with white chiffon, sometimes with the faintest tone of rose pink taffetas. Lovely printed materials were worn. Long tunics over scanty skirts, which gave the wearers the appearance of wearing divided skirts below the tunics. That is a fashion of to-day for which I have no admiration. It is ungraceful when carried to excess, and I hardly think it will last long. But these underskirts have a use which will commend it to those who are obliged to study economy in matters of dress. You can have an underskirt made on the two-piece pattern with a kilted flounce from the knee. The upper portion need not be of silk, a good black or white silversheen sateen would do quite well for the foundation, and your kilting of silk or satin could be fixed on to this. For the kilting is only seen for about a foot deep, owing to the length of the tunics. I should advise having two of these underskirts, one in white, one in black. They will not be very costly, as the price of silks gets less and less. Woollens advance in price; silk gets cheaper. Anyway here is a way of having a smart style of costume at a low figure. The underskirt is worn short, so that you will require to see to the smartness of your stockings and shoes.

Tunics may be made of anything you like. They are mostly of crepon voiles, printed voiles, which are more beautiful than I can describe. I have never seen such lovely materials, and the printing is delightful; little bunches of pompadour roses mixed with purple or blue blossoms on backgrounds and on greys, blues and all shades of mauve. Not the least smart are the black and white striped voiles, made with a long tunic and a Magyar blouse, a broad sash tied rather below the waistline completes the costume.

There is a regular cult for sashes and waist belts, ribbon being the favourite material. I saw last week a new incursion of belts at all the best shops. They were made of ribbon, some in stripes, some floral, of a wide sash ribbon width, the end was pleated down to fit a buckle, through which the other end was drawn; on either side of this end were two rows of eyeletted holes, so that when it was adjusted to the waist the two prongs caught themselves into the holes, and the belt was firmly fixed. You may take it as a general rule that the waist will not be smaller, but that it will form a centre for the exploiting of the sash and the waist belt on the lines I have just described. All white costumes are given a coloured belt or a sash. These buckle ribbon belts look well with sports costumes, and in the case of the sports clubs, tennis, golf, hockey, and so on, it is likely that this will be a use for the club colours. A small tie of the same colour no doubt would be worn under the plain muslin collar, which is also part and parcel of this season's dress.

Collars and Parasols.

It is wonderful to see the number of collars laid out on counters for one to select from. The Medici is the inspiration of them all, but in some way or other every woman you meet wears a lawn collar made without trimmings of lace or embroidery with her blouse or her coat. In blue serge linen or crepon there is no more fascinating finish than these white collars. Women look so clean in them, and worn with white gloves and a blue hat with white trimmings nothing looks more charming. White trimmings for hats are simply a rage. White roses, white muslin leaves, tall white wings, or loops of white moire ribbon are on everything. Hats of white silk, moire, berline, or satin are seen on all sides. For everyday wear, for the river, and for sports nothing is as much worn as the white Panama hat with a plain black band. The newest shapes are large French sailor hats made in taffeta silk with a wider brim of net wired, and a set of little sprouting wings all round the crown.

Parasols are taller and dome-shaped. This is the week of weeks for them, and in the enclosure at Ascot the sight of hundreds of smartly dressed people, with pretty cloaks and gorgeous sunshades makes it a dream of the fairest women the heart of a poet could conceive.

French and English.

Articles are being published in the "Times" about Ascot, and our view of fashion by a French woman, who freely admits that to her countrywomen the greatest charm of Ascot and other season gatherings is the predominance of so many well-groomed and well-dressed men. I think that whatever crimes are attributed to us in the matter of clothes our men pass first against the world. You always see the right things worn together. The slightest deviation from this would almost disqualify a man for election at any first-class club. But the French writer is not so enthusiastic about the women's dressing. She says that you see some beautiful women, beautiful hair not always as well dressed as it should be, and that in the matter of hats the English woman is not at all immaculate. There is some truth in what she says, though it does not hold good all round, and indeed is something of a sweeping accusation. But there is no doubt that the average woman's hat does not always suit the dress she wears. This is accounted for in a measure by the fact that the dressmaker who copies, for example, a Parisian model, does not see the hat that was intended to go with that particulars costume. The combination of milliner and dressmaker should be closer, if it is not undertaken by the same artiste. If you go to any of the bigger houses where models of dresses and millinery are shown on a mannequin wearing the costume you are ordering it is not so difficult. But there are thousands, yes, thousands, of women and girls who go to Ascot and do not buy their clothes at such expensive houses. It is beyond their means to do so, and they are the class that spend a good deal on the gown and its accompaniments, even to getting a suitable sunshade, but the hat is more or less a secondary consideration. Too often the sense of neatness, which French women possess in an extraordinary degree, is not so obvious. The Parisian has not so much the fun of going to races in her mind, as the opportunity of being seen in the very smartest toilette she can devise. Every detail in her case in perfect; everything is neat and well ordered, and she remains in this condition throughout the day. Her hair is so beautifully coiffed that it is in order all the time. Say what you will, in these days of the "uncorseted effect," it is refreshing to see a neatly-groomed figure. The French woman yields us the palm in complexions and in hair, though this, I think, is only just in the case of the upper classes, well fed, well cared for people.

PIMPLES ON FACE, AND BLACKHEADS.

130 William-street, Darlinghurst, N.S.W.—"I have been troubled with pimples and blackheads of a hard and sore nature for three years, on the face and neck and body. They were sore as well as disfiguring. I tried many medicines for the removal of the trouble, but with no result until I was advised to try Cuticura Soap and Ointment, the result being successful. I used the Cuticura Ointment on retiring at night, after washing with hot water and Cuticura Soap, by applying it gently to the affected part with the tip of the finger, kept it on all night, and washed it in the morning with hot water and Cuticura Soap.

"The cure took about two months. I think Cuticura Ointment is the finest skin healer there is on the market." (Signed) W. H. Lennon, November, 1912.

Although Cuticura Soap and Ointment are sold throughout the world, a sample of each, with 32-page Skin Book, will be mailed free on application to R. Towns and Co., Dept. T., Sydney, N.S.W.—Advt.

RUSSIAN OPERA.

THE DRURY LANE SEASON.

LONDON, June 19.

To-day's advertisement of Drury Lane announces, briefly: "All reserved seats sold. Gallery (unreserved), 5s." The opera is "Boris Godounov." To-night's is its third performance. When one comes to think of the size of Drury Lane and the number of its reserved seats, and the fact that they cost from 25s to half-a-guinea, one finds significance in the fact that the house is sold out. It is, in truth, sold out nearly every night. The Russian opera and ballet season, in other words, is a huge success. The Beecham challenge to Covent Garden is triumphantly justified.

As a matter of fact it would have been justified, quite apart from its cash result. This Russian season is a revelation in more ways than one. Covent Garden would never have had a Russian season, at any rate on this scale. Covent Garden has never yet produced a Strauss opera, and Mr. Beecham has produced not only that composer's "Elektra" and "Salome," and "Feuersnot," and "Rosenkavalier," but keeps on producing everything Strauss writes. Strauss, however, is not a Russian. The great glory of Mr. Beecham is in the fact that he alone has had the courage to teach London that Russian music is a really big thing, and that the brilliant group of composers who made that music in the latter half of last century, not to mention Scriabine and Stravinsky, who make it now, had and have more to say than we dreamed of.

It has come upon us, indeed, with something of shock, this revelation of Russia as a great art country, with its musical life a teeming activity. Only a very little while ago we thought Russian music began and ended with Tchaikowsky. Now, thanks to Mr Beecham, and in lesser degree to our concert orchestras, we know it to have been richly served, in programme and symphonic music, by many writers, and in opera by the composers who are drawing such crowds and such enthusiasm to Drury Lane. That is one reason for our Russian opera excitement—the intrinsic beauty of so much of this Russian music. There is, too, for our further excuse, the impressiveness of the subject matter with which it is associated. For these Russian operas are mostly written round Russian history, or Russian historical legend. Their literary basis is thus novel, and often it is strangely attractive. It is far removed from that of the Wagner mythology, for example, and still further removed from the sordid melodrama of the Italian librettti.

But neither musical beauty nor dramatic strength would suffice to set all the musical Londoners hurrying to Drury Lane, there to congratulate themselves that they are not as the Philistines who diverge into the next street and Covent Garden, for the sake of mere singing. Some, no doubt, would be there, at the Drury Lane box-office queue, buying exasperatingly high-priced stalls for a fortnight hence, just for the sake of this music as music. But not all. The rush for Drury Lane is a nightly fact, because this music and this clean and strong drama is presented with a magnificence of surrounding that almost defies description. It is of little use to tell you that the Australian stage has never so much as thought of such splendour of production as is heaped up at Drury Lane night by night for the purpose of these Russian operas. It is of even less use to say that the accustomed London stage, which now and again has to its credit a marvel of production, is hopelessly out-marvelled by these superb colour schemes, and this magical lighting, and the blaze of barbaric costumes cunningly harmonised, and the breadth of scenic effect, and the grouping of figures, and the handling of stage crowds, and the altogether new significance of an opera chorus, which not only sings but acts individually. Yet that is the most obvious thing to be said of it all. These not unsophisticated London opera audiences sit spellbound at Drury Lane under the masterly building up of the stage—as in that wonderful spectacle in Stravinsky's opera-ballet, "The Nightingale," produced last night, the procession of the Emperor of China to his throne-room, followed by his warriors and his dancers, and his courtiers; or in the Coronation scene of "Boris Godounov;" or the scene upon which the curtain rises in "Prince Igor," with the stage massed with the banners and the magnificently designed costumes of a medieval Russian army. London had never seen a stage like these. It is part of the nightly equipment of the Russian operas and ballets. It is the work of a group of the most famous of French and Russian producers, just now associated with Mr. Beecham. It is one of the reasons in chief for the success of the Russian season.

There is another reason in chief. It is Chaliapine. Mr. Beecham's ideals have always aspired to opera as opera. For him the opera "star" singer is an exploded superstition. But not thus does he draw all London. This year, indeed, he has given us some wonderful star singers—Frieda Hempel, to wit, and Claire Dux, and Mme. Dobrovolska—who, last night, singing the part of the nightingale, no less!—warbled, from her seat in the orchestra, and warbled with ease, some of the most atrociously difficult music ever written for the human voice. But most of all, he has given us Chaliapine, greatest of Russian bassos. It is not a giant voice—though Chaliapine himself has the stature of a giant—and it is a voice of peculiar timbre. But into it goes the strength and the intensity of a great man. The whole evening through Chaliapine will not sing more than two or three notes at his full power. But you will have been following his singing breathless. It is always meaning something, eloquent, purposeful singing, restrained, but only that it might be the more intense, as full of colour as the orchestra itself, expressive of every shade of the sentiment of the text, finely thought out singing, subtle, finished. And greater actor than singer. An actor of genius, in point of fact, with the grand manner. His tragedy in "Boris Godounov" and "Ivan the Terrible" is overwhelming. He bestrides the stage like a colossus. The other characters are lay figures beside this tremendous personality. There are very few actors in the world to-day who would not look like lay figures beside Chaliapine in his big moments. Watching him from your point of space in the crowded, breathless theatre, you realise that here at any rate is the great acting of which you have read so much and seen so little. And I watched him the other night as he hypnotised his audience, just as easily, in a comedy scene. He was a half-intoxicated gallant, and he was justifying himself, in exquisitely-sung words, and with a wonderful display of grace of manner and finished gesture. Chaliapine is undoubtedly Mr. Beecham's trump card. The moment he steps upon the stage you discover it. When he has sung and acted a moment or two you understand quite easily the crowded theatre, and that brief but eloquent warning of the daily Drury-lane advertisement, "all reserved seats sold."

STONE-BREAKER AND THE GEOLOGICAL PROFESSOR.

When Sir Archibald Geikie was Professor of Geology in the University of Edinburgh he frequently conducted his students for local illustrations to that favourable controversial battlefield, Arthur Seat. It was on one of these happy excursions (the Edinburgh "Dispatch" recalls), that he was explaining that, although the general formation of the region was mainly brought about by volcanic fires, there were upon the hill distinct evidences of the action of ice. Pointing to a slanting rock surface, he was lecturing to the young men upon the scratching and the polishing action of the ice and its moraine so long ago, when all at once loud guffaws burst from a stonebreaker well known to the professor, who, unnoticed, had been plying his humble occupation near by the slanting and the shining rock. "Well, Thomas," said the Professor, "what is the cause of your hilarity to-day?" "Aweel, professor, ye're tellin' them students thet the ice polished these rocks. Ice! Eff ye hed as many laddies' breeks to pey fur as ah hev ye wad ken better."

SHAMROCK IV. TRIALS.

R.Y. ERIN, Southampton, June 18.

My last article on Sir Thomas Lipton's latest flyer, which I trust proved of some interest to "Herald" readers, conveyed in perhaps a rough and hurried manner some idea of this wonderful creation of Charles Nicholson's on the slip at his yard as Gosport. After the yacht had been launched, several days were necessary in order to fit the huge spars, rigging, and sails, and otherwise to have this fine vessel in perfect order to undergo safely the thorough trials and tuning up against Sir Thomas's other beautiful craft and "trial horse" Shamrock, 23 metres. This yacht's past performances in the company of Brynhild, White Heather, and Nyria are too well-known to Australians to need further comment; but the splendid commission which she has received this season (solely as a trial boat for the challenger) is but another instance of how thorough Sir Thomas is in anything he undertakes. She looks a perfect picture, and in the hands of Captain Gould and an expert crew of 25 men is a worthy opponent for the new boat.

Anchored off Hythe, a few miles from Southampton, the Erin, with her two green-sided "chicks" presented a picture which evoked the interest and admiration of all passers-by—thousands of passengers on the outgoing and incoming liners, ferries, and yachts throng to the sides to obtain a view of "Tommy" Lipton's unequalled fleet. It often struck me whether any of these spectators ever gave a thought to the control and management necessary to ensure smooth working of these yachts, and the large number of men employed on them. The total complement of crews, as far as I could see, would be over 100 men; but with Sir Thomas in active command of this navy, supported by such men as Colonel Duncan Neill, Captain Pascoe (Erin), Captain Turner (Shamrock IV.), Captain Gould (Shamrock III.) there is small chance of even the smallest detail being missed. The new boat for the first few days was out sail-stretching and rigging-adjusting, the latter operation being constantly performed on the various shrouds during their stretching, to ensure the safety of that huge hollow wooden mast of 160ft from deck to truck. With the large jackyard topsail set the distance is about 178ft, as follows:—Mast, 100ft; topmast, 60; topsail yard, 18ft. All the spars are of hollow wood, made at Gosport; in fact, everything seems to have come from Gosport—the magnificent suit of sails was made by J. Ratsey's son at the Gosport branch of this famous firm. No wonder, then, the pride and enthusiasm of the residents of Gosport and Portsmouth. She is the first challenger for the cup built in the south.

The routine of the day of a trial may prove of interest. During breakfast on the Erin, the crews of the two yachts (anchored on either beam a short distance off) uncover mainsail and jib, and get all running gear in order, and subsequently hoist the huge mainsail with its 22 hoops to the first wooden strut—above this strut the sail is laced to the mast—the lacing being about equal to another 10 hoops—in all 32 hoops, with a space of about 3 feet between each—this conveys an idea of the hoist or luff of the mainsail. Everything being ready on both craft, the steam pinnace conveys us off to the respective craft to which we had been allotted. Personally I took alternate turns on each Shamrock in order to watch closely the performance of the new craft, and also to obtain snaps from my kodaks. I might here mention that Mr. W. P. Burton, the great amateur skipper, who will steer Shamrock IV. in the cup, steered both vessels on various occasions, so as to test the new craft properly. Once aboard the challenger the single headsail, with the large boom on the foot (like the Hobart design class of Culwulla IV.) is hoisted, the moorings are cast off, and away we go after the Shamrock, 23 metres, which generally gets off first. The course down Southampton Water was generally a lead, and in this particular branch in light weather the old boat took a lot of catching; but slowly and surely the new boat overhauled and passed her before reaching the more open waters of the Solent, where the trials proper have taken place. Charles Nicholson, the designer—if not already aboard—generally here makes his appearance and skips aboard, being brought over from Gosport in his launch. I had the pleasure and honour of many chats with this charming gentleman, and always found him the same—whether aboard the new boat, with all his responsible duties watching everything, or aboard the Erin—ever-smiling, courteous, and non-sidy, and in all with the strongest personality. The course is now arranged, and off we go on the business of the day; the big jackyard or jib-headed topsail is set, together with the working jib-topsail if the first mark is a beat to windward, and it only takes a few minutes' sailing to show the remarkable sailing powers of the new craft; she simply eats her way to windward and outpaces the older boat, magnificent boat that she is. The first impression is that the older boat is being badly handled, dropping away to leeward as she does; but, having been aboard, I saw that this was not so, because the moment Captain Gould tried to hold the same wind as the challenger his jib and staysail would at once start flapping and come aback and the yacht generally too fine—all the time the new craft screwing out to windward and outpacing her trial horse. On one occasion we got away six minutes in 3½ miles in a light breeze, and yet only added five seconds in five miles on the lead, with the enormous balloon jib set. Imagine the hoist of it—some 160 feet! It is hard to describe the effect on one standing on deck and looking aloft at the sail area. No one, except Nicholson, knows exactly what it amounts to. Some say 9000 square feet. Others 10,000 square feet. It looks like the latter. A more perfect set of sails never graced a yacht. I first saw them up after only three stretchings, and they were a treat. The single headsail with the boom on foot is a novelty in this country, and opinions are divided as to its utility, and whether she wouldn't do better still with a longer bowsprit and the ordinary jib and staysail. Personally I saw no fault with it, as it seemed to have a lifting and driving effect, and I feel sure she will never go better to windward with the two headsails than she does at present with the one. All sorts of rumours are afloat that Nicholson is to try her with the two and longer bowsprit—that he is to give her a larger mainsail—that he is going to take off some five tons of lead from the 65 tons supposed now to be on the keel. I know this, that if the weather at Sandy Hook is as light as it has been described to me, she would be better able to give what handicap she has to concede to the defender if she was not so stiff. At present she is a remarkable hard-weather boat—a good fault, it it might be so described. In a few hard breezes I only saw her dip her rail under once or twice while the older boat had about three planks of her deck under most of the time.

The rigging to hold up the enormous stick is highly interesting and novel to one like myself, from across the seas. The throat halyard is inside the mast; all the halyards lead through the deck down below, like Culwulla III. The mast has five wooden struts in addition to the enormous crosstrees. She has two metal travellers aft for the main sheet and two forward for the staysail boom. The two permanent falls for the runners pass through the sides right down to the keel, etc., etc., etc. The mast so far has stood some fine tests, and it will surprise me if it does not stand. At the end of the trials so far this week, and when she was taken on the slip, Mr. Nicholson seemed very satisfied with his wonderful boat's performance, and he had every reason to be pleased. Coming home up Southampton Water to her moorings last Saturday she logged 13½ knots, and this without a topsail. Even when travelling at such speeds she leaves the water aft beautifully clean, and what bow wave there is can be hardly reckoned with. A really wonderful piece of designing. My humble opinion is that the Americans will have to "get a move on" to beat her; or, to put it in another form, "the cup is half way home." I hear that Thomas Fleming Day, the editor of the "Rudder," whom I had the pleasure of meeting at Southampton aboard the Erin, and who has just returned to the States, has expressed the opinion that Resolute is the best of the defenders, but that Shamrock IV. is better than her, but that he doubts if she will be able to give the time allowance. Time will tell.

My next contribution under this heading will, I trust, be from America. In the meantime I would convey to my yachting confreres in Australasia the fact that already I have secured many valuable and interesting photographs, with a view to placing before them on the screen the America Cup of 1914 from start to finish.

BIBLE IN SCHOOLS.

A strenuous controversy has been waging for a long time in New Zealand on the vexed question of Bible reading in schools. It was found by many inspectors and clergymen that the children of the Dominion were appallingly ignorant of Bible knowledge, and so were unable to comprehend the simplest Scriptural references that occurred in the ordinary reading lessons. A memorable contribution to the discussion was that of Mr. N. R. M'Kenzie, inspector of schools, who, after voicing the need for some religious instruction, said:—"The other reason was this: Some years ago I paid a long visit to Australia. I went armed with letters of introduction from our Education Board to the Ministers for Public Instruction in the different States. The result was that every institution was thrown open to me. I had very special opportunities of making inquiries with regard to the educational system of the States I visited. Among other things, I inquired into the working of the religious instruction in the schools of New South Wales, and found the system working absolutely admirably. I have read, as you have done, some of the testimonials circulated by the Bible-in-schools League. I know quite a number of the men who wrote these testimonials. I know the facts of the case, and I can add my testimony to theirs. They have not at all over-stated the case."

Partial victory was secured by the Bible-in-schools League when the Referendum Bill was introduced into the Dominion Parliament. The bishop, clergy, and laity of the Diocese of Wellington waited on Mr. Massey, and congratulated the Government on referring the matter to the decision of the people. In reply, Mr. Massey said he did not pretend to be a bit better than the average citizen, but he did believe in the Bible, and had long thought that it was a very great pity that representatives of the Christian sects were not able to join in arranging a scheme by which members of the rising generation in the Public schools of the country might have an opportunity of having Biblical knowledge imparted to them, without the element of sectarianism being introduced.

CURRENT LITERATURE.

THE NATIVES OF THE TERRITORY.

By virtue of his work amongst the Australian aborigines, Professor Spencer already ranks as one of the foremost ethnologists of the day, and his "Native Tribes of the Northern Territory" will add still further to his fame. This book represents the last instalment of an invaluable trilogy. With the late Mr. F. J. Gillen, Professor Spencer had already dealt with the native of Central Australia, including the tribes inhabiting the northern part of South Australia and the southern part of the Territory. It remained for him to extend his researches to those of the far north, who differ in many important respects from their southern brethren. In 1911 the author was a member of the Scientific Commission which made a preliminary survey of the country, but the time at its disposal was too short for much to be accomplished. However, the opportunity came the following year, when Professor Spencer was appointed Special Commissioner for Aboriginals and Chief Protector. In this capacity he spent almost twelve months in the Territory, and the result of his labours is to be seen in this book.

The time was short and the task great, but the author found that his difficulties were lightened by two things. In the first place, there was abundance of material. The effects of contact with the white man are less marked in the north than in the south. The natives are in considerable numbers; they have preserved their old customs, and in places such as Bathurst Island and Melville Island tribal rites and ceremonies are still practised as they were before ever the white man came. In the second place, Professor Spencer found that his previous experience was of immense service to him. He is a fully initiated member of the Arunta tribe, and, when the natives learned that he was well acquainted with their cherished secrets, they threw aside reserve and admitted him to their mysteries.

The author believes that the number of natives in the territory has been under-estimated. It is commonly put at 20,000, but this is a mere guess. There are huge areas, such as Arafura Land, well watered, stocked with abundance of native food, and probably occupied by many natives who have never set eyes on a white man. It is impossible to form any reliable estimate, but from what Professor Spencer saw and heard, he is inclined to think that the figure is nearer 50,000 than 20,000. Many of these natives are of exceptionally fine physique—on Bathurst and Melville Islands some of them were 6ft tall—and where they have escaped contact with white men and Chinese they have preserved their racial purity. The author explodes the popular fallacy that there has been an infusion of Malay blood. It is true that the Malays come every year in search of trepang and tortoiseshell, but their intercourse with the aboriginals is very limited. Professor Spencer saw only one native who showed traces of Malay descent, while in their language there is no evidence of Malay influence whatever. He points out that it is unlikely that there should be any miscegenation. No woman would even be allowed near a Malay camp, and for a Malay to venture into the bush with matrimonial intent or for any other purpose would mean certain death.

Although between the different tribes there is infinite variation, in common they possess certain characteristics which mark them off from the southern natives. At the same time, it is not difficult to trace the working of certain primitive ideas, which seem to be the heritage of the whole human race. For instance, the belief that it is possible to injure an enemy by performing magic rites over something resembling him, or closely associated with him, is a very universal one, and the Australian aboriginal shares it. The gipsy makes a little wax image of the person to be "treated," sticks pins into it, and melts it in a fire. The procedure of the Australian is simpler, but no doubt equally effective. He secures some fragment of food which his enemy has been eating, ties it up in paper bark, pounds it, and sings over it, thereby projecting magic into it. Then he takes it to an ant-hill, at the base of which he makes a small hole, pushes the food inside, and closes the whole so that it cannot be seen. This form of magic, observes Professor Spencer, is thought to be very powerful, and to act rapidly. "Within three days the man becomes very hot, continually cries for water, and soon dies." Even if no food is available the native is not at the end of his resources. He waits till his enemy crosses a swamp. Probably when the latter reaches the other side he scrapes off the mud which has clung to his feet. The executioner takes this, pounds it up, and rolls it into a ball with incantations, and then places it in an anthill as in the previous case. "By and by the victim's foot breaks out into sores, which gradually spread all over it. The toes drop off, and the hands and feet decay. No medicine man can do anything to counteract this form of magic." The author saw natives who were alleged to be victims of this practice, and tells us that, superficially at least, their symptoms were suggestive of leprosy.

There is an extremely interesting chapter on the native beliefs with regard to the origin of children. Already in Central Australia among the Arunta, Professor Spencer had found that the aborigines were completely ignorant of the causes of life. They had invented a picturesque explanation to account for it, and the author discovered that among the northern tribes there was a similar ignorance and a similar explanation. They all recognise some great ancestor, who was originally responsible for "spirit children." These collect in certain well-known centres, which are usually natural features, such as trees or rocks or pools, and if a woman happens to pass near by they enter her body to be born in due course as human beings. The idea of reincarnation is also present, for apparently these spirit children go on being born in alternate cycles of physical and spiritual existence, changing their sex on each occasion. The author mentions that his former colleague, the late Mr. F. J. Gillen, was supposed by the Arunta to be the reincarnation of a great leader called Urangara. Moreover, the natives believe in a dualism of personality. Everyone has a spiritual counterpart, a sort of astral body, the Arumburinga, which is in close communion with its human representative. It is invisible as a general rule, but there are certain gifted beings, usually highly-skilled medicine men, who claim that they can actually see and converse with the Arumburinga. The latter is supposed to watch over his human fellow. Sometimes, for instance, when a man is out in the bush he will experience a curious sensation, and will find himself on the point of treading on a snake. This shows him clearly that his Arumburinga has warned him of the danger. However, if one begins to quote from these pages one would never stop. Professor Spencer describes the social organisation of these tribes, their marriage regulations, their totemic systems, their initiation, burial, and mourning ceremonies, their curious food taboos, their weapons, their ceremonial objects, their clothing, their ornaments, their traditions. Indeed, there is no phase of native life which he does not touch, and his book is a monument of enlightened observation and research. (Macmillan and Co.: Sydney Book Club.)

WHEN THE WORLD WAS WIDE.

Although "The Golden Age of Prince Henry the Navigator," by J. P. Oliveira Martins, the Portugese historian, is quite a classic, no English translation of it has been available until Messrs. J. J. Abraham and W. E. Reynolds rectified the omission. It is an account of Portugal in her brilliant past; of the lives, adventures, discoveries, dreams, and ultimate fates of that wonderful family of brothers—the Portuguese grandsons of John of Gaunt—sons of John of Avis and Philippa of Lancaster. The period corresponds roughly with the reigns of the later Plantagenets in England, and, as the translators observe, "the glimpses it gives of the colour and movement of the fifteenth century, when Moslem and Christian fought fiercely for dominance in Europe, when grim medieval barbarism and lust, mixed and mingled with pomp and circumstance of knightly chivalry, with child-like Christian piety, and budding transcendentalism make it read more like a cunningly devised historical romance than sober history."

The brothers were six—Duarte the Eloquent, Peter the Traveller, Henry the Navigator, John the Unfortunate, Fernando the Martyr, and Barcellas "le batard," the head of the future Royal House of Braganza. All were exceptional men, but Henry seems to have been the greatest of them all. To him Portugal owed her Colonial empire, and the world the opening of new routes and the discovery of new lands. Yet he does not seem to have a very attractive character. He was hard, stubborn, and ruthless. He was dominated by a single purpose, which he was resolved to accomplish at any cost. He was one of those men to whom "the germination of an initial idea becomes the moulding influence of their destiny." Expansion was almost an obsession with him. He dreamed of "a great new Empire starting from the peninsula, spreading through Morocco to all Africa, and from thence to the boundless limits of unknown continents." And this grandiose scheme was actually realised.

It is difficult for us to appreciate how chimerical his ideas must have appeared to his contemporaries. We must remember that in his day the world was a small place. The Mediterranean was still the "great sea," and most of the commercial activity of the day was confined to its boundaries. A journey to England was a hazardous undertaking. There was no America, and "Africa" meant simply its northern shores. Beyond all was a blank until Prince Henry sent out his expeditions. His first enterprise, an attempt to conquer Morocco, was unsuccessful. Fernando the Martyr, who died in a Moorish prison after five years of torture, was one of the victims of his brother's ambition. Henry then turned his attention to exploration instead of conquest. It was believed that a little south of the Straits of Gibraltar the world terminated in a sea of slime. Henry was less credulous; he had a theory (which was in point of fact correct) that there was a route round Africa to the Orient. Expedition after expedition set forth under the command of captains who had learned their business at the Nautical Academy founded by Henry at Sagres which "marked the commencement of all modern scientific navigation." Sometimes he himself went with them. Each penetrated a little further into the unknown, and added to the scanty store of knowledge. Trading ports were established along the coast of Africa, in particular at Lagos, which became a great emporium. Slaves were taken, and savages despoiled of their treasure. Wherever the sword went, the Cross went too. Natives were baptised en masse before they were clapped under hatches in chains to be transported to Portugal, for, as Martins reminds us, "the early voyagers looked upon themselves with a curious naive simplicity, not only as merchant adventurers, but also as harbingers of the Church of Christ sent to bring light out of darkness. They were as eager to save the souls of the heathen from the danger of eternal damnation, which they firmly believed would be otherwise their fate, as to seize upon their lands, their riches, and their daughters."

Henry did not live to see the final consummation of his dreams. It was not until 1493 that Vasco da Gama doubled the Cape, and found the new route, while Henry's ambition of founding a Portuguese empire over Morocco was destined never to be realised. But he had done much. He had widened the horizon of the world, and he had laid the foundations on which his country afterwards built her vast colonial empire. "His countrymen are indebted to him for a second fatherland, and civilised Europe for one of its three or four fundamental conquests and discoveries." (Bell and Sons.)

FRANCE.

Count Paul Vassilli was a member of the Russian Diplomatic Service, who was first attached to his country's Embassy in Paris in 1868. Since that date he has constantly been associated with the French capital. He knew everyone, and, one might almost say, everything worth knowing. He went everywhere from the salons of the Empress and the leaders of society to the studios of painters and the garrets of Latin Quartier poets, and before his death at the end of last year he prepared the reminiscences of close on fifty years' social and political life in Paris, which have recently been published under the title of "France from Behind the Veil." The author's position gave him exceptional opportunities of seeing that side of affairs which is usually hidden from the public, and a few years ago, no doubt, this book could have been described as containing some startling revelations. However, lately there have been many disclosures of a similar nature, and in some of them Count Vassilli has been anticipated. Still, even though he throws little fresh light upon the incidents and personalities he discusses, his reminiscences are by no means without interest. He writes of Paris during the siege, of the Commune, of General Boulanger's "adventure," of the Panama scandals, of the Dreyfus affair, and of other noteworthy events in the history of the Third Republic. He was acquainted with all the prominent figures in art, letters, politics, diplomacy, and society, and he gossips pleasantly about these. His agreeable causerie is drawn from an unusually varied range of recollections, and his book belongs to that excellent type which one can open at any page with the certainty of finding entertainment. (Cassell and Co.)

This is the age of rapid book-making. If a great ship sinks, or a scandal comes to light, or any sensational event provides the world with a nine days' wonder, there is always someone who strikes while the iron is hot and produces a book on the subject before popular interest has had time to wane. The latest example of this is "The Caillaux Drama," by Mr. John N. Raphael. Madame Caillaux shot M. Calmette, the editor of the "Figaro," on March 16. M. Raphael did not let the grass grow under his feet, and while the lady was still in her cell at St. Lazare awaiting trial he wrote this account of the affair and of the intrigues and political manoeuvrings of which it was the disastrous denoument. As a matter of fact, the title is a little misleading. The last act of the drama is not included. It is in progress now in the Palace of Justice, in Paris, where Madame Caillaux is being tried.

The outline of the story is common property. The "Figaro" had been carrying on a campaign against M. Caillaux, the then Minister for Finance, which culminated in the publication in facsimile of a letter by him throwing grave doubt upon the sincerity of his attitude over the income tax question. The fact that M. Calmette had got possession of this letter convinced M. Caillaux and his wife that he must have in his hands two others which had passed between them previously to their marriage, and which were compromising both on political and on personal grounds. They ascertained that there was no legal means of preventing the publication of these letters. The sequel is well known. The point at issue in the Palais de Justice to-day is how far Madame Caillaux's act was premeditated, and how far it was the result of a sudden fit of passion. Mr. Raphael fills in the details of the story, and an unedifying one it is. He traces M. Caillaux's connection with the Rochette scandals and the Agadir incident, and touches on the domestic complications which added an unsavoury ingredient to an unpleasant affair. The whole is not calculated to increase one's admiration for certain aspects of French political life. (Max Goschen.)

AUSTRALASIA.

The latest addition to "The Oxford Survey of the British Empire" is a substantial volume dealing with Australasia, including the Western Pacific and the British section in Antarctica. The object of this series is to furnish a survey of the constituent parts of the Empire in their geographical and allied aspects, together with their economic, administrative, and social conditions at the present time. Each volume collates a vast amount of information which could otherwise be found only in blue books and similar works of reference, and Australasia is treated with characteristic thoroughness. Climate, physiography, mining, economic geology, communications, flora and fauna, industries, ethnology are dealt with by recognised authorities on the subject, including Mr. Griffith Taylor, Mr. H. A. Hunt, Lieut.-Colonel J. H. P. Murray, and Sir Robert Stout. There is a chapter on the defence of British Australasian territories, a gazetteer and an appendix containing some useful statistics, and the book, which is profusely illustrated with maps, plans, and photographs, is an extremely serviceable production. (Oxford University Press.)

SOME NEW NOVELS.

Mr. Irvin S. Cobb enjoys a considerable reputation in America as a writer of short stories, which "The Escape of Mr. Trimm" proves to be well deserved. Quite the best story is that which gives its name to the book. Mr. Trimm is a millionaire who has been convicted for financial fraud; as he is being taken to gaol there is a railway smash. His warder is killed and he escapes, to learn later that he is officially declared to have been one of the victims. Mr. Trimm promptly sees his chance, and makes all sorts of plans for getting away from America and living on his "savings" in another country. One thing remains first to be done, to get rid of the handcuffs which make him a marked man and hamper his movements. It seems a little thing, and Mr. Trimm anticipates no trouble on this score. He is wrong. We follow his efforts, first calm and methodical, then frantic and despairing, but all alike unavailing. We follow him wandering in the woods, starving, exhausted, beside himself, unable to sever this slender link of steel which bars him from his so nearly won freedom. And at last we see him a beaten, broken man surrender himself to the police, a voluntary captive. It is a fine study in dramatic irony, and almost as effective are "The Belled Buzzard," "An Occurrence up a Side Street," and "Fishhead." Mr. Cobb is at his best when he is engaged on tragic or horrible themes. When he leaves them he is less successful, but the book is worth reading for these four stories alone. (Hodder and Stoughton; Angus and Robertson.)

"Abe and Mawruss," by Mr. Montague Glass, tells us some of the further adventures of Messrs. Potash and Perlmutter, dress and mantle merchants of New York, whose earlier career has already been dramatised and is enjoying a tremendous vogue in London. Mr. Glass has exploited a rich vein in these stories. The gentlemen in question are German-American Jews, with a weird and wonderful vocabulary and a positive genius for giving the most hackneyed expressions a new and ludicrous turn. They are keen business men with a sleepless eye for profits, yet they have both a soft spot in their hearts, and their business instinct in the long run always give way to their essential kindliness. They are continually quarrelling with each other, yet they are devoted to each other and loyal to the partnership as competitors find to their cost. Each has a sublime disregard for consistency, and though Abe may have heaped scorn upon Morris's matchmaking projects, or Morris may have found no words adequate to express his contempt for Abe's commercial schemes, when the time comes each will back the other up and (if any advantage accrues) claim that the idea was his own. They are an admirable pair, and Mr. Glass has described their doings with a great deal of humour. (Hodder and Stoughton; Angus and Robertson.)

"Rung Ho" is an excellent story of India by Mr. Talbot Mundy. The time is the critical period, full of rumours and alarms, which preceded the Mutiny. The scene is the native State of Howah, where the Rajah, Jarinshed, his cousin and heir and the priests of Shiva form a trio of jealous factions, each aiming at supreme power. To complicate matters still further, Jarinshed is in love with the daughter of a Scots missionary, and will stop at nothing to get her. Amidst this world of intrigue and treachery the only man the M'Leans can trust is Mahommed Gunga, the Rajput chief, with his single-hearted loyalty to the British flag, and with all the traditional honour of his race. He sees how things are going, and lays his plans accordingly. The name of Cunningham is one to conjure with among the warlike Rajputs, and when a scion of this famous family arrives in India Mahommed knows that here has come their heaven-appointed leader. He puts the young subaltern through all manner of tests, and finds him worthy of the name he bears. Then he rallies round him the rest of the rangars; even the proud Alwa, impregnable in his rock-bound eyrie, recognises that here is one fit to command his allegiance. So, at the head of the finest body of cavalry in India, Cunningham swoops down upon Howrah, disposes of his enemies there, rescues a loyal army at its last gasp, and wins a bride into the bargain. It is an admirable story, vigorously told. There is plenty of hard fighting and hard riding, and in the Rajput rangars, with their pride, their prowess, and their almost Quixotic sense of honour, Mr. Mundy has drawn some fine types. (Cassell and Co.)

Last year Miss Bridget Maclagan made a favourable debut as a novelist with "A Mistress of Kingdoms," and she has followed this up with "Collision," in which she is seen to even greater advantage. The setting of the story is in India, which the author evidently knows well. The heroine is an attractive suffragist, who comes to spread the gospel of enlightenment in the unawakened East. Imogen has a way with her that makes even the most inveterate antagonist of feminism succumb to her eloquence, but her experiments upon various native types are less successful. There is also a British Labour leader (who seems to be a notable figure in recent Anglo-Indian fiction). He pursues his mission of emancipating the oppressed, and arousing their dormant sense of nationality, without realising that the inflammatory eloquence which is the ordinary stock in trade of the agitator, and is not taken seriously in England, is apt to be acted on by the unsophisticated and gullible Hindu. As usual, Miss Maclagan's characters are subtly drawn, and her pictures of Indian life are excellent. (Duckworth; E. Robertson.)

In "The Beloved Premier" Mr. H. Maxwell has got hold of an idea with distinct possibilities of diversion. There are a pair of twin brothers, one of whom, James Francis Sloan, is avaricious, inconstant, insincere, and extremely capable. These qualities finally make him Premier of England, which he governs in a most efficient fashion. William Joseph, on the other hand, is a quixotic idealist. His motto in life is "when you see a wrong, right it at once." He follows this praiseworthy precept without regard to the rights of others; for instance, he steals from one person in order to befriend another, and as a result of his practical altruism he has spent the greater part of his life in gaol. Joseph thinks that Jack is behaving badly in his matrimonial projects, and so he takes his place as Premier, leaving his brother to languish in prison. However, he finds that it is by no means simple to govern a country on ideally ethical principles. He becomes inextricably involved in his brother's amatory entanglements, he embroils England with the rest of the world, and sees her invaded by Belgium; and finally he returns contentedly to gaol, leaving his more practical brother to accomplish certain reforms, which, needless to say, the latter has no intention of carrying out. It is farce, and excellent farce, up to a point. But beyond that point it becomes too extravagant, and proportionately less effective. (Long, Ltd.)

MUSIC AND DRAMA.

London, still in the height of its season, was tending towards the dog days when the mail left on June 19, and though this did not affect operatic productions, there were no changes of much importance at the theatres. "Driven," a new society play by Temple Thurston, was staged at the Haymarket, and proved "entirely unconvincing, though told with some technical skill." Miss Alexandra Carlisle, was the flirtatious wife, Miss Ruth Mackay (the handsome Iras of our "Ben Hur" production in 1902) played a good part as the protecting married sister; Mr. Aubrey Smith was the husband, and Mr. Owen Nares figured as the military young lover. A "Scrap of Paper" has been revived at the Criterion with a strong cast, in which Miss Nancy Price and Mr. Lynn Harding were in the lead "with Miss Margaret Halstan in great beauty as the married sister," and Mr. Ellis Norwood (years ago leading juvenile with the Brough-Boucicault combination) as the jealous husband. The more superior critics are, as usual, contemptuous concerning Sardou's "well-made" play, just as many of them were about "Diplomacy"—which immediately settled down to a two years' run! But then the great French dramatist didn't write his pieces to read well, and snuff out in the glare of the footlights, but to act! "Les Pattes de Mouche," the play in question, is fascinating when well acted, and Mrs. Kendal made a tremendous success in it about 1888.

Mr. Charles A. Wenman, the producer of "Ali Baba," who answered to a call at the end of that piece as recently as April 5, returned here on Tuesday, July 21, from San Francisco, by the Willochra, after putting a girdle round the earth in 106 days—if notably behind Puck's "forty seconds," not so easily outdistanced by Jules Verne's "Eighty Days." Jules Verne's hero was not delayed, however, by rehearsing a new musical comedy, and finding novelties and artists for a new pantomime. Mr. Wenman, travelling overland from Marseilles, reached London May 9, and the same evening saw the French revue "Viva L'Amour" performed at the Middlesex music hall in French by a company from Paris. Their "business" was smart, and their dancing possessed a gliding grace which few English artists attain to, but the dressing was so advanced that the stage manager from the antipodes was quite scared by it. Altogether, Mr. Wenman saw 28 different pieces in London during one month, and further contrived to rehearse all the new artists due here next week in "The Girl in the Taxi" at the Lyric Theatre. Mr. C. H. Workman had played his part in the London production, but the others had studied only. Mr. Wenman was also pleased with Miss Jarvis, the new soubrette, a new find at the London Gaiety Theatre, where she made a hit in "After the Girl," and considers her likely to suit Australian audiences. Mr. Wenman also finished organising the "Cinderella" production for J. C. Williamson, in which Miss Dolly Castles, now in New York, will be Cinderella, and Miss Mabel Love the new principal boy.

The Sydney Amateur Orchestral Society will perform several fine wroks at the concert on Tuesday next, when Mr. Alfred Hill will conduct the "Symphony No. 2 in D" of Beethoven. This work was first performed in 1803 at a concert given by the composer in Vienna. Beethoven was accustomed to serve up his masterpieces in indigestible abundance, and if his audiences were sometimes wearied by the length of his programmes they had a good deal of excuse for it. On the occasion in question the immortal composer conducted both his first and second symphonies, his pianoforte concerto in C minor, and his oratorio "The Mount of Olives"! M. Jacques Pintel, who last appeared here with Mme. Calve, will be welcomed at this concert as soloist in Rachmaninoff's "Concerto for Pianoforte and Orchestra in C minor." This composer is not intimately known by the public here apart from his two piano preludes, one of which is almost as much played as Mendelssohn's "Spring Song." The Russian composer was born at Novgorod in 1873, has made a reputation as a virtuoso, and by such works as the C minor concerto has established his fame as a composer. According to a programme note by A. L. K., "With all its emotional fulness, rhythmic vivacity, and wealth of colour, the concerto is gratefully free from exaggeration. Slavonic feeling is here in its contrasted exuberance and shaded melancholy, and Rachmaninoff holds the component parts together, imparting true fibre to a fascinating work."

The Australian Opera League's initial venture on Monday week at the Repertory Theatre will launch two well-contrasted works. Mr. Alfred Hill's "Giovanni" has been already referred to, and something may now be said of Mr. Fritz Hart's "Pierrette." The composer admits a slight indebtedness to "Prunella," the fantasy by Lawrence Housman and Granville Barker staged here some time back. In any case, Pierrot is a long existing figure of the French stage. In Mr. Hart's poem, "Pierrot and Pierrette," their brief day of love terminated in friendly fashion, resume an every-day existence in the return of the girl to the conventional home of her uncle and aunt from which she had fled. Pierrot, the irresponsible fellow, departs with a jaunty air, and a long orchestral nocturne divides the action, which is continued by the approach of Pierrot once more in order to serenade the unhappy prisoner of convention. They discuss in the modern manner the possibility of living together again, and on the verge of a bitter difference are suddenly reunited on a wave of sentiment, and wander forth into the world that lies beyond her garden's wall. Light-hearted music accompanies the lovers, and fades away into the distance, as the uncle and aunt stand on the doorway of their house peering after the vanished pair. The music of "Pierrette" will be continuous, as music-drama should be. The cast will consist entirely of Melbourne artists, "Giovanni" being reserved for singers more or less identified with Sydney.

Miss Pauline Bindley, the new soprano at the Paul Dufault concerts, has been thoroughly well trained by her father, Edward Allen Bindley, of Bendigo, who brought out Amy Castles, and several other well-known artists, and at whose School of Music she at first taught the violin. The voice then began to develop, and her father's confidence in her talents as a singer led the youthful soprano to enter herself for every available competition at the great Ballarat Eisteddfod of 1910, with the result that she carried away money prizes to the value of £40, and two gold medals. Miss Bindley's principal triumph consisted in winning the Aggregate Champion prize with 32 marks out of a possible 32, representing first prizes in nine different sections. On her return from Ballarat the youthful singer was accorded a public reception in Bendigo. Last September the Bendigo "Independent" offered a trip round the world free to the man or woman who proved at the poll the most popular in the city. The rival candidates were supported by committees, the polling was tremendous, and Pauline Bindley came out 7000 votes ahead of the next best with 800,000 odd votes. To achieve this result, her committee of friends paid in about £300 to purchase votes in her favour. There was another scene of excitement; her father made a speech to the crowd awaiting the result, and the heroine was frantically cheered. She "commuted" the world-trip by accepting £143 cash, and she then gave a concert at the Bendigo Lyric Theatre, towards the cost of her further education in Europe, when Bishop Reville booked the first seat at £5 5s, and in this way £158 was realised over and above expenses. A concert at the Melbourne Town Hall last November more than paid its way, and showed the debutante that she could hold her own in a wider field, and a few weeks later she began to tour Australasia with the Dufault company, with whom she has made 117 appearances up to and inclusive of this evening. This tour closes August 22, and on August 27 Miss Bindley will sing at the Lismore Musical Festival.

THE CHURCHES.

SCIENCE AND RELIGION.

In his address at synod the Bishop of Armidale referred to the approaching visit of the British Association for the advancement of science to Australia, and after voicing the welcome which all thinking Christians would accord the scientists, said:—"I look back over 50 years, and remember with what suspicions, and indeed, with what antagonism the labours, and, to a greater extent, the pronouncements of men of science were regarded by many Christians. It was not altogether to be wondered at. Theories (and in religion, as well as in science, it is important to distinguish between theories and facts) handed down from a hoary and unscientific antiquity, authoritatively taught, and implicitly believed could not be lightly surrendered. The faults were not all on one side. There was dogmatism on both, and in the heat of controversy an apparent inability of the one to appreciate the standpoint of the other, or even at times to give credit for sincerity. If there were clergy who were slow to recognise demonstrated truth, there were scientists who, in their new-found kingdom, were not slow to circulate counters for current coin, and put forth as established facts ill-digested theories. The temptation to do this was felt even by Darwin, who said, 'I have found to my cost a constant tendency to fill up the gaps of knowledge by inaccurate and superficial hypotheses.' And so the battle raged, and one continually met with such phrases as 'Science and Scripture.' 'Darwinism and Design,' 'Genesis and Geology,' and the alliteration in each was supposed to be antithetical. More than 40 years ago I had the temerity to preach upon such subjects. (Oh, the rashness and assurance of young men!), but may I be pardoned for saying that my standpoint was, that the discoveries then made known were not incompatible with 'belief in a designer, first cause, and ever-active creator.'

"But now the din of controversy has ceased, a saner spirit prevails, and maybe we understand each other better from having passed through the stage of storm and stress. The present attitude of one to the other was recently described in playful mood by the editor of the 'Expository Times':—'Theologians were never more complaisant than they are to-day. If men of science are willing to make advances, men of theology are ready to meet them half-way. If Sir Oliver Lodge, in his office as president of the British Association, courteously declares that physical science has erred in entering the religious realm, the president of the Church Congress bows his acknowledgments, and promises never again to say anything that will interfere with the sweep of the laws of nature.'"

POWER OF PRAYER.

"The Church has reached her Waterloo," said Dr. Radford, at the Sydney University during the week. "It is time she replied to the attacks on the old faith." On "The Principles of Prayer" the doctor pointed out that prayer arose from instinct, from education, from revelation, and from experience. People used the uniformity of natural law as an argument against prayer, but many facts confirmed the reason for prayer. The cry of dependence was a universal fact through nature, from the open beak of the fledgling to the cry of a starving soul; it was simply faith made articulate. Science at research was the same as religion at prayer. If mind could interwork on mind, asked the doctor, why should not man's mind work on the mind of the universe, that power which men called God? The autonomy of God was a finer principle than the uniformity of nature; the laws of nature expressed part of God, but they did not necessarily exhaust His possibilities. Force and will were the greatest things in the world, but will was the greater, and from will sprang prayer, another force with which men had to reckon. "Orare est Labore" was one of the truest truisms ever uttered, for the whole universe was as open to the influence of prayer as it was to power and will. Prayer, concluded the speaker, was intercession, and that covered man's duty towards his neighbour.

"COME TO CHURCH."

The Free Churches are embarking upon one of the greatest religious campaigns ever known in the history of this country. Their object (states the London "Christian World") is to secure the attendance at church of every man, woman, and child in England and Wales on a Sunday in January next year—the 24th or 31st. In order to accomplish this, it is hoped that representatives of the churches will visit every home throughout the country and leave a personal invitation to every inmate to put in an appearance at church.

The preliminary steps in this "Come-to-Church" Campaign have already been taken by the National Free Church Council and a special committee appointed. The various denominations have been communicated with, and the scheme has met with a most sympathetic reception. A national visitation scheme is to be inaugurated. The whole country is to be divided up into separate Free Church parishes, and each church will be allotted a parish for visitation. The "Come-to-Church" Campaign is not to be restricted to the Free Churches, or to be in any sense a proselytising agency, but is being promoted with the wide scope and urgency of the Gospel appeal. The plan has been adopted with great success in the United States, where numbers of people have been induced to resume church attendance which they had dropped.

Interest in the Church and the social problems should be quickened in the north side of the harbour by the series of lectures to be delivered next month in the Centrall Hall, Walker-street, under the auspices of the Church of England Social Problem Committee. Dr. Radford will speak on the social bearing of the Gospel; Principal Davies on the message of economics; Mr. Meredith Atkinson on democracy and religion; and Rev. C. E. Curtis on the Church's work.

Considerable interest has been aroused by the cabled statement that a Church of England conference would shortly consider the question of admitting women preachers. There are to-day only two women preachers who occupy pulpits in England, the Rev. Gertrude Von Petzold, M.A., who ministers to the Unitarian congregation in Waverley-road Church, Small Heath, Birmingham, and Rev. Hatty Baker, of Plymouth, who opened the Women's Church at Wallasey in March. The Synod of Neuchatel has decided to admit women to the faculty of theology. Already there is one woman minister in the canton of Grisons.

Canon J. S. Hart, vicar of St. Martin's Church, Hawksburn (Vic.), who declined the deanery of Newcastle, offered him by Bishop Stretch, has accepted the wardenship of St. John's College, Melbourne, in succession to Dean Stephen, Bishop-elect of Tasmania. Canon Hart is known in Victoria as one of the ablest scholars and theologians in the Anglican Church.

The Rev. R. J. S. Simmons, who has been working at Malaita, in the Solomon Islands, under the auspices of the Melanesian Mission, arrived in Auckland last week by the Southern Cross on furlough.

The Bishop of New Guinea (the Right Rev. Gerald Sharpe) arrived in Sydney from a visit to England on Thursday. He will leave on his return to his diocese on Wednesday next.

Mr. J. W. Chapman will leave on Wednesday by the St. Albans for the Mitchell River Mission, under the auspices of the A.B.M. He will have charge of the agricultural section, and conduct farming classes for the natives.

Rev. P. C. and Mrs. Shaw will return to New Guinea by the Matunga on Wednesday.

The Rev. S. O. Goodchild, late vicar of Murwillumbah, has been appointed senior curate of St. Lawrence, Catsford, London. He left a few weeks ago for England.

The Rev. J. Vaughan, of Hobart, arrived in Sydney yesterday on a short visit.

In the diocese of Goulburn the Rev. H. E. Lewin has been inducted to the incumbency of Cootamundra, Rev. Arthur G. Rix has been licensed to the incumbency of Moruya, and Rev. Canon Randolph Edwards to the incumbency of Marulan.

The alterations in progress at St. Thomas's Church, North Sydney, are well in hand. The nave is being laid down in tiles, and a contract was let during the week for reseating the church in oak, in place of the present kauri pine, and other seats which have been in use for many years. The new flooring is finished. The fabric is being thoroughly renovated, and other improvements are being effected. The work is being carried out under the personal supervision of the rector, the Rev. Horace Crotty, M.A., and it is confidently anticipated that the restoration will be complete in time for the dedication festival in October next.

Rev. J. C. Rae, vicar of Rotherham, New Zealand, has been appointed vicar of Lockhart, New South Wales.

Rev. H. Wallace Mort, rector of All Saints, Woollahra, will retire from parochial work in September.

Rev. S. D. Yarrington, who is a candidate for the House of Representative in the Liberal interest, has resigned his work in connection with the Mission Zone Fund.

Canon Vaughan, preaching in connection with the 75th anniversary of St. Stephen's Church, Penrith, on Sunday, gave some interesting historic records of the early days of the Church in Australia, and told of the genesis of St. Stephen's, which was consecrated in 1839.

The Papal brief, conveying the intimation of the appointment of the Very Rev. Prior Spence, as Coadjutor to the Archbishop of Adelaide, was recently received. The consecration will probably take place in Adelaide on or about August 16. The consecrating prelate will be Archbishop Clune, of Perth.

Archbishop Kelly opened the new Catholic presbytery at Hurstville on Sunday last, in the presence of a large gathering from all parts of the district. Rev. Fathers Briody and Conaghan assisted at the ceremony.

The new Catholic church at Enmore, with fittings, will cost about £4000. It is 120 feet long, 43 wide across the nave, and 73 feet wide across the sacristies and sanctuary. It will accommodate 800 people. It is of Gothic design, the walls being heavily buttressed.

Archdeacon Quinn, formerly of Lismore, now of the Tweed, is on a visit to North Queensland.

The Moderators' Court of the Presbyterian Church of Australia, which met in Melbourne last week, has appointed the Rev. Dr. Davidson, of Adelaide, to the moderator's chair for the ensuing two years. The first Assembly at which Dr. Davidson will preside will meet in Brisbane on September 23. Dr. Davidson has been twice Moderator of the South Australian Assembly.

Note has been taken in Scotland of the 350th anniversary of the publication of the first Scottish metrical psalter. This is not the version at present in use, which was the outcome of the Westminster Assembly, but an earlier version founded chiefly on Sternhold and Hopkins and issued in 1564. For a hundred years this old version gave wings to the devotion and praise of a whole nation, for there was during that time but one Protestant community in Scotland. The interest which every Scot feels in these old psalms is not historical or musical, but personal and spiritual. They are born in him, and their rough and uncouth English is overlooked because they are outside criticism. The Covenanters used them, and they are thus hallowed by tales of heroism and struggle for religious freedom.

Rev. D. and Mrs. Powell have been welcomed by the Presbyterian congregation of Culcairn. Mrs. Powell is the first minister's wife to settle at the town.

Miss Tait writes from Tangoa, making an appeal on behalf of the Native Training Institute, which used to be in charge of Dr. and Mrs. Annand, and supported by the Presbyterian Church of Canada. But since the Canadians have withdrawn the institute is now under Australian auspices.

St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Suva, Fiji, has given a call to the Rev. James Jackson, of Leongatha, Vic.

The reports of the United Free Church of Scotland show a very striking measure of prosperity. The income shows an increase of £52,778, and makes a total of fully £14,000,000 raised in the 13 years since the union. The home income for foreign mission work has risen from £106,520 in 1901 to £167,918 in 1913, and in the same time the income abroad has grown from £63,294 to £120,187. There are now 507,075 Church members, making an increase of 2174 for the year. The number of members is 323 within the highest attained, though Scotland's population has gone back 27,000 in the last two years.

The Methodist Church Convention at the Methodist Hall was well attended. The opening meeting for ministers of circuits was addressed by the Rev. G. O. Cocks (secretary to evangelistic committee), Rev. Thomas Parker (chairman of Goulburn district), Rev. J. Woodhouse (Home Mission secretary), and the Revs. F. C. Oakley and H. C. Foreman. The Rev. F. Colwell, president of the conference, occupied the chair. In the afternoon a conference of ministers, local preachers, stewards, trustees, Sunday school teachers, and church workers was held. The Rev. Dr. Bromilow, of Stanmore, gave a stirring address on "Consecration," which he considered was a solution of present-day problems. They needed saintship in heart, for that way lay real service. Dr. W. C. M'Lelland said that personality was essential to the carrying out of God's plans for the good of man, and commended to his hearers the evangelisation of the world during the present generation. The evening meeting was a most successful one, the speakers being the president and the Rev. F. W. Hynes. At the close of the convention covenant vows were renewed.

Rev. Joseph Woodhouse, Home Mission secretary of the Methodist Church, leaves on Monday for a tour of Albury and Eastern Riverina.

The Rozelle Methodist Mission held its fifth anniversary services on Sunday, the 19th inst. The Rev. J. Scharkie (superintendent of the Rozelle Mission) officiated at the morning service, the Rev. J. G. Robertson (assistant of the Balmain Central Mission) at the afternoon choral service, and the Rev. R. J. Williams (Sydney Central Mission) at the evening service. The anniversary tea was held on the 22nd inst., being followed by a public meeting in the evening, at which Mr. W. J. Laws presided.

Mr. W. I. B. Mote, choirmaster of the Lyceum People's Own, has returned from a holiday trip to New Zealand.

The foundation-stone of a new Methodist Church is to be laid at Northbridge on August 1.

The appeal for Wesleyan Foreign Missions in England resulted in £283,499 being subscribed.

At the Stanmore Methodist Church to-morrow the president of the conference will unveil a tablet to the memory of the late T. P. Reeve.

The foundation-stone of the new Methodist Church at Carlton was laid on Saturday by Alderman W. J. Berryman, in the presence of a large gathering, which included the president of the conference and several ministers.

Congregationalists throughout the State are anticipating with keen interest the visit of the Rev. J. D. Jones, D.D., of Bournemouth, who returns to-day from Queensland, where he has had splendid meetings in various centres. He will remain in the State for two weeks.

Rev. W. H. Raynor left on Saturday for New Town, Hobart. Prior to his departure a social gathering was held in the Dulwich Hill Congregational Church, and Mr. Raynor was presented with a purse of sovereigns from the congregation.

Mr. C. B. Cockett, senior student of Camden College, was welcomed as student pastor at the Willoughby Congregational Church last week.

Rev. J. H. Toms was at the same gathering presented with a gold-mounted fountain pen by the congregation for his services as interim pastor for the last 12 months.

Last month nine Congregational Churches were visited in the interests of the Supplementary Stipend Fund, and £500 was subscribed.

The museum of the British and Foreign Bible Society has been opened in the new offices. There are on view curious articles of native and foreign manufacture from Peru, Turkey, Japan, India, China, Korea, and many out of the way corners of the world, where the Bible Society colporteurs travel.

The second annual convention of the Balmain District Union of Christian Endeavour was opened at the Denison-street Mission Hall, Rozelle, on the afternoon of the 18th inst., with a juvenile rally, at which the Rev. H. Crosier was the principal speaker. Subsequently a tea meeting was held, and in the evening addresses were delivered by Mrs. E. R. Stupart, Rev. A. J. Hannah (Drummoyne Baptist), and Rev. C. G. Percival (Drummoyne Methodist.) On Sunday special services were held in all the district churches, and convention was brought to a close the following day, with a consecration service, at which the Rev. G. O. Cocks (State President) was the chief speaker.

In connection with the diamond jubilee celebrations of the Sydney Y.M.C.A., the board of directors entertained the members of the committee force on Thursday evening. The attendance was large, and the function marked with much enthusiasm. The Y.M.C.A. management strongly believes in giving its members large opportunities of doing things, and finds that the policy of division of labour results in efficient work, and the development of new leaders and workers. The great diamond jubilee membership banquet of the Sydney Y.M.C.A., takes place on the 31st. Applications for seats are coming in rapidly, and a function worthy of the historic occasion is assured.

The Sydney Y.M.C.A. is only ten years younger than the parent—London Association—which was founded in 1844.

The Y.M.C.A. believes itself to be an integral part of the Church. It trains its members for Church work, and its officers are all members of churches, and co-operate fully in Church activities. The association has issued a very fine illustrated prospectus of its work in Sydney.

Mr. Priestley's Antarctic dog Glennie Nos has been publicly exhibited for the first time, when he made his appearance at the Cheltenham Dog Show, and naturally attracted much attention, even though he was benched "not for competition." He is now seven or eight years old, and seems to have thoroughly settled down to a life of dignified ease in his master's home at Tewkesbury.

A MYSTERY.

"I befriended that unfortunate girl," I said. "And she has appreciated what I did."

"The little fool ran her head into a noose, I know," was his reply. "But, even though you gave her her liberty, it gave her no right to betray us."

"Nor any right to you to strike her down," I said, glancing at the white face of the prostrate form.

"Ah! You are her champion!" he laughed. "But you wouldn't be if you knew the truth. She wasn't the innocent little person she led you to believe she was."

"No," I cried angrily. "You shall say nothing against your victim's honour, curse you! I only thank Heaven that I'm here to-night—that I know the truth regarding this tragedy. Your intention was—the intention of all three of you, no doubt, was—to get rid of the evidence of your crime. But that will now be impossible."

As I uttered that last sentence the bearded Frenchman made a movement towards the door.

"Halt!" I cried in a loud, imperious voice. "Come back here. Do not attempt to leave this room, or I'll shoot you," and as he glanced at me he found himself looking into the barrel of my weapon.

"Come," said Gregory. "Enough of this fooling! It's a drawn game between us, Mr. Vidal. Why not let us discuss the future quietly and without any ill-feeling on either side. I admit what I have done—killed the traitress."

"And by Heaven! you shall pay the penalty of your crime!" I cried.

"Oh, shall I?" he laughed with a nonchalant air. "We shall see."

Next instant I heard a sharp click in the passage outside, and the room was plunged in darkness. The electric light had been switched off by one of Gregory's confederates in the hall.

I heard the door open, and voices shouted wildly in French.

"Just in time," I heard the newcomer cry.

"Ah, Jules!" gasped Gregory. "You are late! Where have you been? Where are you?"

And, by the shuffling of feet I knew that the men were groping about in the darkness. Jules Jeanjean was there, in that room.

"Dieu! You were nearly trapped, all of you," I heard him cry. "Where is he?" he asked, referring to myself. "He shall not live to blab. Mind he doesn't get out by the window."

But I still stood with my back against the wall, my pistol raised in self-defence.

A few moments elapsed—moments that seemed like hours—when of a sudden my eyes were blinded by the ray of an electric torch which threw a strong light upon me from the doorway.

Ere I could realise my peril, there was a red flash, followed by a loud explosion, and I felt a hot, stinging sensation in my throat. The next second the blackness of unconsciousness fell upon me, and I knew no more.

CHAPTER XIX.
RECORDS FURTHER FACTS.

How long I remained there, or what subsequently happened to me, I did not learn till long afterwards.

I only knew, when I again awoke to consciousness, that it was day, and I found myself in a narrow bed, with two nurses in blue linen dresses, and white caps and aprons, standing near me, while two doctors were gazing into my face with keen, anxious expressions.

At first they would tell me nothing, even though, with a great effort, I asked what had happened. Bandages were around my throat and across my left shoulder, and I felt a nausea and a giddiness that I knew arose from chloroform, and therefore that some operation had been performed. I slowly struggled back to a knowledge of things about me.

I felt uncommonly drowsy, and again slept, and not until night had fallen did I reopen my eyes.

A night-nurse was seated at my bedside, reading by a green-shaded lamp. The little room was in darkness, and I think I startled her when I suddenly spoke.

"Where am I, nurse?" I inquired in a thin weak voice, and with difficulty.

"This is the Cottage Hospital at Hounslow," was the reply. "You've been here two days, but you are much better now. Don't talk, however, for the doctor has forbidden it."

"But I want to know what has happened," I protested.

"Well, I don't exactly know," the dark-haired young woman answered. "I only know what I've been told. That is, that a taxi-driver who took you to some house beyond Spring Grove grew tired of waiting for you, and on going to the house found you in one of the rooms, dying."

"Dying!" I gasped. "Ah, yes, I remember," I added, as recollections of that fateful night arose within my memory.

"Yes. You were suffering from a serious bullet-wound in the throat," she went on. "The window of the room was smashed, but your friends had all fled."

"My friends!" I echoed. "Who said they were my friends?"

"The taxi-driver said so, I believe."

"Where is he?"

"He has promised to come to-morrow, to see you."

"But was not a lady found in the same room?" I inquired eagerly, trying to raise myself. "She had been killed—deliberately struck down!"

"Yes. I've heard that a lady was found there."

"Was she brought here, with me?"

"No" was the nurse's reply. "She was removed, but to what place I've not heard."

Lola was dead! Ah! The sight of that white, upturned face, so delicate and sweet, and of that dark, ugly stream of blood across the bosom of her dress haunted me. I recollected those hideous moments when, being on my guard against the assassins, I alas! had no opportunity of lending her aid.

She was found dead, apparently, and they had removed her body—probably to the nearest mortuary to await an inquest.

All my thoughts became confused when I realised the tragic truth. The nurse saw that I was upset and urged me to try to sleep again. Indeed she gave me a draught which the doctor had ordered and, presently, though much against my inclination, I again dozed off.

It was once more day—a warm, sunny day—when I became thoroughly alive to things about me. The doctors came and expressed satisfaction at my improvement, dressed my wound, which I confess was very painful, and declared that I had had a very narrow escape.

Towards noon the taxi-driver, cap in hand, came up to my bedside to inquire how I was. His name was Stevens. The nurse would not, however, allow me to put many questions to him.

"You were such a long time gone, sir, that I thought I'd just come up and see if you wanted me any more. I had to get over to Acton to the garage, for I'd had a long day," he told me. "I'd just got to the garden gate when I heard a pistol shot, and, entering the garden, and seeing the window smashed, I suspected something wrong. I got in at the window, and found the room in darkness. A light was burning in the hall, and the door was open. Quickly I found the electric switch and, turning it, saw you lying on the floor close beside the body of a young lady."

"Did you see the other men?" I asked eagerly.

"At first, sir, I believed it to be a case of murder and suicide," answered Stevens, "but a moment later, as I stood in the room horrified at the discovery, I heard several persons leave the house. I tried to raise the alarm, but nobody heard me, so they got clean away. I examined the young lady and yourself, then I rushed out for help. At the bottom of the road I went towards my cab, but as I did so I heard the engine started and the red tail-lamp moved off away from me. Those fellows that had run from the house were inside. Yes, sir, them vagabonds had stolen my cab!"

"What did you do then?" I asked eagerly.

"Why, I yelled after 'em, but nobody heard me, until presently I came across a constable, and told him what was up. We soon got another taxi, and went back to the house, and there we found you both a-lying as I'd left you."

"Was the lady alive?" I queried hoarsely.

"Yes. She was a-breathing slightly, and as we thought she was injured worse than you, the copper took her off at once to the Brentford Hospital by herself, as there wasn't room for both of you in the cab. On the way he sent another taxi back for me, and I brought you here."

"But is the young lady alive now?" I asked.

"I believe so, but I'm not quite sure. She was last night when I called at the hospital, but she was dreadful bad, and in great danger, they told me."

"Ah!" I sighed. "I only hope and pray that she may recover to face and confound her brutal enemies."

"Yes, a great friend," was my reply.

TARIFF INQUIRY.

INTERSTATE COMMISSION.

COPPER REFINING.

APPLICATION FOR A BOUNTY.

Francis H. Snow, a director of the Electrolytic Refining and Smelting Company of Australia, whose works are at Port Kembla, asked the Interstate Commission yesterday to recommend a bounty of 25s a ton on copper refined in Australia. The Wallaroo Company of South Australia refined copper, but owned a mine as well. Wallaroo, having no gold or silver in their ore, did not require to refine electrolytically. Applicants' works were established primarily for the refinement of copper containing gold and silver.

Mr. Lockyer: The bounty is only rendered necessary by the electrolytic process. That is where you meet with the greater expense, otherwise Wallaroo would require the bounty. We want to know the percentage cost of labour between blister copper and the finishing of copper by the electrolytic process.

Witness said they would get that from another witness.

Mr. Swinburne: What was the basis of the establishment of your works?

Witness: Upon the figures which we had at the time of our establishment in regard to the treatment of the ore here; there appeared to be quite a satisfactory profit in view.

The Chief Commissioner: In what point have your estimates been falsified?

The Chief Commissioner: In what section?

Mr. Snow handed in figures showing the increased cost of coal, coke, labour, and interstate freights, and said the figures showed an increased cost of 22s 3d a ton on their estimate.

On the production of copper in Australia at the time the company was formed the company looked for their principal profits from the treatment of mattes, which were at that time being produced in considerable quantities. The production of mattes had largely decreased—due to the mines finding it unprofitable to continue working owing to a fall in the price of copper. Copper was at a high price when the company's works were contemplated. The price was at about £80 a ton, and afterwards went to £100 a ton. Every mine produced as much as possible, while prices were high. When the price fell these mines found it unprofitable to work, and it was lamentable at the present time to scan a list, and see the number of mines that had since the slump ceased to produce mats. His company was formed in 1907, and the works were opened two years later.

Answering Mr. Lockyer, witness denied that the failure of the company, so far, to make a profit was due to a mistake.

Mr. Lockyer: Well, in return for £60,000 or £60,000 bounty asked for, what employment in your industry likely to give?

Witness: That information will be given you. American treatment charges fell in 1909, when his company opened their works. The American figures, at the present time, were not so low as they were in 1909, and if witness's company were given encouragement in the way of a bounty the American firm might save up the struggle. Copper now shipped aboard would, by virtue of a bounty, be treated in Australia. The keeping open of the works of his company would not reduce the price of copper in Australia.

Mr. Snow said his works were supplying copper to the British and Indian Governments.

MOTOR BODIES.

Mr. J. A. Steenbhom, continuing his evidence in support of an application for the protection of the motor-body building industry, said there was no advantage to be gained by using imported panels. Locally-made panels were about a pound dearer, but that price included doors, which the imported panels lacked. For the more expensive body, local makers asked for no further protection. Cheap and medium bodies were the kind with which local makers could not compete. An American-made car was sold in Sydney for about £190, and the body for this car was made in Sydney, but, in witness's opinion, the American firm allowed the Sydney builder a certain sum for building. Several Sydney garages built bodies, but with the exception of two they had all discontinued the practice.

Mr. Swinburne: A cycle car sells in America at £80. You cannot make the body under £40. It is a serious matter.

The Chief Commissioner (Mr. Piddington): Then the cycle car with a body at that price must be given up, so far as the people of Australia are concerned?

The Chief Commissioner: Until their cheapness disappears they cannot be made here?

Witness: None of the £80 cycle cars have reached here. The cheapest I know of is the £150 car—two-seaters. The cycle car has not interfered with us so far.

Mr. Lockyer: It may do?

Witness: Yes; it probably will do later on.

Mr. Steenbhom said that three or four years ago there was a scarcity of labour for body-building. Manufacturers went to expense to get labour. They trained their own men, and secured them from other parts of the world. At the present time there was a dearth of work for these men, and many in the trade were out of employment.

Mr. Lockyer: Are there men out of employment?

Witness: Yes; we have had a large number of applications for employment, and are working with fewer men than in 1913. We are doing more work by means of vehicles.

The Chief Commissioner: It is strange that the union concerned has not approached us, as they have done in other branches complaining of the state of employment.

Witness: A number of men have left the trade and gone to the railway carriage works. Bodies which were part of the chassis could not be made here unless the chassis was also made. There was no firm making chassis here. Good firms had a fair proportion of their bodies built here on account of the superior quality. His firm was capable of turning out five or six bodies a week.

R. A. Sweeney, motor-body maker, of Summer Hill, said importations of the completed car were increasing.

"If this state of affairs continues," witness went on, "there will be no bodies built here. The local trade is getting in a bad way. Firms who had entered into the business in Sydney have gone under. Garages which had gone in for body-building had had to give up altogether or to reduce their staff.

Henry J. Pryor, of the Australian Sarven Wheel and Carriage Works, Leichhardt, asked for an increased duty of 10 per cent. on sarven and wood-hub wheels. The duty was now one of 40 per cent., and by means of a larger duty he hoped to extend the business and employ about ten to twenty times the number of men employed at present.

Frank Newman Patmore, of Patmore and Bath, sheet-metal workers, of Woolloomooloo, supported an increase of duty on motor bodies imported.

Further evidence will be taken on Monday regarding copper and tin ores, and iron and steel.

NEW ROAD.

WOOLLOOMOOLOO BAY.

The work in connection with the new road running from Woolloomooloo Bay through Phillip and Cook Parks to the intersection of College and Park streets is at a standstill.

The City Council has completed the forming of the road, and the metalling of all but the centre portion, but the Tramway Department, which is to lay a line to Woolloomooloo Bay, has not yet made a start. The construction of the road, which was begun more than 18 months ago, was the outcome of an arrangement between the City Council and the Government at the time the council was given the right to impose the land tax on city properties, with the object of providing an additional outlet for heavy traffic from the Woolloomooloo wharfs, which have recently been greatly extended by the Harbour Trust, the Cathedral-street route having too steep a grade. The road was made by the council under agreement with the Government, whereby a proportion of the cost was to be borne by the Public Works Department, a proportion by the Harbour Trust, and the balance by the council. Day labour has been employed throughout, and the original estimate of cost, £24,000, will, it is stated, be exceeded by about £10,000. The reasons given for this are increased wages since the estimates were made, and the presence of more rock than the preliminary borings indicated.

It is understood that the laying of the tram rails will be begun in a week or two. Then the metalling of the road will be completed and the road thrown open for traffic, but just when that will be no one can say definitely at the present moment.

SOCIAL.

All contributions and accounts of weddings or other social entertainments intended for the "Social" Column in Saturday's issue should reach this office not later than Friday morning, and be fully endorsed.

Polo at Muswellbrook and in the Wagga district has drawn away several city folk to share in the fun. Mr. E. R. White, of Merton, who has a house party, gave a dance on Monday night, and Dr. and Mrs. J. Osborne have been entertaining friends at Cootamundra. In town, women have made a serious business of "seeing the spring things" which have been shown at some private views. The new hats are simply exquisite, and women of the most diverse tastes and widely-differing complexions are catered for. "Varnish" is the word to conjure with. "Glycerine" ribbons, "glycerine" straws, and glittering leaves make all the show rooms shiny. Fruit, flowers, feathers, ribbons, and tulle, separately or all together, are used as trimmings. Yet the sparseness of effect is still sought after, and the ribbon is massed under the brim at the back, the new "Dolly Varden" and "Shepherdess" shapes carrying all before them. It is long since the spring millinery has been so universally voted charming.

Mrs. Annie Carroll, who recently endowed a cot in perpetuity at the Randwick Hospital, in memory of her late husband, will leave on Monday in the Aeneas for old world centres.

Lady Mary Trefusis arrived in Melbourne by the Demosthenes, but made no stay, as she left immediately for New Zealand. It is understood that Lady Mary, who is affectionately remembered in Sydney under her maiden name of Lygon, which was well known when she was here with her brother, Lord Beauchamp, is on a health trip. She is expected to visit Sydney on her return from New Zealand.

Mrs. Norman Lockyer is on a visit to Sydney, while Mr. Lockyer is here with the Interstate Commission. Her many friends have welcomed Mrs. Lockyer, who, before she went to Melbourne, resided for some years in an Illawarra line suburb, and is well known in social circles.

Mrs. Barbara Baynton is now in Sydney, where she will make a short business visit, returning soon to London. Her permanent address is Claridge's.

Among the passengers on the Euripides, now on her maiden trip from England to Australia, are Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Williams, of Sydney. Mrs. Williams was presented to their Majesties at a recent court by Lady Coghlan.

Miss A. L. Ducker, of Sydney, is now staying in Kensington Gore, at the De Vere Hotel, after a tour in Japan and other parts of the East. Mrs. F. B. Freehill, Mr. and Mrs. and the Misses Hollingdale, and Miss Gwen Mann were at the same hotel when the last mail left.

DARKEST AFRICA.

From Darkest Africa there comes to Australia a famous missionary and explorer, Mr. Dan. Crawford, F.R.G.S., author of the well-known book, "Thinking Black." He will arrive in Victoria next month, and spend five weeks in the southern State before coming to Sydney. The various evangelical churches and Y.M.C.A. associations are assisting to make his tour a success.

Mr. Crawford, when a youth of 19, entered Africa from the Atlantic Ocean, and bored his way into the interior to a spot 250 miles beyond the place where Livingstone died. For 22 years he worked in darkest Africa as a missionary, Bible translator, road-maker, sanitary reformer, and finally emerged from Central Africa, reaching the Indian Ocean, via the Zambesi. On his return to England he published his book, and won fame by his picturesque and thrilling addresses. He has just concluded a tour of America, and after leaving Australia proposes to re-enter Central Africa for the second and final term, for he says he will never return to civilisation.

Of the fifty-three Albert medals of the Royal Society of Arts that have been awarded only two have gone to women. In commemoration of the progress of arts, manufactures, and commerce in the British Empire during the previous fifty years, the medal was conferred on Queen Victoria at the time of her first Jubilee in 1887, and four years ago Mme. Curie was selected for the honour on account of her discovery of radium.

WOMEN'S COLLEGE.

INCREASED ACCOMMODATION.

GOVERNMENT AID SOUGHT.

The claims of the Women's College for an increased endowment were advocated by a deputation introduced by Sir Normand MacLaurin yesterday to Mr. Flowers, who acted on behalf of the Premier.

Mr. J. T. Walker, chairman of the Women's College council, said that the outlay on buildings and grounds amounted to £14,115 4s 11d. As against this, funds coming in had been as follows:—Subscriptions from the public, £5640 16s 3d; Government endowment, £5000; proceeds of loan, £3000; portion of annual surpluses, £474 5s 8d; total, £14,115 4s 11s.

Of the loan originally obtained, £1250 has been paid off, leaving £1750 due. The other creditors represented £402 11s 4d, so that the total nominal indebtedness at the end of last year was £2152 11s 4d. By the "University and University Colleges Act, 1900," clause 35, it seemed that they should have £10,000 at least subscribed by founders, and not less than £4000 paid and invested in such manner as the Governor approved before applying for the balance of £10,000 towards erection of buildings. They desired to know whether this clause could be suspended, as it was very desirable that improvements should proceed forthwith, and that it should not be necessary to have all the money collected within five years.

Miss Macdonald, principal of the college, said they had only room for 36 students, and applications were being received for admission, but they had to be refused, because of want of accommodation. The new buildings would give accommodation to 36 more students.

Mr. Thos. Hughes said that the college up to the present had expended £14,000. Of that sum, the Government contributed £5000, so that really there had been spent about £10,000 received from public contributions. The difficulty in connection with the Act was that it seemed that the college had to get a further £5000 subscribed before they could get any relief. They wanted to embark on a building scheme involving an expenditure of from £10,000 to £12,000. They wanted to know if they could rely upon the Government covering them, not only for what they might receive in the future, but what they had received in excess of the original £5000.

Mr. Flowers said that the scheme involved the passage of a small Act of Parliament. He promised to lay the matter before the Government, and assured the deputation of a sympathetic hearing.

YOUNG WOMEN.

The great work of the Young Women's Christian Association in Sydney has closed another chapter in its history. The association's year ended on June 30, and it was essentially a year of progress from beginning to end. The great event of the year was the removal of the general work from Castlereagh-street to large and airy premises in Liverpool-street, fronting Hyde Park. Here the band of workers who pilot the affairs of the association may work more industriously than before—if that were possible—owing to the pleasant surroundings. Here, in the afternoons and evenings, the association carries on its educational work, which is of a supplementary character, and aims at fitting girls for the battle of life. The fees are very much lower than those usually charged for the subjects taught. Here also a cafe has been opened, where girls from offices and warehouses may lunch in comfort and at small cost.

The Castlereagh-street building is still used as the hostel, and is now able to accommodate a much larger number than when the whole of the work was carried on inside its walls. This advantage was more apparent during the Easter holidays, when visitors thronged to the city. Miss Reid, as house secretary, is a great success, and has earned the devotion of all her charges.

The educational side of the work is under the direct supervision of Miss Ethel M'Credie, B.A., and her position is no sinecure. There are classes under 15 different sections, and some of these sections embrace as many as eight and ten subjects. Then there are the recreation and other clubs, embracing everything that girls like, from literature to country rambles and picnics, and embracing among other things a club for engaged girls and others wishing to delve into the mysteries of domestic economy and household management. The association opens its arms to all girls. Membership means a host of privileges, and the purpose that is set out in two sentences often seen on the association's literature is aptly representative of the general aims—"Make your life count. Develop all your faculties." What more can a girl do for herself?

During the year ended June 30, there were 355 new members, and the total was increased to 856. There is ample room for more. There is no denominational discrimination. The registration in the educational classes numbered 341, and in physical culture classes 150. Four hundred and forty-six girls registered in the social and educational clubs, and the spiritual development classes secured an aggregate attendance of 2200.

Another great event during the year was the affiliation with the Y.W.C.A. of the World, through the national movement, and the association was thus able to send two voting delegates to the great international congress in Stockholm in June this year. Numerous local and interstate conferences were held. The work of the year just completed was the biggest yet carried out, but it is very small in comparison with what the general secretary (Miss Loundy) and her associates hope to accomplish.

THE COMMERCIAL BANKING CO. OF SYDNEY.

HALF-YEARLY MEETING.

10 PER CENT. DIVIDEND DECLARED.

The half-yearly meeting of the Commercial Banking Company of Sydney was held yesterday.

The report showed that the balance at the credit of profit and loss account, after deducting rebate on current bills and accrued interest on fixed deposits, reducing premises account, paying note and other taxes, and providing for bad and doubtful debts, as well as granting to the officers a bonus on their salaries, amounts to £207,112, out of which the directors recommended the following appropriations:—To payment of a dividend for the half-year at the rate of 10 per cent. per annum, £99,255; to transfer to reserve fund, £50,000; to balance being undivided profit, £57,854. During the half-year branches were established at Bonalbo, Gresford, Haberfield, Mackiekville, and Quandong, in this State, and at Morven and Roma-street, Brisbane, Queensland.

In moving the adoption of the report, the chairman, Mr. George J. Cohen, said that he first wished to point out that the total figures showed the very satisfactory expansion of over two and three quarter millions, evidencing that they had had a fair share of the business that had been available. Looking at the debit side, the capital had been increased by £250,000, thus completing the amount authorised in September last to be called up. The capital stood at £2,000,000 paid up, the reserve capital, of course, standing at a similar amount.

They had been enabled to augment the reserve fund during the period by £100,000, bringing it, with the appropriation now recommended, up to £1,730,000. Bills in circulation were larger by £156,000, but the principal increase had been in deposits, which amounted to £2,265,000 more than they did a year ago. There was an increase of £12,743 in profit and loss account, and the only other item, notes in circulation, had been reduced by about £9000 by payment of their notes, leaving only £21,000 to come in.

Turning to the assets side, it would be seen that the position of the bank was one of strength. The liquid assets showed an increase of £2,777,000, and bore to our liabilities to the public a ratio of 54½ per cent.

Of the items forming the liquid assets, the increases were as follows:—Coin and cash at bankers, £2,248,000; Australian Commonwealth notes, £41,000; money at short call in London, £236,000; bills receivable in London, etc., £208,000; notes and bills of other banks, £4800; while the holding of Government debentures had been reduced by £51,000, principally by the maturing of bonds.

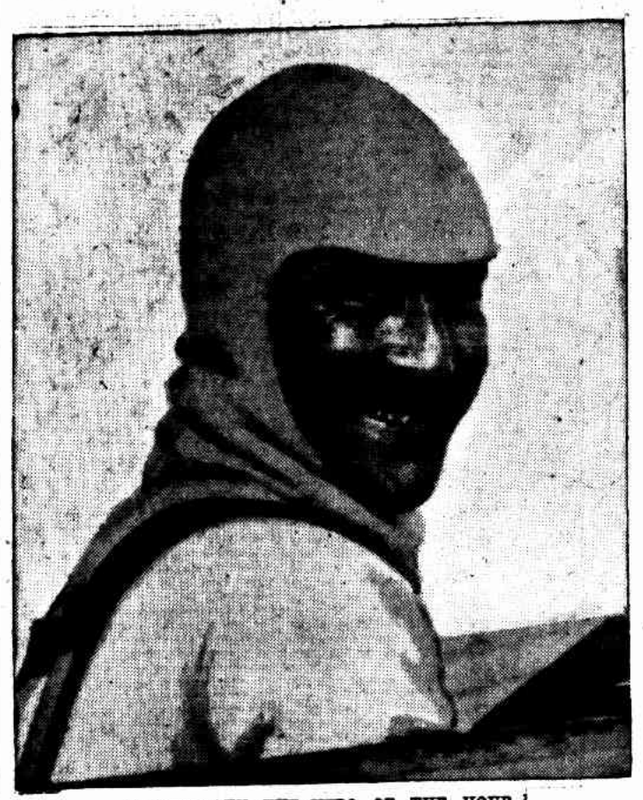

With regard to bank premises, the last item in the balance-sheet, they had completed 12 branch buildings during the year, in respect of which, and of others in course of erection, there was an increase under that head of £32,780 after the usual writing off.

Mr. Cohen then moved that the report and statements of account be received and adopted. The motion was agreed to.

MUNICIPAL ELECTION.

The election to-day to fill the extraordinary vacancy in the Tunks Ward of the Municipality of North Sydney promises to be a very keen contest. The Reform candidate, Mr. MacKinnon, selected by the Cammeray Ratepayers' Association, is opposed by three ex-aldermen who were defeated at the general election a few months ago—Messrs. Roberts, Robertson, and Whitmore.

M. GUILLAUX—THE HERO OF THE HOUR.
LIPTON'S TEA—THE PRIDE OF FIVE CONTINENTS.

M. Guillaux carried with him tea in a Thermos flask. He was well protected from the cold, with his leather jacket round his waist. He wore a scarf, and from his neck floated the French colours.—Extract from "The Daily Telegraph," 17/7/14.

He eagerly availed himself of the warmth of a bonfire which had been lighted on the racecourse as a beacon to guide him to the landing place, and drank with evident relish a cup of steaming tea poured from a thermos flask which he was carrying.—Extract from "The Daily Telegraph," 20/7/14.

Sensations dogged me to Goulburn. The high stratum of air was bitterly cold. When I alighted I was practically frozen; but soon came to under the influence of a cup of hot tea which had kept its temperature in the thermos flask I carried with me.—Extract from Sunday "Sun," 19/7/14.

As Guillaux, in a water-soaked Esquimau-like costume, stood up in his machine and quaffed another draught of hot tea from his thermos flask, he looked none the worse for the gruelling ordeal through which he had passed.—Extract from "The Daily Telegraph," 20/7/14.

THE MOUTH IS THE GATEWAY FOR THE ENTRANCE OF DISEASE.

Professor Miller has proved conclusively that no fewer than 38 different infections may be traced with more or less directness to the human mouth as a focal or starting point. The mouth being the gateway for the entrance of disease, therefore, it is here that the fight must begin to keep the enemy out.

HUDSON'S EUMENTHOL JUJUBES

are the most powerful, safe, and pleasant Germicide and Antiseptic known, being destructive to all forms of bacterial life. They keep the mouth in a sweet, healthy condition.

ENDORSED BY THE MEDICAL WORLD.

"The Lancet" states:—"Their purpose is to act as a bactericide in the mouth; this result is likely to be gained, for, in experiments tried, the jujube proved as effective bactericidally as is creosote."

"The Practitioner" (London) says:—"They are recommended for the use in cases of Oral Sepsis, a condition to which much attention has been called in recent years, as a source of gastric troubles and general constitutional disturbances; and are also useful in tonsilitis, pharyngitis, and similar ailments."

HUDSON'S EUMENTHOL TOOTH POWDER.

"This Tooth Powder is designed on sound principles, and is very agreeable to use. The distinctive feature about it is that, in addition to some approved germicides, it contains Mg O_2, which readily parts with free oxygen, as our experiments have shown. . . The Powder is finely divided, and is free from harmful constituents and gritty substances. Analysis showed that the Powder was capable of giving off oxygen equal to 1 cubic centimetre per gramme. This disengagement of oxygen leads to the formation of a pleasant and wholesome foam."

TWO ACTRESSES.

(BY W. F. W.)

The Association of England's most famous Shakespearian actress of modern times, with Australia's greatest Shakespearian actress in the performance of the Trial scene from the "Merchant of Venice" at Her Majesty's Theatre in Sydney next Tuesday afternoon is a unique and historic event in the theatrical world. We shall see Ellen Terry upon the stage as Portia, not as we saw her when lecturing in the Town Hall, but in a proper stage setting, with the usual stage accessories, just as some amongst us have seen her in days gone by in the historic Lyceum Theatre in London, when she played with the late Sir Henry Irving; and we shall see, attending her as Nerissa, Essie Jenyns, who also won fame as Portia, and was no less famous as Juliet in this country.

Unfortunately, there can only be one Portia on Tuesday next, but as they look upon Ellen Terry and hang upon her words, recalling the days of her former triumphs, old playgoers (and they will not need to be so very old, either) will call up memories, too, of the Portia Essie Jenyns gave us in the days when she used to play with her stepfather, Mr. W. J. Holloway. There is little for Nerissa to say in the Trial scene—the more's the pity—but at least it is something to be able to see Essie Jenyns again; and we thank the Actors' Association for giving us this opportunity. For the whole programme for Tuesday, with its contributors from all the theatrical companies in Sydney, has been arranged by the Actors' Association in honour of Miss Ellen Terry; and it was but characteristic of Miss Essie Jenyns that when she was invited to play Nerissa, despite the small acting opportunities it gives her, she wrote back from Newcastle: "No part too small to do honour to the dear lady."

For it is in Newcastle that Essie Jenyns lives, though she long ago changed her second name, and we know her now as Mrs. J. R. Wood. When she married she retired from the stage, and the theatre lost its bright particular star in this country. This is what the late Mr. F. C. Brewer, the historian of our drama, says of her:—"In September, 1886, a young lady made her début in Sydney who, during her short career upon the stage, reached a position in drama similar to that of Madame Melba in opera—Miss Essie Jenyns. Her first appearance was in a comparatively modest part—that of May Gordon in a play entitled 'The Iron Ring.' This piece also reintroduced Mr. W. J. Holloway to Sydney (who accompanied Miss Kate Arden and Miss Jenyns); he had just returned from a trip to England. It was on September 27 that the accomplished young lady made her first appeal to the judgment of the critics in the highest walk of the stage as Juliet, Mr. Holloway playing Romeo, and Miss Kate Arden the nurse. Miss Jenyns had studied under Creswick, and certainly did credit to her tutor. Her extreme youth, personal attractions, and talent of a very high order, together with a deep, and intelligent study of this most romantic of all Shakespeare's characters, placed her on a level with the best Juliets of her day. Subsequently she sustained Rosalind in "As You Like It," Beatrice in "Much Ado About Nothing," and Galatea in the comedy of "Pygmalion and Galatea," all with equal success."

It was apparently after these words were written that Miss Jenyns delighted the critics with her performance of Portia. She also won high praise for her Imogen ("Cymbeline") and Viola ("Twelfth Night"). We cannot doubt that had marriage not claimed her she would have won fame for herself in a much wider field. It is doubtful if her Juliet has ever been surpassed in this country. William Creswick, under whom she studied, stood high in our estimation as a Shakespearian actor, and it is interesting, also, to recall that at one time he played with Ellen Terry.

Marriage often means the parting of a great artist from her beloved profession. We remember how nearly at one time the world came to losing Ellen Terry. She had withdrawn from the stage, and was happy in her married life with that great artist in another field, George Frederick Watts. To Watts, who could not rid himself of the feeling that he "had spoiled her life," we owe the return to the stage of one of the brightest ornaments that ever graced it. Miss Terry herself has told the story in her own book, in one of his letters to her after the separation he wrote to her, "There is nothing in all this that the world might not know." And surely, as she writes, the world is always the better for having a little truth instead of a great deal of idle inaccuracy and falsehood. "If I did not fulfil his too high prophecy that 'in addition to your artistic eminence, I feel that you will achieve a solid social position, make yourself a great woman, and take a noble place in the history of your time,' I was the better for his having made it."

It is just on forty years since Ellen Terry first played Portia. She played it under the Bancrofts' management at the Old Prince of Wales's Theatre. "My fires were only just beginning to burn," she says, referring to this memorable performance in 1875. "Success I had had of a kind, and I had tasted the delight of knowing that audiences liked me, and I had liked them back again. But never until I appeared as Portia at the Prince of Wales's had I experienced that awe-struck feeling which comes, I suppose, to no actress more than once in a lifetime—the feeling of the conqueror. In homely parlance, I knew that I had 'got them' at the moment when I spoke the speech beginning, 'You see me, Lord Bassanio, where I stand.' 'What can this be?' I thought. 'Quite this thing has never come to me before. This is different.' It was never been quite the same before. It was never to be quite the same again. Elation, triumph, being lifted on high by a single stroke of the mighty wing of glory—call it by any name, think of it as you like—it was as Portia that I had my first and last sense of it. And while it made me happy, it made me miserable, because I foresaw, as plainly as my own success, another's failure. . . I have tried five or six different ways of treating Portia, but the way I think best is not the one which finds the heartiest response from my audiences. Has there ever been a dramatist, I wonder, whose parts admit of as many different interpretations as do Shakespeare's? There lies his immortality as an acting force. For times change, and parts have to be acted differently for different generations. Some parts are not sufficiently universal for this to be possible, but every ten years an actor can reconsider a Shakespeare part, and find new life in it for his new purpose and new audiences."

Only once or twice in a lifetime is such a scene witnessed within the walls of a theatre as that at His Majesty's Theatre, London, on April 27, 1906, when the professional jubilee of Ellen Terry was celebrated—for she began acting as a very young girl. Not the least interesting part of the programme was the presentation by Mr. Findon, of the Playgoers' Club, of a silver casket containing an address, comparing her to all the famous people of the past, and calling her the queen of comedy, and the recipient of the homage we pay to the ideal. And the climax of it all was the recital by Sir Herbert Beerbohm Tree of Mr. Louis N. Parker's admirable little semi-humorous address.—

Stop, Mistress, stop! Our Will has had his way,
But now you're in my house, and I can say
What Shakespeare never thought of in his play.
Stand here, dear sister-artist, Britain's pride,
The genius of her stage personified;
O rare, O sweet, O wondrous Ellen Terry!

And such a scene as will be witnessed at Her Majesty's Theatre in Sydney on Tuesday next, when Ellen Terry and Essie Jenyns will play together, comes but once or twice in a lifetime. Their love for Shakespeare has never waned. It is an interesting fact that the two chief subscribers to the Shakespeare memorial fund in Sydney are two great Shakespearian actresses—Ellen Terry and Essie Jenyns.

THE MEETING PLACE.

THE LAND OF LOTS O' TIME.

(BY M. H. D.)

They came from the Northlands, where the ungainly, yet withal picturesque, grey and green booyong towers above roofs that would stable a horse, from the red soil dairy and sugar lands; they came from the fertile south, where the stately palms shoot up, striving, it seems, to reach the clouds, from the birthplace of the dairying industry, whose herds were renowned while its great rival was still sleeping unthought of; they came, too, from the west that will soon be clad in its russet garb of ripening wheat fields, from the land of spaciousness and great plains.

They were the farmers and the settlers of the land gathered to discuss things that concerned them. They were the primary producers, and a listener at their meeting-place heard the term used often. They take a proper pride in it. They like the ring of it, and say it with a roll of the tongue. For all that, it is not a false pride, and there is no conceit about them. The term "cockie" is often made an expression of ridicule by the city man, but among the farmers assembled they applaud it. One delegate was charged with being a "parasite," for reasons which shall appear later. He indignantly repelled the soft impeachment. "I have my little bit of land," he retorted, "and I am just as much a cockie as you are." And they cheered him.

The idea is abroad among the men in the street that this annual conference is only a gathering of those who are hit heavily by the progressive land tax, of the squires of broad-acres; he will have to disabuse himself of this idea. The conception is totally wrong, and a glance over the assembly, nearly four hundred strong, will convince the sceptic more surely than any argument. Here and there, scattered through the number, may be an ex-journalist or two, a lawyer, a squatter, and maybe a land agent who has won the confidence of the farmers round him—a rare thing, admittedly, but the great majority are men who have toiled, some of them, from the north, with the Black Scrub, in its virgin days, not so long ago, by the way, and others who have fought on living areas the dust and dryness of the west. The conference may have been swayed by squatters a few years ago, but the old order has changed, and to-day the cockie and the share farmer are strong in the land. Their coats are not always of the latest cut, and there are few of them clean-shaven. Things such as these that loom so large in the life of the city man are not of any consequence to the man on the land. And, after all, who shall say who is right?

In their arguments they use the bare-knuckle method. Their thoughts in expression are not clothed in what may be termed the niceties of culture. They live nearer to nature than we of the city, and their language is straight to the point. Their choice of words lies in the direction of those that are simple, and in this they are following in the footsteps of some great masters. There is no straining after the effect gained by mellifluous and rounded sentences. They get right down to facts as they occur to them. They do not "ask in a tactful way whether the resolution now under discussion would not defeat the ends for which it was intended by the mover. "Mr. Chairman, I think this is an idiotic motion," one of the delegates announces. Perhaps the motion is not idiotic, but that is the way it appears to the delegate, and he says so. "Let us pass this motion," says another; "it will assist in getting rid of the parasites. I mean the land agents." And by the way he says it you know that he does mean it. It matters not that within ten feet of him there is sitting one of these parasites. "Sit down; you are only trying to attract attention," another man was informed, as he was endeavouring in a halting manner to shape his thoughts, and the man sat down. "That's all bunkum," was the candid comment of one farmer on a lengthy and involved argument by a fellow-delegate. There is no "beating about the bush" in a frank statement like that.

He is fair-minded though, and will seldom allow his own personal interest to outweigh his judgment. An instance will suffice. It concerned the lending of money by the Government for closer settlement, and it was proposed that the Government should be asked to limit the interest on this money to 4 per cent. The resolution was in danger of being carried until one of the delegates pointed out that the Government might be compelled to borrow at 5 per cent. Were they going to ask the public to supply the deficit, he asked. That motion was not carried.

He is vigorous in his appreciation and in his display of feelings. It is a weakness, as well as a strength. One man could not get his way, and he thumped his badge on the table in front of the chairman. "There's my resignation," he shouted, and the chairman's comment was to the effect that it was only a way the countryman had of expressing himself. When they say yea or nay to a motion they shout it with all the power afforded by robust lungs, nurtured in the clean, free air of the country. An "aye" rends the air, and the man who is passing outside looks up. "What's on in there?" he asks colloquially. "Oh, that's the Farmers' Conference," someone answers. "What are they cheering about?" he queries, in curious mood. "Cheering! They're not cheering. They have just passed a motion that the Government be asked to pass a Seed Inspection Bill. When they do cheer the noise rips through the air like the crash of a head-on railway collision.

They are delightfully informal, too, the men from the west. "I have just been out for a smoke and a drink, and I don't quite know the position," says a big-bearded man, as he fumbles in his pocket for his glasses to read the motion he has been suddenly called upon to move. But one could write for a long time on the qualities that go to form a farmers' gathering.

One fact was prominent in the early stages, and that was the slow rate of progress that the delegates were making with the business-sheet. Banjo Paterson knew the countryman well when he sang of one of his failings—

The moving breezes come and go,
The reel beds sweep and sway;
The sleepy river murmurs low,
And loiters on its way.
It's the land of lots o' time along the Castlereagh.

So, in its early stages at least, the Farmers' Parliament was a land of lots of time. The business-sheet had 174 motions on it, and at the end of the first week the delegates had discussed few of them. The meeting time was 9.30, but never before 10 o'clock did they take up the thread of the previous day's work. Then there was the smoke-oh interval to disturb the routine of the work; but their practical common-sense came to the rescue, and they thought of means of disposing of this enormous business-sheet. Sub-committees were appointed to go through the motions, and all bearing on the one subject were caught up in one report. To this they directed their attention, and so by this sifting process more rapid progress was made.

This year's conference marked the coming of age of the association. It is 21 years since the first one met. There were then about 80 delegates. Now there are 400. During the last few years the association has become a strong virile body, taking a prominent place in the public eye. They have entered the political field, feeling that they have been driven there to defend themselves against legislative actions which they believe, rightly or wrongly, are similar to those that have operated against them as a body since the world began. Formerly they failed, by reason of lack of combination, due to distances, that kept them separate. Disabilities of this character in these days of close inter-communication are gone. They have been taught by politicians to believe that they are the base of the economic pyramid, and they now desire that it shall be believed by all and sundry. Whether they will succeed remains for the future to unfold, but if vigour, enthusiasm, strength of purpose, and continued effort will achieve their aim then the manuscript may be already read.

Bronchitis.

"There is no disease that should cause more anxiety in the home than Bronchitis, for if neglected in the earlier stages it often becomes chronic and may even prove fatal.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is the medicine for this disease and if given in regular doses will relieve the cough, ease the pain, remove the difficulty in breathing and produce a free and easy expectoration, thus reducing the inflammation.

Old people and those who have weak lungs cannot be too careful in guarding against this disease.

CHAMBERLAIN'S COUGH REMEDY

strengthens the throat and lungs and makes them less susceptible to changes of atmosphere. In fact the use of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy will prevent an attack of Bronchitis becoming chronic."

A BOOK OF BUTTERFLIES.

The lack of suitable books of reference has always been a stumbling-block in the way of those who wished to study any branch of Australian natural history. As far as the butterflies are concerned there will no longer be any ground for such a complaint; for in "The Butterflies of Australia" (Angus and Robertson), Messrs. Waterhouse and Lyell have given a complete monograph in compact form, with admirable figures of every species. The authors are to be congratulated on their presentation of the first complete study of an Australian faunal group, in all its relations, upon the lines of modern scientific classification. This book will serve as a basis for all future work upon Australian lepidopters. The brief account given in the introduction of the previous literature of the subject clearly shows the necessity for a general work embracing all the scattered records.

For a general reader the book has, of course, no literary value. Condensation has been the aim throughout, and it is only by reading between the lines that one catches a glimpse of the romantic histories attached to some of these bright insects. For instance, it will be noted that many of the descriptions of "blues" have the name of an ant given as tending the larva. These curious caterpillars secrete from certain glands a sugary substance which the ants use for food. They are carefully guarded in the ants' nests by day, and guilded to their plant-food at night, being led back again after they have fed. In many cases they have become so dependent upon the ants that, unless the latter remove the secretion, the glands clog, and the larvae die. A still more remarkable case is shown in Figures 592 and 593. They represent a Queensland butterfly, Liphyra major, the larva of which lives in ants' nests against the will of the owners, and feeds upon their larvae. It is so flattened, however, and has such a rough chitonous coat that the ants cannot harm it. It pupates in the nest, and when the butterfly issues, the ants prepare to take their revenge. But the butterfly is covered all over its wings and body by fluffy silver scales, which are easily detached, and the ants, instead of grabbing the insect, only succeed in clogging their jaws with floury scales. So the offender escapes, and is able to fly off in half an hour, though other butterflies of equal size have to dry their wings for several hours before they can take to the air. The first few beats of the wings shake off the remainder of the provisional scales, and the butterfly caught on the wing is very different from the creature as it leaves its chrysalis.

But though there may be little for the general reader, the interest of the work is not confined to scientific entomologists. The plan is so admirable that anyone who is interested may acquire a working knowledge of the few technicalities required, and the numerous explanatory text figures of wing venation, antennae, palps, and limbs aid to this end. In addition there are 900 figures upon the plates, seventy of which are in colour. So it is quite an easy matter to identify any butterfly, and, by reference to the description, to find out its range, and the season at which it is on the wing. There is also an excellent and concise account of methods of collecting and preserving. With such a book available, observers in many localities will be able to study the lepidopters on scientific lines, and to fill in the gaps in our knowledge by the gradual accumulation of their observations.

To the scientific entomologist, however, the book will make its chief appeal. It deals with the Australian rhopalocera in their relation to extra-limital forms, and forms an authoritative zoo-geographical study of great value. Trinomial nomenclature is used in a justifiable way to express the relationship of geographical sub-species to the dominant species. The keys to the genera are admirable, and to working entomologists the specific descriptions are of very special value, as they are designed to cover a series, and not simply to fit a type specimen. The list of localities is complete, and a key map is provided for the benefit of workers outside Australia, who have not our own easy familiarity with Australian collecting grounds. In addition, the months of capture are given, as well as the total number of specimens of both sexes from which the descriptions have been drawn. It is difficult to realise that such a wealth of information has been compressed into the couple of lines at the end of each description.

The thanks of all workers are due to the authors for giving us at last a satisfactory classification into families of the Australian Hesperidae. The skippers have been for long the despair of systematic workers, but the authors, by bringing a wide field knowledge to the aid of their cabinet studies, and by carefully studying venation in long series of bleached wings, have been able to make divisions on structural characters, combined with habit, that seem likely to hold. The difficulty of this task can only be appreciated by those who have themselves made excursions among the skippers.

There are in all 43 plates, four in colour, and the remainder in half-tone. The former and six of the latter are reproduced from drawings; the remainder from photographs, which have been carefully worked over to remove the errors of the camera. Here and there this retouching makes itself a little evident, but the whole series of plates easily surpasses any previously published figures of Australian butterflies. The tones are so well done that anyone in the least familiar with butterflies will easily fill in the missing colours. The four coloured plates are wholly admirable, and are equal to any butterfly figures that have been published anywhere. Three of them are especially valuable in showing at a glance the differences between some of the small and difficult species. The fourth is of more general interest, as it gives a beautiful study of variation in the sword-grass butterflies of the east coast.

The book is the outcome of more than eight years' work on collections that have taken a great deal longer in the forming. Messrs. Waterhouse and Lyell have between them easily the most complete collection of Australian butterflies extant, and each specimen individually is better than the next best outside them. The authors have, in addition, a wide field knowledge, and though space limits have not permitted the inclusion of a great mass of butterfly lore, it is satisfactory to know that it stands at the back of every opinion set forth in their book.

"The Butterflies of Australia" is a work based upon sufficient and reliable material, admirably conceived, and admirably executed, and it reflects credit not only upon the authors, but upon engravers, printers, and publishers. It is the best work of Australian natural history published in Australia, and as such should win a wide recognition among Australian lovers of nature.

NEW SPIRIT IN BUSINESS.

"The New Spirit in Business" was the subject of an address to the members of the London Chamber of Commerce, given recently by Mr. Grenville Kleiser, of Toronto, who said that the vital consideration in the business world to-day was not money or merchandise, but men. Up to a few years ago business men were almost wholly occupied with making money, and said: "Business is business"; later they said, "Honesty is the best policy"—perhaps an inferior grade of honesty, but they were moving in the right direction. Now business men studied men, and the current phrase was "business efficiency," and this new spirit was manifest on every side.

PERSONALITIES IN THE FRENCH CABINET.

M. Viviani, the new French Premier, a man of great eloquence and force of character, is in every way the dominant personality in his Cabinet; but there are in it several other Ministers of considerable distinction. Prominent among them is M. Augagneur, who becomes Minister for Public Instruction. Years ago he was Mayor of Lyons at the time when that city was carrying out some bold experiments in municipal socialism. He gave up the position to become Governor of Madagascar, where some of his acts excited controversy. A man of marked ability, he is rather provocative, and is not loved by the more conservative elements in France. He is a doctor by profession, like M. Gauthier, the new Minister for Marine. But at least half the members of the new Government are lawyers.

IN THE GARDEN.

THE ZONAL PELARGONIUM.

No exotic flowering plants are better adapted to Australian climatic conditions, or are more easily cultivated and produce such a profusion of bloom over so long a period, as the different varieties of the zonal pelargonium often, but erroneously, from a botanical point of view, called geraniums. During recent years considerable attention has been devoted to these hardy plants, with the result that the newer creations are a remarkable improvement upon the varieties cultivated a decade or so ago. The characteristics of the newer varieties are in their compact habit, great floriferousness, and the varied and, in many instances, brilliant colouring of their comparatively large, showy flowers, which are displayed in fine trusses well above the foliage. There are both single and double flowering varieties, and they are ideal plants for the busy amateur to grow, for with a minimum of labour he can obtain a maximum of floral pleasure. In the more favoured districts they produce flowers in the open all the year round, but more abundantly in the warmer months. In the cold parts they are essentially summer and early autumn flowering plants. It is a good time to plant a general collection in the warmer districts, but late in September, when all danger from sharp frost is past, will be early enough to set them in the open in the colder parts. These plants thrive in well-drained, ordinary soils, and even do well and flower profusely in rather poor sandy ground, and they withstand a remarkable amount of dry weather. Zonal pelargoniums can hardly be misplaced in the borders, but they produce the most showy effect in bloom when grown in masses, or in rows in single or mixed colours. If grown in a bed by themselves or in rows the plants should be set out from eighteen to twenty-four inches apart, according to the vigour of the variety. No soft-wooded plants are better adapted for growing as dwarf floral hedges in the more favoured districts. Beyond an annual trimming after the flush of summer flowering, very little attention is necessary to keep these plants in order until they become too old to be useful. When that time arrives they should be dug up and placed on the compost heap. If zonal pelargoniums are grown to any extent, it is always advisable to have a number of young, vigorous specimens available for planting every spring, and this can be easily accomplished by inserting cuttings in early autumn, transferring them when well rooted singly to small pots, from which they can be planted to the positions where they are to flower. In parts where the winter is severe these plants will require protection whilst the cold weather lasts. An easy method of preserving vigorous plants—worn-out ones are not worth troubling about—is to lift them in autumn and insert their roots rather close together in shallow boxes containing light soil, and place them in the glasshouse or glass frame, until the return of genial weather, when they may again be planted in the open. While at rest, the plants should receive only sufficient water at the roots to keep their stems from shrivelling. The following are only a few varieties, selected from many that are now in cultivation, but they will give an idea of the beautiful and varied colours of the flowers of this greatly improved class of plants:—Auguste Comte, bright orange; Candace, large, brilliant scarlet; Chaucer, cerise; Countess of Dudley, bright magenta with a large white centre; Saturn, a mixture of orange and crimson, with streaks of white; Snowstorm, pure white.

SOUTH AFRICAN SCARLET DAISY.

The South African scarlet daisy, Gerbera jamesoni, is a strikingly handsome herbaceous plant, with large, ornamental leaves and conspicuous daisy-like, brilliant crimson flower heads, borne at the summit of slender stems about eighteen inches high. Since its introduction into Australia a few years ago it has every year become increasingly popular. Such a plant could not fail to attract the attention of both skilful gardeners and hybridists. The labours of the latter have been amply rewarded by the creation of several very beautiful hybrids, whose flowers differ greatly in colour from the typical species. The principal colours represented in the newer hybrids are cerise, magenta, maroon, orange-red, pink, red, terra cotta, pure white, and yellow—a sufficiently wide range of colour to make a brilliant and varied display when grown in masses. In the warmer districts the best time to plant the scarlet daisy and its beautiful flowering hybrids is at the end of this month or during August. If newly planted plants are set out at this season and receive ordinary attention they will bloom profusely during the ensuing summer and autumn. These plants thrive in an open, sunny and sheltered situation, in well drained, friable, loamy soils, but they do well and freely produce their charming flowers in any good garden soil. If grown in a bed by themselves the plants should be set out quite two feet apart, to allow them room to develop into specimens, and display their flowers to the greatest advantage. Both the scarlet daisy and its hybrids will produce a very fine effect in bloom when grown as single specimens at intervals in the borders or near the margin of the shubbery. Beyond keeping the plants free from weeds, and watering them occasionally in dry, hot weather, nothing more than ordinary cultivation is necessary to keep them in a healthy, vigorous condition.

NOTES

One of the crown vetches, Coronilla glauca, is now in flower, and producing a pretty effect. This South European dwarf shrub, with elegant evergreen foliage and bright yellow flowers, which are fragrant when the sun shines, but odourless at night, is worth more extensive planting. It thrives in a warm position in any good, friable soil. It is easily increased by cuttings and seeds.

Some of the early-planted single flowering anemones are already in bloom, and, together with the various polyanthus narcissi, and Roman hyacinths, are producing a pretty floral effect. Before the later flowering anemones, hyacinths, and ranunculuses come into bloom remove any weeds that may have sprung up around them, and lightly loosen the surface soil about the plants. Then give them a light mulch, preferably of well-decomposed manure, from the cowyards, to protect the delicate surface roots from the drying influences of sun and wind, and to nourish them at the same time.

The early flowering pansies will respond to similar treatment. If any strong, well-rooted seedlings of the last-named are still in the seed box or seed bed transplant them to the positions where they are to flower as soon as the weather and soil are favourable.

Very fine mignonette can be produced by giving special attention to the preparation of the soil. The best way of doing this is to dig a trench one foot deep, nine inches wide, and as long as desired, where it is proposed to grow the plants. In the trench place some decayed cow or similar manure to within three inches of the surface, tread firmly, cover it with two and a half inches of the best of the dug out, and leave it slightly concave on the surface. On that sow the seed thinly and evenly, leaving it only lightly covered with fine soil or leaf mould.

FRUIT GARDEN.

The principal work in the fruit garden now is pruning, which should be vigorously proceeded with until completed. Those pruning trees that bear the bulk of their fruit on spurs, as apricots, for instance, must be pruned in such a way as to keep their principal branches fairly well clothed, without overcrowding with this short, vigorous bearing wood. Peach and similar trees that produce most of their fruit on the previous year's growth must be pruned so as to preserve the best of that wood. Old or worn trees should be trained in such a way as to maintain symmetrical heads, and the regular distribution of their branches and root system. Without these essentials the subsequent growth will be irregular and unsatisfactory.

Grape vines that are trained on walls and fences or over arbours should have all the weak and useless growths cut out, and the vigorous and healthy wood, which is to produce next season's crop, shortened to the most promising bud (eyes), without leaving it too crowded. The best of the wood on the spurs of grape vines that are grown as vines is known as the currantbush system should be cut back to one or at most two buds. In the terminal one pointing outwards, to prevent overcrowding in the centre of the bush.

With regard to raspberries all the old fruiting canes, and the weaker and less matured ones, should be cut out, leaving about six of the best matured ones to produce next season's crop. If these are too long they should be slightly shortened, and then neatly and firmly tied to stakes, either in a vertical or horizontal position. Amongst the bush fruits gooseberries and red and white currants produce their fruit almost entirely on spurs, and on one-year-old wood. The best bearing spurs should be encouraged by shortening the leading shoots and cutting back the lateral growths. The fruit of the black currant is produced almost entirely on the previous matured wood made in the previous season, therefore, the best of that should be preserved without, however, allowing overcrowding. After the prunings have been done all insect infested trees, grass, bush fruits should be treated with a suitable insecticide.

THE QUESTION OF THE DAY.

The question of to-day, of to-morrow, and of every succeeding day, is

HAVE YOU USED PEARS' SOAP. If you have not, you have not done your duty by your skin and complexion. If, on the other hand—that is, on both hands, and on the face, and on the skin generally—you HAVE used PEARS', you can feel happy, for you will have done the best that possibly can be done for the skin's health and beauty. There can be no question about that.

LAW REPORT.

SUPREME COURT.

IN EQUITY.

(Before Mr. Justice Harvey.)

APPLICATION FOR AN INJUNCTION.

NORDDEUTSCHER LLOYD v MACQUARIE BOND, LTD.

Dr. Waddell, instructed by Messrs. Baxter Bruce and Ebsworth, appeared on behalf of Norddeutscher Lloyd Company in an ex parte application for an injunction to restrain the Macquarie Bond, Ltd., its agents and servants, from parting with the possession of certain goods now in their custody, without the authority of the plaintiff company.

Plaintiffs set out in their statement of claim that about May 25 last 59 packages of merchandise, included in two bills of lading issued by plaintiffs to one Ehrhorn Emden Mayer, of Bremen, the shipper of the goods, arrived in Sydney by the company's steamship Gaucion, and were discharged from the vessel. It was alleged that at the time of the discharge there was due to the plaintiff company the sum of £94 1s 7d, in respect of freight and charges payable for the carriage of the goods from Bremen to Sydney, which amount was still unpaid. The consignee of the goods did not take delivery of them when they were discharged, and plantiffs thereon placed them in bond with the defendant company on the ship's account, and upon the condition, then agreed to by defendants, that they would not deliver the goods to any person until the freight due to plaintiffs had been paid. It was further alleged that defendants had issued a bond warrant in respect of the goods, and had, in breach of the conditions, delivered portion of the goods to the holder of the warrant. Plaintiffs feared that, unless restrained, defendants would deliver the remainder of the goods to the holder of the warrant, and that they would be deprived of their lien over the goods, hence the application.

His Honor granted an injunction till Monday next, with leave to serve short notice of motion on the defendant for that day to have it continued.

IN DIVORCE.

(Before Mr. Justice Harvey.)

MOTION FOR ATTACHMENT.

Norton v Norton.

Mr. R. Windeyer, instructed by Messrs. Windeyer and Williams, appeared for Ada Norton, of Coogee Hotel, Coogee, and moved for an order of attachment against John Norton for disobedience of an order of the Court. An affidavit by applicant was read, in which she set out that on the 20th inst. an order was made by his Honor directing respondent to hand over to her forthwith the custody of her infant daughter, Joan Norton, pending the hearing of the suit in divorce. On the same day, applicant went to the residence of respondent at St. Helena, Maroubra Bay, and served him with a copy of the order, and asked him whether he would return the child to her. Respondent replied that he had only taken the child away to torture applicant. On the 22nd instant she again saw respondent, when he told her, in the presence of a nurse, that the child was in Queensland. He also said that he had taken passages for the child, governess, nurse, and himself, under assumed names, for Europe. On the 23rd instant, respondent told her that she would not get the child, and repeated that she was in Queensland. He stated further that if respondent tried to go to the child he would prevent her from doing so.

His Honor made an order directing the Sheriff to attach respondent, and bring him before the Court later in the day.

Shortly after 3 o'clock H. Pfeiffer, a Sheriff's officer, stated to his Honor in Court that, in company with another officer of the department, he had searched for respondent at various places in order to execute the warrant of attachment, but had failed to find him. On several occasions during the afternoon he called at the office of Mr. Foord, respondent's solicitor, but he was out. The officer said that one place he visited early in the afternoon was a private hospital at Randwick, where he was informed that respondent had gone to town, and would probably have lunch there.

His Honor suggested that the police should be communicated with, and this was done. The Inspector-General of Police subsequently intimated that he had given instructions to the police to assist the Sheriff's Department in the matter.

Mr. Windeyer: The Court has a remedy by sequestration.

His Honor: Yes; but I do not want to resort to that. I shall wait till 6 o'clock if necessary.

About 5 p.m. respondent appeared in Court, and was represented by Mr. James, who was instructed by Mr. Foord.

Mr. James said that, unfortunately, they were not at present in a position to file affidavits in the matter. Respondent was, of course, prepared to submit to any order of the Court, but he contended that he had a right to the custody of his daughter. Before any proceedings were taken the child had been sent to Brisbane. She had been taken to Queensland before even the petition in divorce had been filed or served.

His Honor: Your client might have moved to rescind or vary the order.

Mr. James: We have not had time, because, owing to the health of Mr. Norton, he was not in a position to give instructions in the matter.

His Honor: What is to be done to-night? Respondent is now in custody for disobedience of the order of the Court.

Mr. James: I undertake, as soon as possible, to move for leave to apply to rescind or vary the order.

His Honor: I give you leave to do that by Monday, but it must be on the terms that the child is not removed from her present residence.

Mr. James: I can give that undertaking.

Mr. Windeyer: I submit that she must first be brought within the jurisdiction of this Court. The order of the Court giving Mrs. Norton the custody of the child has been deliberately disobeyed.

His Honor: The order is no doubt disobeyed as long as the child is not in petitioner's custody, but the reason why I give leave to respondent to move to rescind or vary the order is that, according to Mr. Norton's own affidavit, respondent, owing to the state of his health, can hardly be treated as he might be if in perfect health.

Mr. Windeyer: There is no doubt that the Court and the sheriff's officers have been deliberately defied and trifled with, and I submit that it will be an unprecedented course to take to release respondent until he has purged his contempt.

His Honor: The question is what is best for the infant. I think she should be brought within the jurisdiction of this Court until this matter is disposed of. The question is whether in the circumstances that will not be the most satisfactory method of disposing of the custody of the child, if there is an intention on the part of respondent to move to rescind or vary the order. I shall allow the order of attachment to stand in abeyance on condition that the child is brought back from Brisbane at once.

Mr. James: We undertake to bring her back as soon as possible, and place her in the Sacred Heart, or some other, convent. She can leave Brisbane by the express to-morrow morning, and reach here on Sunday. In the meantime, I ask that the order of attachment be extended.

Mr. Windeyer: My learned friend is asking the Court to disregard its own order, and I submit that should not be done.

His Honor: I want to do what is in the interests of the child, while at the same time doing nothing inconsistent with the dignity of the Court's order.

Mr. Windeyer: The order has been made, and respondent has disobeyed it; and it would be absolutely unprecedented to allow him to come in now and move to rescind or vary it. Respondent is now in contempt of court.

His Honor: I think that possibly the best course is to give respondent leave to move to rescind or vary the order on Monday next on his undertaking that the child is brought within the jurisdiction of this State as soon as possible; and affidavits may be filed by respondent by to-morrow (Saturday), setting out what objections he has to the child being in Mrs. Norton's custody. The attachment will not be enforced now if respondent undertakes to have the child within this jurisdiction by Sunday. Leave to move to rescind or vary the order may be moved to-day (Saturday).

INDUSTRIAL COURT.

(Before Mr. Deputy Justice Scholes.)

MOTION TO VARY AWARD.

Re Application by Railway Workers and General Labourers' Association.

His Honor said that this was an application by the Railway Workers and General Labourers' Association for a variation of the award of the Iron and Shipbuilding Trades Group, No. 23 Board, of the 23rd November, 1913. The appeal was against the allowance made to general labourers of 1s per hour under clause 5 of the award, and also against an allowance in that clause that all adult employees at Ben Bullen quarry should receive 2d per hour over the above rate; that all adult employees at Carcoar quarry should be paid ½d per hour over the rate; and also against the allowance to youths under 16 who might be put to the attendance of horses. The Wages Board visited the various localities where the quarries in connection with Hoskins' Ironworks at Lithgow were worked, went to each of the localities, saw the conditions of labour there, and the method and cost of living at each place. The board made its award after careful consideration, and it came to the conclusion that the employees at Ben Bullen quarry should receive ¾d per hour above the general rate allowed, and the employees of Carcoar ½d per hour above that rate. He had looked through the evidence carefully, and weighed it as far as he could, and he did not see any reason at all for altering that part of the award. With regard to the contention that youths under 16 might be put to attend on horses, the argument used had no weight with him at all, for the simple reason that he was perfectly certain no employer would entrust a horse and the management of a horse which was drawing a cart laden with valuable merchandise to a boy who was incompetent to do the work. Many boys under 16 would be far more capable with a horse—those who were fond of horses—than a boy over 16 who was not. With regard to the general labourer, he had been allowed 1s per hour. The pick and shovel men had been allowed 8s 6d per day. The board evidently saw that there was a difference between the work of a pick and shovel man and a general labourer. As far as the character of the work was concerned, he could not see any difference between the status of a pick and shovel man and a general labourer. They were all labourers in the general grade of labour, and they could not be distinguished one from the other. At the same time, the board had seen some reason for the difference between these men at these particular quarries. He supposed it discovered that the pick and shovel man did heavier work than a general labourer; and the board had made the distinction of 6d per day. He found from the evidence that some of these general labourers lived in tents where these quarries were, in the bush, and where the comforts of life were altogether missing. No doubt their cost of living was cheaper than in the more largely settled localities; but he considered that men who went away from the comforts of civilisation into those out-of-the-way places, and lived in tents, ought not to be paid less. For the purposes of their employment they went into discomfort and solitude. He did not see why they should be paid less because of that, or on the ground that the cost of living was less. He thought that the pick and shovel men at those places were properly placed at 8s 6d per day. He also thought the general labourer, in view of the kind of work he did, was not quite well paid at 1s per hour, and he amended clause 5 of the award, so as to make it—"General labourers one shilling and a halfpenny per hour;" that gave him 4d per day more. Otherwise, the award would remain as it was. The defence was taken in the matter that the industry could not pay the wages claimed. He had gone into that matter. What the result of his investigations was, he, of course, did not make known; what effect it had on his mind he did not say.

CLOSER SETTLEMENT.

BETTER CONDITIONS WANTED.

A deputation introduced by Mr. Boston, M.L.A., waited on the Minister for Lands, Mr. Trefle, yesterday, and laid before him the following requests from the settlement purchasers:—1. That they be allowed five years extension of payments to be added to the capital value of their land. 2. That they be allowed to acquire any lands up to a living area, and be allowed to purchase half or more of another settlement purchase farm up to a living area. 3. That the conditions governing the mortgaging settlement purchase farms be amended to allow more freedom. 4. The right to obtain freeholds after five years' residence. 5. That the time limit of residence be reduced to five years.

Mr. Crouch, of Gobbagombal, in supporting the request, said that the suggestions made would help the settlers considerably. The suggestion regarding freehold after five years' residence was put in as an alternative to the extension of payments. Under present conditions, they were unable to obtain advances from the bank to tide them over difficulty.

Mr. Trefle: You find difficulty in being financed over the second five years?

Mr. Crouch: That is our great trouble. Another thing they were troubled with in certain districts was the smallness of the areas. They were not living areas, and they wanted the right conceded to them of obtaining additional land.

Mr. Trefle, in reply, said he had given careful consideration to the matter, in order to be prepared for any deputations which met him. It was a dangerous thing to give wholesale extensions, because of the vast amount of money involved in the purchase of the estates. Men capable of paying would avail themselves of the extensions, and so the Government would find itself in difficulties. The greatest consideration was given to men who could not pay, and forfeiture was only exercised as a last resource. Even after the forfeiture, consideration was given to the unfortunate settler. The law gave him full power to meet deserving cases. He knew of cases in which men went speculating in land with the money with which they should have paid to the Government. That was not acting bona-fide with the authorities. It was impossible to get land from private dealers on more reasonable terms than they could get it from the Government. In view of all circumstances, he thought he was taking the correct attitude in compelling men to pay who could pay, and exercising a wise discretion in cases of hardship.

Coming to the extension of the living area, he said he had no hard-and-fast ideas. If specific cases were brought under his notice he would be prepared to give attention to them. In regard to borrowing, previous Governments framed the regulations, but he desired to finance the settlers in such a way as to prevent them from being sold up by the banks. All loans were made on a fixed period. Instead of working to break down the periods, they should let the banks know that they had to meet the wishes of the people. There was too great a clamour on behalf of the settler to meet the wishes of the money-lender, instead of compelling him to meet the landholder. "The Government is anxious," continued Mr. Trefle, "to make the securities given to financial institutions as sound as possible, but we do not wish to place the settlers at their mercy. Through the amalgamation of the Government banks the State will be prepared to do its own financing. If the private institutions cannot see the writing on the wall, and meet the requirements of the people, then the State banks will advance by leaps and bounds."

If the banks, he proceeded, found any difficulty or want of security in advancing money to settlers, he would be prepared to meet them, and amend the Act so that the trouble which they experienced could be removed. Residence conditions were very flexible, but if financiers could not see their way clear to advance money on account of those conditions he was ready to meet them. "I want to say this," the Minister added, "that not only with regard to closer settlement, homestead farms, and Crown leases, if there are certain phases that give the banks difficulty in financing settlers, I am prepared to consider in every possible way the requirements of the institutions to protect them for their advances. While that is done we are not prepared to allow them to dictate the policy of the country. That has been done in the past. I have it on the best authority that bank managers have to carry out the policy of their directors, while they are well aware that the policy of the Government is the better one for the community generally."

POLICE COURTS.

AFFRAY IN GOULBURN-STREET.

Before Mr. Love, S.M., at the Central Police Court, the police proceeded against David Evison for attempting to shoot at E. Mitchell, with intent to inflict grievous bodily harm. Senior-Sergeant Mankey conducted the case for the police.

Mitchell said he was in the kitchen of 269 Goulburn-street, when he heard someone come in the front door. He went to see who it was, and met the accused, who pointed a rifle at him. Witness grappled with Evison, knocked the rifle to one side, and threw him to the floor. A lodger then went for the police, but accused pleaded with witness, and he let him go. Later accused returned, and commenced making a disturbance, when a constable came on the scene, and arrested him.

Frederick Poding, residing at 269 Goulburn-street, stated that on the previous night he was in the kitchen, when he heard Mitchell call out for him. He went to him, and found Mitchell holding accused on the floor. There was a rifle on the floor. Witness took the rifle, and went for the police.

Accused made a statement that he was drunk at the time, and did not know what he was doing.

Mr. Love committed accused for trial.

COMMITTED FOR TRIAL.

Charles De Mancha, 26, was charged before Mr. M'Farlane, S.M., with stealing a trunk containing clothing, valued at £122 1s 9d, the property of Leslie Scandrett on July 6.

Samuel Wolf, second-hand dealer, identified a dress suit (produced) as having been sold to him by the accused on July 7. Accused had given the name of Scandrett.

Similar evidence was given concerning other articles by other dealers and pawnbrokers.

Accused was alleged to have picked up the trunk from the railway station, and walked away with it. Accused, who had nothing to say, was committed for trial to the next Quarter Sessions. Bail was allowed in self at £200, and surities of £200.

STEALING FROM STEAMER.

George Harris was charged at the Central Police Court with, on July 18, 1914, stealing property of the Howard Smith Co., Ltd., valued at £2 10s.

Ormond Robert Thornthwaite, providore at the Howard Smith Co.'s wharf, King-street, saw accused on the Canberra, then lying at King-street, about five minutes before her departure for Brisbane. The second steward called witness's attention to the accused carrying a portmanteau (produced) off the ship. When questioned, accused could not account for the property, and was given in charge.

There were no previous records against accused, who chose to be dealt with summarily. He was fined £10, or three months' imprisonment, by Mr. S. Love.

UNCLEAN PREMISES.

Before Mr. Payten, S.M., at the Glebe Court, yesterday, Arthur Keneh, an officer of the Board of Health, proceeded against Leonora Melit, fishmonger, of Booth-street, Annandale, for having unclean premises on June 22 last. It was stated that defendant had been warned about the condition of her premises three times during the past 12 months.

Defendant was found guilty, and fined £3, with 6s costs, in default 21 days' imprisonment.

ADULTERATED MILK.

Before Mr. Payten, S.M., at the Glebe Court yesterday, Arthur Keneh, an officer of the Board of Health, proceeded against C. Carveles, for having, at Annandale, on May 26 last, sold adulterated milk.

The defendant stated that he obtained his milk from a person who told him he had his own cows.

The magistrate imposed a fine of £7 10s, with 6s costs, in default two months hard labour.

BENZINE CASES.

Henry Wright, 23, was before Mr. Clarke, S.M., at the Water Police Court, yesterday, on a charge of stealing three cases, containing six empty benzine tins, and one case, containing about 7 gallons of petrol, valued in all at 15/3, the property of the Sydney Steel Company. He stated, in defence, that he was told that he could have the empty cases and tins, and that he returned the other. A fine of £10, or two months' imprisonment, was imposed.

BUTTER MAKERS.

THE DAIRY BILL.

REVIEWED BY MR. ASHFORD.

The ninth annual conference and winter show of the Co-operative Dairy Factory Managers and Secretaries' Association was continued at the Royal Agricultural Show Ground yesterday.

Mr. C. W. Smith (Alstonville) read a paper on "The Pasteurisation of Cream for Buttermaking." In his opening remarks he said that it was a hopeful sign for the dairying interest that more attention was being given to pasteurisation. He was convinced that pasteurisation was the greatest lever within the reach of the butter-maker for uplifting the quality of the produce. If grading of cream was strictly carried out where the butter was to be consumed locally the benefits of pasteurisation would not be so apparent, but when the butter was subjected to a keeping test, such as was required for the export trade, the beneficial results were most convincing. The chief advantages of pasteurisation were to be found in the better keeping quality of the butter, and the elimination to a great extent of feed taint. To make a success of pasteurisation the work must have close attention in every detail. Pasteurisation was not a panacea for all the ills of the industry; but it would be one of the most effective means of assisting their butter to establish for itself a good reputation on the markets of the world.

The Minister for Agriculture (Mr. Ashford) addressed the conference. He apologised at his absence on Wednesday, and regretted that he had not been able to attend. He had to sit up all night on Tuesday, and had to meet Parliament again at noon on Wednesday. He had taken keen interest in the proceedings of the conference, and would go thoroughly into the resolutions submitted to him.

Referring to the Dairy Bill, he said that the Brisbane Conference almost unanimously favoured the grading of cream and butter. His predecessor, Mr. Trefle, had promised to lay the bill before them, but he did not consider himself bound to carry out that promise. The proposed bill, he hoped, would bring the industry up to the standard it occupied in Denmark. One of the proposals in the bill was that every factory would have to be registered. There would be no re-registering from year to year. (Hear, hear.) Every farmer was to be paid for the butter manufactured from his cream, whether by co-operative or proprietary company. Butter and cheese was to be stored in perfectly clean places. All grading of cream was to be carried out by qualified men. This would bring about uniform grading, and would increase the standard of the product. First-class and second-class cream was not to be mixed for purpose of turning out butter that frequently masqueraded as first-class. The consumer would thus be protected. There could be no logical objection to that. Boxes were to be marked with the grade of the butter. The bill was drafted, and within the next few weeks he hoped to have it passed.

Margarine was to be manufactured under such conditions as would prevent it being used illegally as a substitute for butter. He did not believe in stopping the manufacture of margarine, but he would prevent the colouring of it. They were going to take means to trace the manufacture of margarine, and find where it was sold. This would prevent the blending of butter with it. What they were going to do was to prevent unfair competition of the manufactured article with the natural product.

In the drafting of the bill the Government was doing all it could to help the industry. The department had in every instance done its best to assist the dairymen. The tests conducted for the present show, cost the department £125.

In answer to Mr. Evans (Casino) the Minister said the bill did not deal with the individual dairymen. They would be dealt with under the Pure Foods Act. The bill provided for payment for commercial butter, or butter fat. Every pound of butter manufactured would have to be paid for. Monthly returns were to be obtained from factories, showing what they had done. After the bill had been passed, regulations would have to be drafted. In the framing of these the department would consider suggestions from the conference or individual managers. The factories could have different brands for export and for local consumption. He could assure them that the Minister for Railways was doing his best to bring about better conditions for transport. The president (Mr. George Searl) said that if uniform lines were laid down, none of the managers would be afraid to work under the new bill no matter how stringent its provisions were.

A review of the butter competition was given by one of the judges, Mr. Geo. Stening. The butter, he said, kept better in store this year than before. This reflected on the excellent storing in Sydney. The difference between the two judgings was very slight. The chief fault in manufacture was in churning at slightly high temperatures. Butter makers did not seem to go in enough for experimenting. The principal fault was in the working. In many instances the butters had been underworked.

Mr. O'Callaghan (chief dairy expert), in reviewing the show, said he regretted that the quality of the butter was lower than on previous occasions. No doubt for that there were reasons which was not apparent at present.

FOOTPADS.

THREE PEOPLE ASSAULTED.

Edward Pople, who resides at 227 Cleveland-street, Redfern, was attacked by two men when he was walking along Johnston-street, Annandale, on Thursday night. One man struck him from behind on the back of the head, and the other snatched his watch chain, breaking a sovereign purse from the end of it. The men then made off along Johnston-street in the direction of Parramatta-road.

A man attacked Mrs. Barnes, of 46 Norton-street, Leichhardt, when she was passing along North-street, about 10.20 p.m. on Thursday, and unsuccessfully attempted to snatch her handbag.

While standing near the Municipal Fish Markets in George-street, about midnight on Thursday, George Fernando, 46 Havelock-street, Drummoyne, was accosted by three men, one of whom struck him on the mouth, and another robbed him of his money.

ROBBERIES.

£100 STOLEN.

Thieves made an entrance to the residence of Lay Sang and Co., 250 Botany-road, Alexandria, and stole £100 in cash, and other articles to the value of £2, during the absence of the inmates, between 7 p.m. and 10 p.m. on Thursday. A duplicate key was used to effect an entrance by the door.

Jewellery to the value of £17 was stolen from the residence of William Howard, 348 New Canterbury-road, Petersham, between 7.40 a.m. and 6.15 p.m. on Thursday. A chisel was used to force the bathroom window, by which the thieves effected an entrance.

Between 6 p.m. on July 20, and 8 a.m. on July 23, £10 was stolen from the bedroom of Merton Snodgrass at a city lodging-house.

"ABOUT FOUR LARGE BOTTLES OF CLEMENTS TONIC TOLD ANOTHER STORY."

The strange part of it is that no other medicine did Miss Richards any good.

"Arden-street, Coogee, "Sydney, 1/5/14.

"CLEMENTS TONIC, LTD.—

"I can say in a few words my opinion of your medicine, for I speak from experience of the good derived from it; and I speak of it as I have found out its benefit.

"Six months ago I was ill from nervous breakdown. My nerves went all to pieces. I had no appetite and an unusually rapid action of the heart, which would last for days together, robbing me of sleep and filling me with dread.

"I would not go through such a three weeks' period of ill-health again for worlds; and the strange part of it was that no medicine I obtained did me good.

"But your tonic, after I had persisted with it for a month, and had taken about four large bottles, told another story. My nervous fits vanished, I ate better, slept soundly, and woke up refreshed; in fact, I was in health again, and absolutely restored to strength.

"Your medicine has wonderful recuperative powers. I know of nothing to equal it. I wish I had known it earlier; I would have been much better in health. Use this as you wish.

"(Signed) MARY RICHARDS."

HOUSES AND LAND FOR SALE.

LIKE THE SMALL BOY
AND THE CAKE OF SOAP,
YOU'LL NEVER BE COMPLETELY SATISFIED UNTIL YOU GET IT—YOUR OWN HOME.

You need no reminding that Rented Houses, Flats, Lodgings, ALL possess disadvantages more or less calculated to rob life of its full enjoyment.

Married Ladies particularly are quick to realise that unless the Home BELONGS to them it's a case of "hands off" continually. Moreover, in a really desirable locality, it's MORE COSTLY to live in a Rented House, Flat, or Lodging than it would be if you were BUYING a Home.

AT HABERFIELD,
"Sydney's Beautiful Garden Suburb."

On the face of it this may seem exaggerated, but go into the figures. Where would you get a House as large, as beautiful, convenient, and charmingly situated as are these HABERFIELD HOMES for as low a weekly Rental as 30/? Where would you obtain a Flat at this price? You must confess there are few, if any.

So when you think deeply—and you naturally do—about the Housing Problem, doesn't it seem a costly, ruinous practice to be paying away, week after week, such a big sum of money MERELY TO HAVE A ROOF OVER YOUR HEAD?

After the Deposit of about £50 has been paid, 30/ per week buys—yes, BUYS—a Lovely HABERFIELD HOME for you.

Look, say, two years ahead. At the end of that time—if you BUY a HABERFIELD HOME NOW—you'll have paid in Deposit and Instalments £206 off your Home. That would be better in your pocket than the Landlord's, wouldn't it? And in the meantime, Property having greatly improved, your HABERFIELD HOME becomes a very valuable Security indeed.

These are some of the points for you to critically consider; and far better it be PROMPTLY in view of the losses you are bearing week by week. Haberfield Offices are open ALL DAY Saturday. Motor Car and Salesman at your Service. No obligation to enter into any arrangements unless compelled by the genuine merit of the proposition.

ROSEBERY,
THE MODEL AND INDUSTRIAL SUBURB,
IS IN ITS INFANT STAGES; YET SO POPULAR IS IT FROM BOTH A RESIDENTIAL AND INVESTMENT POINT OF VIEW THAT OVER £137,000 OF THE PUBLIC'S MONEY IS REPRESENTED HERE.

These figures are authentic; they are not "bolstered" up for the occasion, so you can at once appreciate their significance. They must compel you to think hard, if we judge rightly that you are a man who is always on the look out for a means to benefit in purse and person.

The Draper, the Jeweller, the Shoe Store appeal to the tastes of the public and to their purses as well, by the clever and artistic dressing of their respective Windows—the goods are seen to the utmost advantage.

ROSEBERY possesses AS YET none of these advantages. It is true Roads are being pushed on with as rapidly as possible; also trees have been planted, but, with the exception of one portion of the Suburb, ROSEBERY stands bare. There is no dressing of shop windows. It, in some instances, suffers because of this lack of "dressing," people without the necessary vision to look to the future failing to see the undoubted grandness and big possibilities of ROSEBERY as a Home Site of Home Sites. These people will suffer because they can't grasp the proposition fully—they can't see how by investing NOW they are taking a step certain to be wise and profitable.

In judging the merits of ROSEBERY then, first collect ALL the facts about it. When this is done, if it fails to appeal to you, then, and then only, turn it down.

ROSEBERY OFFICES are open ALL DAY TO-DAY. The information you seek is easy to obtain. It's with YOU the decision rests.

This would further lessen the time necessary to convey the metropolitan men to the new range. A siding would be carried right on to the shooting ground." THE FARM CENTRE OF SYDNEY, not only in name, but in stern reality. Its supremacy is admitted even by its competitors.

But it is in relation to your own wants that you are most interested, and that is where it tells in the final analysis.

For its organisation is so complete, the list is so large, and the methods employed are so much to your liking, that I say unhesitatingly, from the belief that is in me, you cannot be better served anywhere.

W. F. KAY.

POULTRY FARM. There is a clean little old-fashioned town, only 20 miles from Sydney, which lives a quiet life in its own simple way. Its green lanes are suggestive of an old English village, and it is as secluded and restful as if it were 500 miles inland, though only 2 miles from rail. The inhabitants die only of old age, sickness is almost unknown. It is called Smithfield, and one of its families has a poultry farm on a plot of 1½ acre, which has been their special pride. 350 birds, each one of which is fit for the show ring, with houses and runs on the most approved principles, the cottage of 4 rooms and kitchen is very nice, and quite an inviting place to live in, everything being in apple-pie order. City water is laid on, and besides good outbuildings there is an excellent horse and cart. The whole thing can be purchased for £475, and you will say with me it is more than ordinary value. Call at the Fairfield branch, and they will drive you out without charge or obligation.

GLEBE, BLACKWATTLE BAY.
A MAGNIFICENT COMMERCIAL WATER FRONTAGE.
EMINENTLY SUITABLE FOR A TIMBER YARD OR OTHER FACTORY PURPOSES. The land has a frontage of about 218 feet to BLACKWATTLE BAY, and a frontage of about 265 feet to ROZELLE BAY, and also a frontage to LEICHHARDT-STREET. The WATER FRONTAGE HAS BEEN RE-CLAIMED WITH A SUBSTANTIAL STONE WALL, and a LARGE PORTION OF THE BLOCK IS AVAILABLE FOR IMMEDIATE USE.
On the LEICHHARDT-STREET frontage are erected two substantial residences known as VENETIA and BELLEVUE, AT PRESENT PRODUCING A RENT OF £300 PER ANNUM.
ONE OF THE LAST AVAILABLE WATER FRONTAGE BLOCKS WITH DIRECT ACCESS TO THE CITY.
The largest Timber Yards in the State are in the Bay, and the Railway Marshalling Yards and Grain and Wool Wharves, now in course of construction, are in close proximity. This, added to the PROPOSED RAILWAY EXTENSION BY THE RAILWAY COMMISSIONERS, and THE IMPROVED WHARFAGE ACCOMMODATION TO BE CARRIED OUT BY THE HARBOUR TRUST, MUST MATERIALLY ENHANCE THE VALUE OF THIS BLOCK. With the wharfage rights that could, no doubt, be obtained from the Harbour Trust, the area could be increased to about 2¼ ACRES.

The instructions are definite, and, apart from the present rental, which can be in a very short time largely increased, this property, by the expenditure of a few thousand pounds, should be made, by judiciously letting-off portions, to double its present returns.

FARM AND STATION.

SUB-ARTESIAN WATER SUPPLY.

(BY W. GIBBONS COX, C.E.)

Some time ago it was announced that the Minister for Lands favoured an increase of sub-artesian water, by providing small plants for farmers. As far back as 1905 I strongly advocated an increased water supply, by making sub-dams in the bed of creeks, and thus intercepting large volumes of water in its passage through the sand and "grit" to lower levels, but, like most other matters connected with an increased water supply, it met with little appreciation at the time. Grit is a descriptive term for this sub-artesian water-bearing formation, and it varies in its nature. In places it encloses a fine powder, which is largely siliceous, and appears to be of volcanic origin. Elsewhere the grit is an aggregation of sand and lime. Then there is the mortar form enclosing pebbles, quartz, felspar, diorite, and other igneous rocks. Then the lime matrix almost disappears, and we have a heavy conglomerate of water-worn pebbles of the rocks above mentioned, with jaspar, quartzite, and agate. The conglomerate changes at times into beds of a fair quality of water-bearing sandstone. There is no doubt that this Tertiary grit exists under extensive areas of New South Wales, South Australia, and Queensland, especially in the first-named State, and that its character for holding water is continuous in many of those areas. On level country it is covered up by a deposit of Tertiary marl, which tends to hold down the accumulated waters in the grit. The marl varies from 20 to 200 ft in thickness, and the grit from 20 to 100 ft. Wherever there are natural springs they are from the grit; and many of the springs might be tapped above their present outlet, and their waters made available for gravitation irrigation.

Means of increasing this shallow-water supply have suggested themselves to me, after many years of close study in this country of the practical operations and bearings of boring for water. One of these is the feasibility of conserving a large amount of the sub-flow described above, by forming sub-dams in a trench excavated in a dry season across the bottom of creeks, so as to prevent the passage to waste of a large quantity of sub-flow from the upper reaches in their vicinity. This sub-flow from large areas of country now finds its way to the lowest level attainable, the bed of the creeks, and passes away. If it were intercepted by a low-level sub-dam the bulk of it would remain penned up in the ground, and thus maintain a larger, and more constant, supply for bores in the vicinity to draw upon. It is a common practice to-day to dig for water in the sandy beds of dried-up creeks. The water may be found at first at a few feet below the surface, but in a few weeks' time, or less, a greater depth is necessary to reach it. As evaporation could not have so reduced the water level, it is clear that the level in the bed of the creek, and also in the adjacent country, must have been reduced by the drainage of the water to the lower levels, and, in many cases, finally out of the reach of shallow boring.

These conditions are found especially to rule throughout the mountainous portion of the arid regions. The creeks which flow through valleys or narrow gorges have, as a rule, filled up their beds. In ancient times the streams cut their way downward into the solid rock to a depth considerably below the present creek channels. In modern geologic times these ancient channels have become filled to a depth of 10ft, 20ft, or even 100ft or more. The material usually consists of large boulders, with occasional beds of gravel, sand, or even clay, left in protected nooks. If this mass of material partly filling the gorge is dry, and a heavy rain occurs above, the water from the storm will flow down, saturating the surface, and gradually penetrating the lower layers until the spaces between the pebbles are filled. If the stream continues to flow for several hours a considerable part of its volume may be taken in by the gravel, and the water may entirely disappear in the course of a mile or two, leaving the surface dry. A creek cannot continue to flow undiminished over a boulder bed until the latter is completely saturated in the water. A little consideration shows that if water is drawn from the pervious material beneath the surface of a creek it must be replenished, and that the surface discharge is reduced by the same amount.

Tunnels are sometimes driven in sloping or sidehill country to tap the subterranean water supplies. These are practically horizontal wells, differing from ordinary wells chiefly in that the water has not to be pumped to bring it to the level of the surface, but finds its way by gravitation to the lands on which it is to be utilised. Near the Khojuck Pass, in India, there is a great tunnel of this kind. It is run near the bed of a stream into the gravels for a distance of over a mile. The Ontario colony in Southern California derives its water supply from a tunnel 3300ft in length run under the bed of San Antonio Creek through gravel and rock. The Spring Valley Water Company, San Francisco, made some of the most extensive developments of sub-artesian water yet recorded. One bed of gravel in a stream valley, having an area of 1200 acres, absorbs practically all the drainage of 300 square miles. Into these gravels were sunk 91 wells, which yield 36 acre feet of water, equal to 9,753,948 gallons per diem. Another similar bed has been developed by driving over 14,000ft of tunnel, 5ft 6in by 5ft 6in, with nearly as great a length of a smaller branch tunnel. Into this drain several hundred wells were driven, which yield over 45 acre feet, equal to 12,192,435 gallons of water per diem.

Earth waters may be gathered for irrigation by other means than springs, sub-artesian or artesian wells, or tunnels. In portions of the plain regions of the United States, especially in Kansas, sub-surface supplies have been obtained by running long and deep canals parallel to the dry beds of creeks, or in low bottom lands and valleys. These canals, acting like drainage ditches, receive a considerable supply of water, and lead it off to the lands. In some experiments made in two sub-canals in Kansas the amount of water was 15 second-feet (6750 gallons) per minute, equal to 9,720,000 gallons per diem, for each mile in length of excavation, which was carried to a depth of 6ft below the sub-surface-water plane. It was found that the depth and length were the controlling factors, the breadth of the canal having little effect on the amount of water entering, and that the increase of flow as the cut was deepened was nearly as the square of the depth.

In many localities in this country much of this valuable shallow water is obtainable by drilling through apparently unpromising strata, such as basalt. There is no better example of this than that afforded by the Darling Downs in Queensland. Water has been obtained also by drilling through layers of hard limestone, hard dry sandstone, or tough compact shale—a most formidable stratum—to a depth of from 80ft to 200ft to the bed of buried creeks, clear evidence of which was shown by the sand pump bringing up sand, gravel, and water-worn pebbles, and even native-made stone implements from these ancient watercourses, which were still in active operation as of old. Looking at these object-lessons from India, America, and Australia, in the two latter countries it will be obvious that there are, in all probability, enormous quantities of water equally available in the tertiary or upper formation of Australia. The deeper, or artesian, supplies have naturally commanded a monopoly of attention; but these tertiary water supplies, now lying mostly hidden and only awaiting development under expert advice, will prove important competitors in an increased water supply to the country.

DAMAGING RABBIT FENCES.

CRABOON.—At the Leadville Police Court, William Blake, a drover, of Quirindi, was proceeded against by Mr. T. S. Buckland, of Pine Ridge station, for wilfully damaging and depressing a rabbit-proof fence. Blake was fined £5 and 5s costs of court, with the alternative of one month's imprisonment in Tamworth gaol.

THE WOOL TRADE.

AUCTIONS NEXT WEEK.

Owing to the auctions in Brisbane on Tuesday and Wednesday, and to very little, if any, wool being available for sale by private treaty, trade has practically been at a standstill. It is now the very dullest time of the year; the autumn and early winter shorn wools have been disposed of, and the new clip has not yet come forward in sufficient quantity to do more than grace a few pages in the catalogues to be submitted next week. Supplies of sheep and lambs passing through the fat stock saleyards continue to be from light to moderate, consequently the proportion of local scoured skin wools available for sale by private treaty is smaller than usual. The adverse pastoral conditions in Victoria and parts of New South Wales, from whence supplies of stock are drawn for Melbourne and Geelong, push buyers from those centres further afield in this State. This in its turn, combined with the bad season in the south-west and west, coupled with high prices for stores in the country, tends to keep the numbers of sheep and lambs from coming forward in heavy supply; resulting in small supplies of local scoureds. Instalments of quite a good number of clips have come into store of late, but not sufficiently advanced to make the offerings next week of any magnitude. A few good-sized lines will be catalogued from the north-west and Queensland, but the total offerings are not likely to exceed 11,000 bales.

Interest during the week has been centred in Brisbane, and in the closing of the London July series. In the northern capital the selection was not quite as good as at the June or May series. The cream of the Queensland clip comes forward in April, May, and June. There is a dearth of supplies in all other Australian markets, and in a period like the present, when fine wool is not keeping pace with the demand, great sales were effected when the offerings were so highly attractive. Values, it appears, were barely maintained in Brisbane; and there is talk in some quarters of present levels being "dangerously high," but when the adverse pastoral conditions over a large part of the Commonwealth are taken into consideration, the statistical position of fine wool should be too strong for any material backward movement. Droughty conditions have prevailed over a considerable area of New South Wales; and even where heavy rains fell somewhat persistently awhile ago the feed became rank and the sheep have not been thriving. Good falls of rain soon would be a great boon, and relieve anxiety of woolgrowers for the early future. But that will not make good the losses as far as the next clip is concerned. Wool users cannot reasonably look for any Australasian increase during the ensuing season, rather is there likely to be a decrease, with a proportion of the clip less well grown.

REDUCED AMERICAN CLIP.

Judging by reports from the United States, the domestic clip there promises to show a decrease. America has played a strong part of late in forcing the wool position, and there is a great likelihood of a continuance of support from that quarter this season. At the London sales that closed this week the operations on American account were a no mean factor in making the position throughout the series a strong one; and more or less bearing out the situation in the United States, as predicted by trade reports. With reference to the next American clip the "Wool and Cotton Reporter" of June 11 last said:—"Predictions are freely made by those thoroughly conversant with conditions in this market and abroad, that the entire clip of domestic wool will be marketed before snow flies next fall. It is evident to everyone who has kept in touch with the domestic wool situation that the shortage in the clip will be fully as great as that of last year, if, indeed, it does not prove to be somewhat greater. Fine wools in particular, such as are extensively used for the production of fine men's wear, it is estimated, will show a shortage of from 15 to 25 per cent. This does not apply to territory wools alone, but is also evident in fleeces. Prices in the west are still ruling extremely high, in many instances growers receiving more for their clips than is asked for similar wools in the seaboard markets. It is stated that several purchases have been made recently at figures which mean approximately 60 cents per scoured pound for fine wools, which certainly looks high when we consider that similar wools have been sold by dealers within comparatively few months at much lower rates. Sales have not been confined to any particular grades, the market being very broad, with active trading on both domestic and foreign wools, with a very free movement of both Australasian and South American crossbreds. Wools of the latter type having been in particularly active demand, some of the largest factors in the dress goods trade have been purchasing considerable quantities, while topmakers and worsted spinners have also been active operators. The operations of the carded woollen manufactures have extended all along the line, covering the market from fine Australians through the medium grades of both grease and scoured wools to the lower types of pulled."

OPTIMISM AND ENTERPRISE.

Looking ahead a little, and making an observation or two on prospective values, as well as the enterprise of some American manufacturers, the "Reporter" followed up the previous remarks by stating that, while "trading is not particularly active, there is sufficient inquiry to prevent any possibility of a recession in prices, even the more conservative operators apparently being convinced that the present affords them the opportunity to purchase at lower prices than will prevail later in the season. The question of prices for the coming lightweight season still occupies a prominent place in the minds of manufacturers, though fears of sufficient importation of foreign goods to materially affect the domestic market are not nearly as prevalent as was the case at the opening of the heavyweigh season. An English visitor, at present in this country, who operates a plant doing a business of a million and a half sterling yearly, states that an American concern is marketing in England a fabric at 2s 9d a yard, which it is impossible for either English or Continental manufacturers to duplicate at the price. It is not probable that this should be taken as a criterion of what American manufacturers in general are able to do, but it should be sufficient to cause the foreign producer to give no little study to the situation before he attempts to undersell the domestic manufacturer in his own market."

DOMINATING THE MARKETS.

That doubtless puts the situation from the American point of view, and in sustaining it the Americans have more or less dominated the markets during the past six months. The United States sheep and wool industry stood out to the last ditch against a "free wool door," predicting the worst of calamities if carried into effect; but the moment the field was carried the manufacturers and traders, instead of being killed or even depressed, sallied forth into the camps of their competitors, with the result that a general upward movement took place at home and abroad. The Americans conclusively proved that there was not enough fine wool to go round. In the Bradford "Observer" market report of June 11 last, it was said:—"The raw material is still dominant, and keeps tops and yarns firm in the face of a somewhat sluggish demand. One or two buyers with American orders are scouring the market for merino wool, and are unable to get more than a fraction of the quantities they want. It would seem that the scarcity of wool is now causing American users to pay more attention to tops, of which they are buyers in qualities from 60's to 70's. Also bids are being made on American account for 46's wool, but holders are sticking out for a farthing a pound more than the prices offered." In looking at the position to-day, and with regard to the prospects for the ensuing season, it is difficult to see where there is much room for any fall. With only about 11,000 bales offering next week, and no more auctions in Sydney or Brisbane till September, the outlook for next week is necessarily a good one.

FIRST BRISBANE SERIES.

The first Brisbane series for the current statistical wool year were held on Tuesday and Wednesday, when the offerings aggregated 23,183 bales. Five catalogues were submitted on the opening day, totalling 13,921 bales, and five on Wednesday, amounting to 9262 bales. Owing to rains and the boggy state of the roads, the offerings were not so large as was originally expected. As to the selection, it was not quite up to the standard of the June series. A larger proportion of dusty and seedy wools was offered this week than at the previous series, while many clips were short, and a number weak in staple. Only a small proportion was suited to American requirements. There was a very full attendance of buyers, competition was keen and general, with values at June rates for good to super greasy, but somewhat irregular, with a tendency in buyers' favour, for medium and faulty descriptions. Scoureds showed some irregularity, skirtings and the lower qualities being firm, with other descriptions slightly in buyers' favour. On Tuesday the highest price for greasy was 15½d for S/Edwinstowe, from Jericho, the Langlo Downs (near Tambo), to /15½, and to /15 for Mount Victoria (near Longreach), Dunraven (near Barcaldine), Stirnburn (near Aramac), and Claverton (near Wyandra). Scoured sold to /26½ for a line grown by T. Knox (Dimora, Maxwellton). On Wednesday greasy also sold to /15½, for Listowel/Downs (Blackwall), and scoured to /27, for W. Dalrymple's Llanrheidol (Winton).

SYDNEY WOOL RECEIPTS.

The receipts by rail during the week have been good for the time of the year, indicating the arrival of portions of the early-shorn clips. Arrivals by boat, mainly furnished by wool from Queensland, show a slight decrease for the week; adding further to the decrease from that quarter since July 1 last. The figures for the week, and since July 1, compare with the corresponding period last year, as follows:—

WENZ AND COMPANY'S REPORT.

Messrs. Wenz and Company, reviewing the position at Rheims, June 15, said that the general firmness in tops had further increased since the beginning of the month, and the turnover would probably have progressed in a similar way, had not the growing poorness of offerings checked business, especially in the case of merinos and fine crossbreds. The tendency remained consequently in sellers' favour. More interest was also being shown in medium and low crossbreds, and prices were steadier. The five chief conditioning houses in France registered in May 6,537,000 kilos of tops, against 5,110,000 in May, 1913. The total for the first five months of 1914 (31,037,000) showed an increase of 3,404,000 kilos, as compared with the same period of 1913 (27,633,000). In Noils the demand was brisk at stiffening rates. Coarse crossbred grades were the only ones that met less inquiry. In the combing mill sales of raw wool were further reducing supplies which were already very limited. At Mazamet prices for fleece-washed wools continued against the buyer for merinos and fine crossbreds. Stocks were very low. Coarse crossbreds being in small request. Business in clean-washed descriptions was slower, and prices ruled slightly easier.

BOWRAVILLE.—For June, the Macksville butter factory paid suppliers 11d and 10d for first and second grade cream. The total amount paid to suppliers for the month was £2370. Bowraville factory paid 10½d and 9½d, the total cheque being £1297.

GRAFTON.—The Grafton Dairy Company paid suppliers 11½d per pound for first-class cream for June, and 10½d per pound for second-class, and 5½d for pork. The total pay was £3540.

JAMBEROO.—Advice has been received that the Dairy Farmers' Co-operation Milk Company has decided upon the following scale of payment for milk, as from August 1, on six months' trial:—Milk testing, 3.2, 3.3, and 3.4 per cent., to be paid for at market rates; milk testing, 3.5 and upwards, a farthing per gallon nextra, and in the event of any milk being below 3.2 per cent., a halfpenny per gallon. Loss will be paid for every point down to 2.8 per cent., after which butter-fat rates only will be paid.

MURWILLUMBAH.—A conference convened by the Bangalow Agricultural Society between delegates from the Purebred Breeders' Association of New South Wales, the Tweed-Richmond Herd-testing Council, and a sub-committee appointed by the society, was held at Bangalow on Thursday. Mr. McInnes, Government Dairy Expert, was present by special invitation. The business of the conference was to consider the formulating of a scheme, as outlined and recommended by Mr. McInnes, with respect to judging dairy stock at shows by taking into consideration their performance as dairy producers, in addition to type, constitution, and general appearance. The suggestion made by the expert was practically adopted in detail, with a few minor alterations. The scheme is not yet available in detail, as approved, but will be published at an early date. At the conclusion of the conference, a resolution was passed placing on record the valuable services of Mr. McInnes to the dairying industry generally.

MODEL ROADS.

WORK OF THE ROAD BOARD.

WHAT THE STATE NEEDS.

The coming of the motor car a decade ago drew attention to the deplorable condition of the British roads. At that time they were considered by the shire and municipal councils to be good enough for what vehicular traffic there was between the cities. But the motorist demanded better roads, easier grades, and less acute turnings.

There were seven years of agitation, and then the Road Board was formed, with powers to see that the British roads were brought up to the standards of the Continent. In the three years the Road Board has been in existence it has done all that was required of it, and more. According to the London "Times," pre-eminence in road construction has now definitely passed to Great Britain. Her roads are dustless, well combined, and impervious to water. Foreign engineers are now taking advantage of the knowledge gained by the Road Board, and opportunity now offers the shire and municipal councils of this State to do the same.

The work of the Road Board was, of course, facilitated by the liberal grants of Government funds for experimental work. A substantial sum of money was also available for the investigations made at the National Physical Laboratory. It was here that the "road machine," a device for testing the durability of new road materials, was installed. On a circular track 100ft in length the engineers would lay down any piece of roadway they wished to test. A motor-driven framework on eight wheels, which could be loaded to any desired degree and run at any desired speed, was then driven over the experimental stretch, so as thoroughly to test its durability. The engineers therefore were able in a few months to test the quality of any new material or any new design of road-making just as thoroughly as if it had been laid down for eight or ten years. No new system of road treatment can be relied on until it has been subjected to actual trials, and the time saved by the road machine thus facilitated considerably the new developments of recent years. It soon disclosed that the ordinary systems of roadmaking as expounded by Macadam, and partly followed in this State, were useless for roads carrying heavy and fast motor traffic. Such roads sooner or later show the phenomenon of wave formation, owing to the fact that the wheels, when travelling at a high speed, do not roll smoothly over the surface, but progress by a series of small leaps and bounds.

THE BITUMEN TREATMENT.

The success of the Road Board was primarily due to the result of its experiments in various applications of the bitumen treatment to the road crust. The road machine proved that whereas an ordinary macadam road was destroyed in six months by heavy motor traffic it will have a life of at least five, and probably ten, years if the surface has a bitumenous binding. After 22 months' use a bitumenous road near London, carrying 1000 omnibuses a day, showed no signs of wear. It is such results as these which have drawn a long series of interrogatories from the French Government with a view to introducing English improvements into France. It might be added that the cities of Hamburg, Rome, and Madrid have already followed its example. Even in the East, where operations in road construction are in progress, tar products, according to the specifications drawn up by the Road Board, are employed for spraying. But tar spraying is only a temporary remedy, despite its wide popularity in Europe. Under heavy motor traffic the ordinary tarred macadam surface is eventually squeezed out under the wheels and scattered. By judiciously mixing bitumens, however, the road engineers can now get a surface almost as elastic as indiarubber, which is not affected in the same way as a tarred road.

A STATE ROAD BOARD.

It is the endeavour of the Good Roads Association of New South Wales in the interests of all parties to bring the main roads of this State under the jurisdiction and control of a road board similar to that in Britain. When the Main Roads Bill, which was defeated last year by a single vote, is passed—and Mr. Griffith (Minister for Works) has privately expressed the opinion that it will soon become law—a body of responsible officials will see that the main roads of the State are kept in an efficient state of repair, and the Government will see that either by a wheel, petrol, or other tax, this board will be supplied with sufficient funds to carry out the work in a thorough manner. The jurisdiction of the shire councils will then be confined to the by-roads of their respective districts—a class of road, it is said, which has already received a fair share of the money and attention that should have been bestowed upon the main roads. There is no doubt that such a body, if formed, could profit by the experience of their confreres in Britain. The enemy of all roadmakers is frost, and, if the British roads will withstand the great variations of the British climate and also a stupendous amount of motor traffic, surely they may be adopted in this State without the delay and cost of useless experiment.

MISSING FROM HOME.

Phyllis Bennett (18) has been missing from her home Tourmaline, Lyons-road, Drummoyne, since 6 p.m. on Thursday. She has fair hair, and wore a woollen bonnet, a velvet dress, and tan shoes and stockings.

Rose Mason (65), 5ft high, has not been seen at her home, 3 Norton-street, Surry Hills, since 8 a.m. on Thursday.

Edmund Kneen left his home, 47 Shepherd-street, Sydney, at 7 p.m. on Wednesday, to go to the pictures, and he has not been heard of since. He is 21 years of age, and is 5ft 10in in height.

James Cambridge (14), of 19 Westmoreland-street, Glebe, was sent on a message from his place of business on Tuesday last, but has not since been near his home. He is 5ft high, and rather thin.

ARMED MERCHANTMEN.

THE VANCOUVER BOATS.

According to an article in the Vancouver News Advertiser, it is probable that the Niagara, Makura, and Marama, the steamers that carry on the Canadian-Australasian service, will soon be armed with 4.7 guns in accordance with the policy of the British Admiralty, and that a similar course will be taken with the Canadian Pacific Railway Company's boats.

Forty merchant ships are now armed with two 4.7 guns at the stern, and the First Lord of the Admiralty intimated the other day that by the end of 1915 the number of merchant ships so armed would be increased by 75 per cent. These are not regarded as combatant vessels, but are armed only to enable them to defend themselves against craft similarly armed. The Admiralty is careful to explain that these vessels are not to be confused with vessels taken over by the Government in time of war for service as transports or light cruisers. British armed merchantmen are to be found everywhere, and their crews have been trained in the use of the mechanism of the 4.7in guns, and are in charge of an ex-gunner of the Navy. The ships are supplied with the ammunition, stores, and hoists, and carry a sufficient number of shells.

HOW GOOD NEWS TRAVELS.

Hean's Essence—for preparing good home-made cough mixture—is used from one end of New Zealand to the other. It is the favourite in Australian homes also. Hean's Essence was needed in the homes of the people, is being increasingly used, and is appreciated wherever used.

"Will you please post a bottle of Hean's Essence to my daughter at address enclosed? I have found great relief from taking the mixture I made."—Mrs. J. Shackleton, Te Koros, Manganui.

"Please send me another bottle of Hean's Essence. The pint of mixture I made from the last bottle has proved the best cough medicine I have ever used."—H. King, Tuparoa Bay, East Coast, North Island.

"Please post another bottle of your Hean's Essence. We have found the mixture we prepared from the last bottle both the best remedy for colds we have ever used, and a long way the cheapest."—A. Shearsby, Awapuni, Palmerston North.

Such evidence as to the medicinal value and wonderful cheapness of Hean's Essence grows daily.

Get a bottle from your chemist or grocer to-day, and finish according to the simple directions. Then, if it does not prove the finest cough remedy for general family purposes you have ever used, send me the empty bottle and packet, and I will promptly return your money in full. The saving is yours—the risk is mine.

Hean's Essence is sold by most chemists; Anthony Hordern and Sons, Ltd.; W. H. Soul and Co., Ltd.; Pattinson and Co., Ltd.; Lassetters'; M'Ilrath, Ltd.; or post free on receipt of price, 2s, from G. W. Hean, Chemist, 178 Castlereagh-street, Sydney. Wherever you buy, be sure you get Hean's Essence, as no other will do. Look out for my signature, G. W. Hean, on every packet.—Advt. 15.

REFRIGERATION, Concerning the "LINDE" REFRIGERATING AND ICE-MAKING MACHINE.
Above all things, the "Linde" is dependable, a very important factor to the small Butcher. We can quote cases of Butchers' Machines that have been running for upwards of 12 years, and yet only receiving the ordinary attention of Butchers. An equal virtue is the economy of the "Linde." A machine that is cheap in first cost is generally costly in upkeep. Butchers would do well to remember this. The running expense of the "Linde" is practically nil, and it is beyond doubt the most economical machine on the market, a fact proved by the sale of over 9000 machines. It is the combination of these two essentials that has made the "Linde" Machine famous. May we send you particulars? J. WILDRIDGE AND SINCLAIR, LTD., 82 Pitt-street, SYDNEY.

ELECTION CAMPAIGN

RECORD ROLL.

CHIEF ELECTORAL OFFICER'S STATEMENT.

A KEEN CONTEST.

Mr. J. G. M'Laren, Chief Commonwealth Electoral Officer in this State, remarked yesterday that there was every indication of a record poll at the forthcoming Federal elections. The work of enrolment and transfer is still proceeding, and will go on until 6 p.m. on the 29th instant, when the rolls will finally close. "The supplementary roll will certainly be the largest one on record," said Mr. M'Laren.

Serious complaints continue to come to hand regarding the rolls. In a letter published in yesterday's "Herald," a resident of Tumbarumba gave some glaring instances of bungling. He has lived for nearly two years at Tumbarumba, and he says that his own name and the names of three other members of his family were put on the roll by the police, but when the official roll came to hand on the 21st instant not one of the names was on it, while six names of persons who had been dead for over two years, and which had been marked off by the police, remained on the roll. Moreover, numerous persons who have left the district, in some cases years ago, and whose names were struck off by the police, still figure on the roll.

Mr. M'Laren stated yesterday that he was having inquiries made into all complaints of this nature. It appeared to him that the explanation of the non-appearance on the roll of the name of the Tumbarumba resident, and of those of the members of his family, lay in the fact that they had never been put on it at all.

Electors should remember that it is no use relying on the police for enrolment. The onus is on the electors themselves and they run the risk of a fine of £2 if they neglect to see that their names are on the roll.

A NOTE OF WARNING.

In his letter to the secretary of the Farmers and Settlers' Association, the leader of the State Opposition, Mr. Wade, sounds a note of warning that if the socialistic party is to be defeated at the coming elections it will be necessary for all the forces opposed to socialism to close up their ranks and present a united front to the enemy. It is a thousand pities that the courtesy of an invitation to attend the Farmers' Conference was not extended to Mr. Wade, for the failure to do so has inevitably given rise to some unfortunate misunderstandings. No man has done more for the man on the land, no man has the farmers' interests more at heart, than Mr. Wade. If the Liberals are to win this election it will only be by the thorough organisation of all their fighting forces; and though the farmers and settlers may prefer to run their own candidates, irrespective of endorsement by the Liberal Association, their interests are identical with those of Liberalism. There is no room for division.

As Mr. Wade points out, the old motto still holds good—"United we stand, divided we fall." He writes: "With the elections upon us, the position is critical; any friction may weaken the chances of the Government and jeopardise the prospects of individual candidates. With divided forces against a common enemy, socialism will once again triumph. Some of your members do not realise the danger, but with all the force that I can command I would impress upon your association not to let smaller matters overshadow the larger and paramount issues, and alienate valuable support."

UNCERTAIN POSITION.

Satisfactory reports continue to reach the Liberal Association's headquarters from the country. The various candidates are meeting with good receptions. There is no doubt that Mr. Cook's action in forcing a double dissolution and sending both Houses to the country is endorsed by the great body of the electors. The Liberals might have chosen to remain in office, introducing only such measures as the Labour party might see fit to pass, but there were big principles at stake, and they refused to swallow their principles for the sake of clinging to office on discreditable terms.

The position is an extremely interesting one in several respects. First and foremost, the Constitution itself is on its trial. Though the circumstances favour the return of the Liberals with a majority in the House of Representatives, the prospects for a Liberal win in the Senate are not so bright. The Liberals have a great deal of leeway to make up in the Senate, and the task will tax their resources to the uttermost. At any other time, the fight would be almost hopeless; at the present juncture it is by no means hopeless. The experience of the last year has shown us how it is possible for the Senate to block all business sent up to it from the popular Chamber, and the double dissolution was the direct outcome of the machine methods adopted.

That machine politics, however, is not necessarily confined to the Labour party is shown by Mr. W. H. Kelly's admission at Paddington on Thursday that the preferential voting system "would do away with the iniquities of selection of candidates which now marked the proceedings of both Labour and Liberal leagues."

IN THE ELECTORATES.

Energetic canvassing is going on in all the electorates, city, suburban, and country. In the East Sydney electorate, Mr. O. Lindsay Thompson is receiving much encouragement in his campaign. Strong organisations already exist in the Darlinghurst and King portions of the electorate, and at a meeting held at Paddington on Wednesday night over 40 supporters enrolled themselves as members of his committee, all undertaking to do their share of active canvassing work.

In the Dalley electorate, Mr. J. J. M'Eachern is putting up a vigorous campaign, and is rallying around him the many supporters of the Liberal party in this electorate. On the last occasion Mr. Scott polled over 12,000 votes in this constituency, and there is every prospect of Mr. M'Eachern exceeding this total.

Mr. M'Eachern has already spoken in the principal centres of the electorate, and has had the assistance of the Prime Minister and Mr. Massey Greene at some of his meetings.

The Rev. S. D. Yarrington is fighting for Liberalism in the Cook electorate. Mr. Yarrington is attacking the constituency with characteristic vigour, and has secured the assistance of a small army of voluntary workers. The electorate is being thoroughly canvassed, and the contest in Cook promises to be keen. Mr. Yarrington is assured of a large women's vote.

In South Sydney Mr. G. A. Pitt is making steady progress. He is a capable speaker, with plenty of energy, and is not sparing himself as far as personal and platform work in the electorate is concerned. He has good committees at work in the various divisions of the constituency.

In the Parkes electorate the Liberals are particularly well organised. A Federal electorate conference has been formed, and arrangements made for the various organisations in the subdivisions of the electorate to meet and arrange for a thorough canvass of the sections allotted to them. Mr. Bruce Smith has a programme of meetings arranged, which will cover practically all centres of the electorate.

The North Sydney electorate organisations, although somewhat slow in getting to work, are now fully alive to the necessity of securing the full enrolment of every supporter of the party in order to secure the same majority as was polled for Colonel Ryrie and the Senate candidates 12 months ago. Mr. Dugald Thomson, ex-M.P. for North Sydney, is taking an active interest in the organisation, and is chairman of the electorate conference, which governs organising matters throughout the electorate. Colonel Ryrie will speak in the St. Leonards division on Thursday next, the 30th inst., with Mr. John Garland, K.C., M.L.C., and will speak in the Mosman Town Hall with Senator Millen, Minister for Defence, the following night.

Similar activity is being shown by Labour candidates, and their supporters in the various electorates. The fact that not only all the members of the House of Representatives, but also all the members of the Senate, are out together for the first time in our history, is, of course, responsible for the public interest in these elections. And, as the day of the elections comes nearer, we may expect to find the interest growing keener.

IN THE WEST.

CAMPAIGN PROSPECTS.

The visit of the Prime Minister to Bathurst has had the effect of consolidating the Liberal forces in the electorate. There was a difference of opinion as to who should be the Liberal standard-bearer, but in Mr. Dawson Moore Liberal supporters consider they have an excellent man. If energy and an unbounded confidence in the result of the campaign count for anything, Mr. Moore should have a substantial majority. But it has been decided to leave nothing to chance, and the electorate is being energetically canvassed. Extending from Penrith to as far west as Millthorpe, and bounding Werriwa on the south and Robertson on the north, a large area of country has to be covered. At industrial centres like Lithgow and Portland a special effort is being made to capture the floating vote, as there are many people who have not very decided views on politics that might be influenced to vote for the Liberals. Of course, these two places are Labour strongholds; still, it would not be a surprise, on the figures of the last election, if the Labour majority was considerably reduced.

On the Blue Mountains it is expected that the vote the Liberal candidate will receive will more than outweigh the vote that Mr. Carr, the Labour candidate, will poll in Lithgow and Portland. The Labour party in their candidate are fortunate in having a man of the capacity of Mr. E. S. Carr. He has the reputation, and is sustaining it, of being a fair fighter, and possesses a personality that counts in a contest like the present. He is visiting all the polling places in the electorate, and it will not be his fault if Labour does not poll its full strength. So far he has been well received. Next week he will have the assistance of Mr. Hughes at Penrith, while Mr. Fisher also intends visiting the electorate.

Calare was one of the surprises of the last election, and it is likely to be again in September. It is confidently expected that Mr. H. R. Pigott will increase his majority by the energetic canvass he has entered into. The Prime Minister's visit will help this, as in the inland country towns with a community of interests practically their own people only hear the far-off din of battle that wages in the metropolis, and the Liberal leader's visit stimulates an interest that otherwise would be wanting. Calare is practically a farmers' constituency, it occupies the middle west, taking in such towns as Orange and Condobolin and Wyalong, and the fight will be a keen one. The Labour candidate is Mr. W. E. Johnson, who, so far, has done very little campaigning, but can be depended upon to put up a big effort. It will be remembered that he put up one of the surprises of the 1910 election when he defeated Mr. Henry Willis for Robertson.

The Darling has always been a Labour stronghold, but with the changing character of the electors of the eastern portion of the electorate, there should be an increased vote for the Liberal candidate, Mr. W. S. Kelk, who is making a big tour of the electorate. The candidate is no novice in election campaigns, and once at Blayney gave Mr. Beeby a run that surprised even the Liberals. While there is little likelihood of the Liberals winning the seat, there is no doubt that the Labour vote will be substantially reduced, owing to the increased farming vote.

LANG AND PARKES.

A COMBINED MEETING.

A largely-attended meeting of the electors of Lang and Parkes was held in the Masonic Hall, Dulwich Hill, last evening, when the retiring members for the electorates, the Speaker of the House of Representatives, Mr. W. E. Johnson, and Mr. Bruce Smith, delivered addresses.

Mr. Johnson pointed out that the deadlock had been deliberately brought about by the actions of the Labour party. Both members of the House of Representatives and senators set about blocking all business. Realising the absolute futility of attempting to do any useful legislation, the Prime Minister decided to go on or go out. The bill to abolish preference in Government employment was brought forward. This provided for everybody in Australia having an equal right to work under the Commonwealth. It was thrown out by the Senate. This also happened to the measure to restore the postal vote. The abolition of the postal vote was an outrage on democracy. The Liberal party had pledged themselves to restore the privilege. When the preference bill was thrown out the Opposition taunted the Government with sticking to office. Mr. Hughes led the attack on the Government, as Mr. Fisher was frequently away from the chamber.

A Voice: Like Mr. Bruce Smith.

Mr. Johnson: Mr. Bruce Smith was one of the most conscientious members of the Parliament as regards attendance. He (Mr. Johnson) did not reflect on Mr. Fisher on account of his absence from the chamber, as leaders of both sides had frequently to be away from the House. The Labour party had many leaders, Mr. Webster, Mr. Catts, and Mr. Higgs each in turn taking charge of the party. (Laughter.) While there was a chance of Mr. Cook not applying for a dissolution, Mr. Hughes claimed the only thing possible was a dissolution. When that was brought about Mr. Hughes raised his voice in protest. Which of Mr. Hughes's two tongues should be believed? (A Voice: Neither of them.) The Labour party was squeaking against the Government for doing what he was obliged to do under the Constitution. On the public platform they had threatened him with pains and penalties if they got back to power for allowing the people to decide the question the Federal Parliament could not decide for them. The Liberal party did not squeak. They were willing to go to the people and risk place and pay for the endorsement of their policy. Attacks on the Governor-General were to be deplored. No decent man or woman would endorse the actions of those who dragged the representative of the King on to a party platform. (Hear, hear.) He hoped that if the Liberals were returned that they would save the people from additional taxation as forecasted by Mr. Fisher in his protectionist utterances at Bundaberg.

In conclusion, Mr. Johnson said to those who abused him for taking part in a party fight he would say that as they had put an opponent in the field he had been forced into the contest. Those who accused him of partisanship in his position of Speaker were wrong, for he had the testimony of members of the Opposition that he had been impartial. Mr. Fisher, Mr. Higgs, and others had given the evidence in the House of Representatives.

SPEECH BY MR. BRUCE SMITH.

Mr. Bruce Smith supplemented Mr. Johnson's address, and, dealing with the subject of finance, said that public speakers were apt to argue about figures instead of the principles underlying them. There ought to be a moral basis to both sides of the ledger; and the people ought, in judging the parties, to insist on that side being dealt with which left some permanent knowledge behind it, instead of wrangling over figures that changed from day to day. Taxation ought not to descend to a sort of unprincipled grasping at the people's accumulations, where they were honestly won in the struggle for existence. The Labour party seemed always to regard a rich man or woman, or a rich company, as something to be shot at—a sort of social evil which ought to be dealt with aggressively. There was absolutely no method and no morality in the taxation schemes of the Labour party; for they regarded wealth as an offence; although we had it proved every day that the members of that party were as eager as anybody to acquire wealth for themselves. They had houses in terraces, and land for agricultural and pastoral purposes; so that whilst in one breath they were denouncing wealth, in the next they were doing their utmost to accumulate it. No one objected to their acquiring wealth, but it was rather degrading to hear them condemning it to their followers for political purposes, while they were losing no opportunity to get or save some for their own purpose. The Labour people had frequently claimed "more leisure, pleasure, and treasure." Well-to-do people had no real objection to being taxed fairly and justly, that was, according to their means. Labour people, as a rule, seemed to think that anything done by Act of Parliament must be allowable and justifiable. That was the doctrine of the revolutionist; for every crime in the calendar could be justified, if an Act of Parliament would have that effect.

The Labour Party entertained another crude idea, that everything purchased for a community should be paid for out of the public till; whereas all civilised communities now recognised a distinction between loan expenditure and expenditure out of current revenue. Although the Labour party had cried out against loans, they had entered into many. They gave I.O.U.'s for 10 millions of pounds, deposited the money in a trust fund, and then borrowed it from the trust fund, carrying out National works, and lending it to the States; so that the Labour party condemned loans in one breath, and encouraged them in the States in another.

The Liberal party was putting forward a fine business programme, which would commend itself to all level-headed and balanced minds. Sir John Forrest was a careful, accurate, and economical Treasurer, and the public could feel perfectly safe in his hands; for he would not allow other Ministers to spend as freely as they would like.

LIBERAL CAMPAIGN.

The Prime Minister, Mr. Joseph Cook, completed his Western tour in this State with the Orange meeting last night, and to-morrow night leaves on his Victorian tour. He speaks on Monday in the Auditorium, Melbourne, and at Beachworth, Bendigo, Geelong, Ballarat, Horsham, Colac on the succeeding days. The following week Mr. Cook will be at South Australia, speaking at Cadina, Burra, Semaphore, Adelaide, and Norwood. Mr. Cook's next tour will be in Tasmania, where meetings have been arranged for him at Hobart, Port Cygnet, Launceston, Devonport, and Burnie. He will finish his interstate tour in Queensland, with meetings at Ipswich, Brisbane, Gympie, Maryborough, South Brisbane, Warwick, and Toowoomba. The remaining fortnight of the campaign will be given to meetings in this State.

Sir William Irvine, the Federal Attorney-General, will complete his Queensland tour on Monday, and will speak at Glen Innes on Tuesday, Inverell, Wednesday, Narrabri on Thursday; and Boggabri and Gunnedah on Friday. On Saturday, he and Mr. C. G. Wade will address a meeting under the auspices of the Willoughby Liberal Club at Crow's Nest. Sir William Irvine will also speak at Wagga and Young later in the month.

Mr. W. H. Kelly, the Acting Minister for Home Affairs, is leaving Sydney on Tuesday next for a Queensland tour, and will take in Toowoomba, South Brisbane, Gympie, and Brisbane.

Senator Millen, the Minister for Defence, will be at Liverpool next Tuesday, Junee on Wednesday, Wagga on Thursday, and Mosman on Friday.

A Liberal rally in the Sydney Town Hall is being arranged for August 18 to be addressed by Mr. Watt, Senator Millen, and Mr. C. G. Wade.

Mr. P. M'Mahon Glynn, Minister for External Affairs, will address meetings in this State during the third week in August.

Mr. Bruce Smith is arranging to speak at Hay on July 31, at Deniliquin on August 1, and several other centres in Riverina on succeeding days.

THE SENATE CANDIDATES.

The Liberal Senate campaign is being pursued with undoubted vigour. Senator Millen and Mr. Frank Coen have just completed a successful series of meetings in the Riverina and Hume electorates. Mr. Coen is down to speak next week at Jerilderie, Berrigan, Finley, Tocumwal, and Mulwala.

Mr. H. E. Pratten and Mr. A. K. Trethowan are out on an extensive Western tour, one week of which is being completed at Dubbo to-day. Mr. Pratten reports having had well-attended meetings at Lithgow, Mudgee, Hargraves, and Hill End; whilst Mr. Trethowan's meetings at Bathurst and Wellington have been equally successful.

Mr. Oakes returns this morning from a New England tour, and next week will be at Goulburn, Braidwood, Queanbeyan, and Bungendore; whilst Sir Albert Gould will be at Camden, Picton, Bowral, Mittagong, and Moss Vale.

PRIME MINISTER AT ORANGE.

MR. FISHER'S OMISSIONS.

ORANGE, Friday.

Mr. Cook, Prime Minister, arrived in town to-day, and was welcomed by the Mayor and executive of the Liberal Association. The principal part of the town was decorated with bunting in honour of his visit, and he was entertained at dinner at 6.30. The public meeting at night in the Australian Hall was crowded, and the Prime Minister was accorded a flattering reception.

Mr. Cook said that one of the outstanding features of Mr. Fisher's deliverances up to date was the way he had skimmed over, or purposely ignored, the big things of Australian import. He could not possibly have forgotten them, therefore the omissions were intentional, and not accidents. It was time Mr. Fisher made his position plain. For instance, in his speech at Bundaberg, 12 months ago, he stated that the policy of the Labour party included the building of more dreadnoughts and smaller vessels. Now his speeches were more sober, and he said in times of peace building should depend upon current revenue. As the annual expenditure now exceeded the revenue, what else could be read into this than that defence must stand still until the revenue was replenished from one source or another? His attitude was a very changeable one. Mr. Fisher had jibed at him (Mr. Cook) the other day about changing his opinion, and he would therefore remind Mr. Fisher of his own change of attitude. Mr. Fisher said some years ago that expenditure on defence should not in any circumstances exceed £500,000 a year. Now an altogether different and more thrifty note was heard. Was Mr. Fisher leading the party or were Messrs. Fenton, Riley, O'Malley, or Higgs? Perhaps he was referring to the plank in the Labour platform which laid it down that all defence expenditure should be provided for out of direct taxation. Mr. Fisher's attitude was a piece of clumsy political angling in Melbourne, but the bait ought to be too obvious for the fish to take.

What did Mr. Fisher say regarding immigration? Not a word was heard in his policy speech, and it was after all most important and vital. There was not one word about the Murray waters, which was the biggest settlement project in Australia. He had left the Northern Territory severely alone. He should tell the people plainly and honestly what his real programme was, and not try to destroy responsible government and to restore caucus rule. Mr. Fisher talked of the tariff question, but what was behind it? The caucus knew, and they all knew, he proposed to fight for the new protection, which would limit profits and make industrialism paramount. Mr. Fisher's proposals for the socialisation of exports by these Government export departments and Government-controlled steamships were sinister means of making the A.W.U. controllers of all export transport in Australia.

There was another aspect of the difference which needed emphasising between himself and Mr. Fisher, and that was the difference in relationship to the Federal Constitution. They, the Labour party, were the enemies of Federation, and did not believe in it. They wanted a huge centralised State, where the exercise of their powers would be single and complete. Thus the whole attitude to the States was one of patronage.

He (Mr. Cook) believed in seeking an agreement with the States. After all, the States were partners, and should be welded together. Why should there not be one roll and one big national bank and one united scheme of immigration, with all the powers of each State cooperating and concentrated on one problem? What had been done with the Murray waters could be done with other things. Instead of each standing on legal definitions, there should be a broad cordial spirit of federation. Two acting together would do much better work than separately. These, he concluded, were some of the outstanding differences between the two parties, and needed to be considered by the electors.

POSITION IN TASMANIA.

HOBART, Friday.

All three parties are now vigorously pushing their Federal campaign forward. The only representative of the third party, the Independents, is Colonel Cameron, who, undeterred by his failures last year, is again a candidate for the Senate. The Liberal candidates for the Senate are the three retiring Senators, Bakhap, Clemons, and Keating. Mr. E. Mulcahy, who was Minister for Lands and Works in the late Liberal State Government, and formerly a Senator; Mr. H. A. Nicholls, member of the Legislative Council; and Mr. L. M. Shoobridge, president of the Tasmanian Fruitgrowers' Union, and a well-known fruitgrower. The Labour six are the retiring Senators, Long, O'Keefe, and Ready; Mr. J. Guy, secretary of the Workers' Political League, and formerly member of the State Assembly; Mr. J. M'Donald, and Mr. W. E. Shoobridge, brother of the Liberal candidate of that name.

The Labour party is fighting with its back to the wall in the Senate contest, for the numbers were heavily against them in May, 1913, when the three Liberals polled an aggregate of 117,169 votes, and the three Labour men 104,590, thus giving each Liberal an average majority of 4191. Since then the Liberal organisation has considerably improved. New branches of the Liberal League have been started in parts of the State where none existed before, and at the league's pre-election for the Senate over 10,000 valid votes were cast. The Labour candidates were not pre-elected, but selected by the executive of the Workers' Political League.

The Labour party is now claiming to be a States rights party, alleging that the Cook Government designs to destroy the power of the Senate, and that they will be swamped by the larger States unless Labour is returned to power. Allegations that the rolls are being faked in the Liberal interest are being freely indulged in on the Labour side, but this line of attack has not so far been very profitable.

As to the House of Representatives campaign, the Labour party has up to the present shown itself ready to let two seats now held by Liberals, Franklin (M'Williams) and Wilmot (Atkinson), go by default. In Denison the sitting Labour man, Laird Smith, is being opposed by Newman A. H. Clarke, the first Tasmanian Rhodes scholar to go in for politics. In Bass, Mr. Marshall, secretary of the Liberal League, who put up such a good fight against Mr. O'Malley in Darwin last year, is opposing Mr. Jensen. The parties are fairly even in Bass, but the chances are that Mr. Jensen will retain the seat. The Liberals have a very good chance of winning Darwin from Mr. King O'Malley. Mr. Plummer, the Liberal candidate, is a well-known and popular local man. The position of Labour in the electorate has been adversely affected by the very serious slump in the West Coast mining fields. The general position as regards the House of Representatives, therefore, is that the Liberals have two absolutely safe seats, while Labour cannot be quite certain of holding any one of the present three seats. The Liberals have strong hopes of capturing at least one of them.

MACQUARIE.

LITHGOW, Friday.

Mr. Jabez Wright, M.L.A. for Willyama, spoke on behalf of the candidature of Mr. E. S. Carr, at Lithgow last night. He said: "Vote for Mr. Cook and you vote for the downfall of the country; vote for Mr. Fisher and you get the benefit of the functions of the people, and the best efforts of a progressive party, whose platform is wholly for the uplifting and betterment of the working classes." Co-partnership, he said, was one of Mr. Cook's pet schemes. Many firms had instituted it, but wherever this precious system existed men were paid less than the current wage. Co-partnership was a myth and a fraud, and would benefit no one. The workers must remember it was a bait held out by the bosses. It insisted that the men could not agitate for better conditions. It was out of date and no good, and if it were not the Cook party would have nothing to do with it.

WERRIWA.

GRENFELL, Friday.

Mr. A. H. B. Conroy, selected Liberal and Farmers and Settlers' candidate, addressed a large audience last night. The Mayor presided. The speaker justified the action of the Government in seeking a double dissolution. He condemned a high tariff, but considered some Customs duties a necessary evil. In preference to unionists he did not believe justice was done by the Labour Government.

RICHMOND.

MOREE, Friday.

Mr. Massey Greene spoke in the School of Arts hall last night. There was a fair attendance. He said he could conceive nothing more uncalled for than Senator Rae's attacking the Governor-General, whose position prevented a reply. Mr. Cook had declared repeatedly that he accepted the full responsibility.

THE SENATE.

SENATOR MILLEN AT HAY.

HAY, Friday.

Senator E. D. Millen, Minister for Defence, and Mr. Frank Coen, Liberal Senate candidates, addressed a well-attended public meeting last night, the Mayor presiding. Senator Millen severely criticised the actions of the Fisher Government. He admitted that it was true that the Cook Government had not been able to do anything, but this was caused by the obstructive tactics of the Labour party. The dissolution was not caused merely as a result of the quarrel between the Cook and Fisher parties, but meant the right of the people to govern themselves. If the Government were to take its orders from the Senate, it would mean one Tasmanian voter having nine times the power of one New South Wales voter. The Senate had compelled the Government to modify its financial proposals, and harassed it in a hundred different ways. The Preference Bill was deliberately introduced by the Government to bring about the double dissolution. He asked the electors to study the proposals of the two leaders. If they did, they must come to the conclusion that Mr. Cook's policy would benefit the whole of the community without injuring anybody, which could not be said of Mr. Fisher's. Referring to defence, Senator Millen said if Australia was to have a defence scheme it must be efficient. Already the scheme was costing £1 per head of the inhabitants. The scheme was now being administered as economically as possible, and the only way to lighten the burden was to increase the population by immigration. The great Murray waters conservation scheme, which had been rendered possible by Mr. Cook's co-operation, would do this. That scheme would provide a living for 750,000 people, and, referring to the surplus of the Fisher Government, Senator Millen said, in addition to the surplus, the Fisher Government left a whole lot of the unpaid bills. In meeting the commitments of the Fisher party, Mr. Cook spent £2,300,000, and yet ended up the year with a surplus of a million. He enumerated the directions in which saving had been effected, amongst which was the Western Australian railway, on which the Government mode of construction would save £371,000. Whereas the cost under Mr. Fisher had increased 35 per cent. per year, under Mr. Cook it only increased 9 per cent.

Referring to Mr. Falkiner, the Liberal candidate for Riverina, Senator Millen said he had brought a welcome fund of business acumen to the House. He was an opponent to be feared, but he had earned the goodwill and respect even of his opponents.

SENATOR GOULD AT SINGLETON.

SINGLETON, Friday.

Senator Gould delivered an address last night. He said the policies of the two parties were before the people. The Labour party on the one hand was seeking to stand for a section of the people, and a section of that section. The Liberal party, on the other hand, was standing for the whole of the people, and advocating the principle of equal opportunity for all. Under the industrial system to-day the Courts had power to grant preference to unionists, and the latter argued that preference should be granted because unionists contributed funds, but they never seemed to think that people might be likened to the great Government union, to which all contributed. Therefore, none should have preference. The Liberal party was supported in this great fight by men who were the backbone of the country—farmers and settlers.

WOLLONGONG, Friday.

Senator McDougall addressed a large meeting on behalf of his candidature last night, during which he said he was satisfied that Labour senators would always hold the majority. The speaker was accorded a vote of confidence.

MR. KELLY AND THE BEEF TRUST.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—Mr. Kelly, Acting Minister for Home Affairs, speaking at Woollahra last night, is reported in your issue to-day as having said: —"The Minister for Customs (Mr. Tudor) had met in secret the representative of the beef trust, and had signed approval of the first trust building in Brisbane." He further said that the Labour party met these trust representatives as friends in secret, and blackguarded them in public.

The trust had plans prepared to erect works on the Brisbane River, which they had to submit to the Minister for approval, under the Commerce Act. The only reason for which he may refuse to sanction the erection of buildings in such a case, is that they do not comply with the provisions of the Commerce Act. It is purely a matter of the suitability of the buildings from a health point of view. However, let the Prime Minister be heard on this point, for Mr. Kelly is only repeating a misrepresentation his leader was compelled to withdraw months ago. On page 696, "Hansard," May 6, 1914, Mr. Cook said:—

Mr. Joseph Cook: I have been called to task during the debate for making the remark that my friend the honorable member for Yarra gave the Beef Trust his blessing and benediction, and I wish to explain what I meant. I should be very sorry to misrepresent my friend, but the papers produced to-day by the Minister show that the late Minister took no action.

Mr. Tudor: I could not. There was no power under the Commerce Act to enable me to do more than I did.

Mr. Joseph Cook: I admit all that. The poor fellow could do nothing. All I know is that the honourable member approved of all these people did. He said that their buildings were being put up as they ought to be, and that they were conducting themselves within the law, and in every way properly.

Mr. Jensen: That was only dealing with the health aspect. Be fair.

Mr. Joseph Cook: Of course. As to all the things the company did at this time, the honourable member for Yarra gave his approval.

I am, etc.,
July 24. J. H. CATTS.

THE ELECTIONS.

The issue of the writs next week will mark the end of the first stage in an election campaign which began with the promise of a double dissolution. After that date the rolls will be as complete as it is possible for zealous canvassers and the fear of a threat of penalty to make them, and the canvassers will be free to consume all their energies in persuading the enrolled citizens to vote. In the work of the candidates there will be no change. The party leaders will carry their messages into all the centres of the Commonwealth, and the candidates, with what assistance can be spared, will fight each his own battle in his own unwieldy electorate. In the campaign so far there can be no complaint of a want of contrasts. Mr. Cook's policy speech was a precise statement of the needs of the Commonwealth and of the means by which the Government will attempt to satisfy them. It was not a speech designed to offer a quack remedy for every grievance, real or imaginary. It was the considered utterance of a Prime Minister working under the limitations of a Federal system which, though it is not rigid, is, and was, intended to ensure the co-operation of the central government with the several States. Being the work of a man accustomed to the duties of government, it did not enumerate projects which had not received expert consideration or promises which in this country, and in our present circumstances, cannot be carried out. It was an address intended for the consideration of practical men and women faced with great difficulties, but looking forward to a future which has inspired them and their rulers with confidence. On other occasions Mr. Cook and his lieutenants have been enabled to give the separate items of the policy speech more detailed consideration, and to devote some time to criticism of their opponents. But both criticism and advocacy have been kept on practical lines. Where a reform has been promised its sponsor has been prepared to show in detail the means by which it can be carried out. Where Ministers have committed themselves to an enterprise involving expenditure, they have been able to show where the money is to come from. Liberals have, of course, defended themselves where and when they have been attacked. The two charges most frequently advanced before and after the elections have been signally refuted. Mr. Cook has shown that the double dissolution was a necessity unless responsible government was to be abandoned, and was itself an illustration of that system in practice. The works administration of the Government, which in the last Parliament was attacked in every way that malice or ignorance could suggest, has been vindicated by facts and figures with such success that neither charges nor innuendo are repeated. But although Ministers have defended themselves with vigour, the speeches of Liberal candidates have been remarkably free from personal attacks. They have given the surest proof of a belief in the strength of their case and of the importance of the questions at issue by refusing to turn aside either to abuse an opponent or to introduce into the election matters with which the Commonwealth Parliament is not concerned.

Neither of the two foremost Labour leaders can survive the same test of the strength of their case or of their own confidence. Mr. Hughes, who, having once been the most earnest of freetraders, is now a protectionist at any price, whatever the facts and whatever the cost, has been using his powers of invective to prove that the Prime Minister does not hold the same opinions as he held ten or twenty years ago. Mr. Fisher, without his colleague's skill in phrasemaking, has in this State given fancy descriptions of Sir William Irvine as a stern, unbending Tory, who hates the people and says so, and refuses to pledge the Commonwealth funds in support of an enlarged scheme of doles and pensions. Such personalities, no doubt, have a value as stimulants to an audience of partisans, whose votes are pledged beyond the power of argument. They can have no effect on electors who have Mr. Cook's record and speeches before them, and who have at last heard Sir William Irvine in this State. The counter proposals of the Labour party, as they may be gathered from the speeches of Mr. Fisher and Mr. Hughes, are five. They propose considerable additions to the old-age pension scheme, they will grant high protection immediately, either in spite of or in accordance with the recommendations of the Interstate Commission, they will pay for defence both for current expenses and for permanent works out of revenue, they will substitute the referendum and the initiative for the existing system of responsible government, and they will radically amend the Constitution. The list as it has been slowly unfolded has provoked several criticisms, all of which may be summarised in a demand for further explanation. If Mr. Fisher is so determined a protectionist that he cannot wait for the report of an impartial Commission, why did he not increase the tariff during his term of office when the volume of Australian imports was greater than it had ever been? If he believes that the popular will cannot be enforced except through the initiative and the referendum, will he tell us what form these measures are to take, or how this quack remedy can be applied to a continent like Australia, which could absorb a country five times as large as Switzerland in its smallest State? So far, Mr. Fisher has talked of the initiative and the referendum as if he were a schoolboy satisfied with names. But no question touches the Labour programme so vitally as the question of finance. A verbal dispute as to whether Sir John Forrest has a surplus or not is of little importance compared with the prospect of an enormous increase in taxation which Mr. Fisher now holds out. At Geelong he said that he would "demand" his new revenue from the people, but even yet he has not said how the people are to pay. The amount may be ascertained—at least three millions yearly for pensions and an enormous sum for defence; the source may be found in an income tax, in stamp duties, in a land tax without exemption, or in the Customs receipts now allowed to the States; but then we shall have to guess how the States will pay interest on their loans or develop their sources when the taxable capacity of their citizens is reduced and their own powers are crippled. The true answer to all questions submitted to Mr. Fisher is that he and his colleagues who know the responsibilities of government are not the authors of their own policy. They accept a programme prepared by men who are anxious to secure votes, and then trust to their opponents to help them as they have done in this State. While a Government must listen to advice to take party needs and party services into consideration, it is bound to waste the money of the taxpayers and to do their work badly.

NATIONAL REFINEMENT.

It is becoming a really serious question for the people of this State whether the prize-fighting rage which has seized upon this country during the last six years is not causing a serious and perceptible deterioration in the national character. It is all very well to shelve the subject with some light-hearted catch phrase about the noble art, and an off-hand assurance that we are no worse than we were in the good old days. The question is whether we are worse than we were six years ago; whether our crowds do not show a disposition to be coarser and more mannerless; whether an element has not grown amongst us, partly arriving from outside, and partly attracted to this foreign nucleus from the less orderly part of our own population, which is a harmful element to be encouraged in any civilisation. For at present this element is being encouraged—is being allowed to make for itself all the money it can by providing this particular sort of excitement for a certain portion of the nation. It is high time that those Australians who really have hopes and ideals concerning the future nation which we are now moulding in the Commonwealth should put it to their consciences in all seriousness whether this element which we are encouraging in our midst is not making appreciable inroads upon the refinement of our character; whether by our easy tolerance, or indifference, or it may be laziness, in preferring to let things take what course they will, we are not guilty of a crime against the future of our nation, even though it may be a crime of which most of us will not live to see the full effects. Of course there are some Australians to whom the future of the Australian nation is not a matter of very much moment; who do not care very greatly whether it will be a race which will lead the world in those arts and those qualities in which the various nations of the world are generally most proud to claim some eminence; whom it does not really interest what place the Australia of future centuries will occupy amongst the other nations in history. And there may be others who see no particular value in refinement, and who do not agree with the general standard of the world as to which qualities it holds noble and honourable and which of less value. They may be prepared to back their ideas of what a national character should be by staking the future of the Australian race upon them. To such as these, if there are any, it is probably futile to make this appeal.

But we do appeal to those—who certainly constitute the great majority of Australians—who do possess and cherish ideals of the future of the Australian nation, and who do desire, even though they may not live to see it, that the Commonwealth shall some day take a proud place amongst the nations of the world in respect of those refinements which the general opinion of all ages has held most valuable—we do appeal to them to search their inmost convictions and see if they can be sure this new element which we have among us is not a drawback and a danger to the refinement which we value. It is easy to laugh away and make light of the examples of lawlessness and rowdyism which we see or hear about from day to day—but those examples are getting altogether too frequent for any one who really respects the future of his country to contemplate with an easy mind. The record of last Saturday alone has given any thoughtful Australian plenty to think about—from fights on the football field to the attempt by a disappointed crowd at the Stadium to burn the building down. It is useless to argue that character, if it is worth anything, cannot be readily affected by any sort of spectacle, because the well-known fact is that it can. One of the most disquieting incidents of our civilisation is the way in which it is apt to drop from us after quite a short immersion in savage or brutal surroundings. The history of European colonies amongst uncivilised peoples is full of examples of white men, officials and others, of enlightened western races, who came to that country as humane and upright and decent to all appearances as any other white man, but whom isolation and daily acquaintance with the practices of savagery have brutalised almost to the level of savages themselves. That refinement which, whether we in Australia value it or not, is at any rate valued by the consensus of nations above every other quality, is a quality only too difficult to attain, and only too easy to lose. We have sometimes heard a laugh at the lonely Englishman, who, living by himself as a forest officer in the jungles of lower India, or perhaps on the slopes of the Himalayas, a hundred miles or more from the nearest member of his own race, insists punctiliously upon dressing for dinner every night. In reality he is fighting for his soul, fighting for the Western civilisation in which he was brought up, making a pathetic struggle, out there unsupported in the wilderness, to cling on to the refinements of his race. He has no fellow-Briton to assist him. He is surrounded by a different race, a different life, different standards—thousands of instances have shown how easy it is for a man in such a position to slip slowly down hill and lose himself in the alien world at his feet. He has to fight that battle by himself, and that dinner jacket is one of his few supports.

If the refinement of our world may hang at times upon such small things, can the people of this State look with any satisfaction upon the element which has lately been introduced here? Is it to grow—for that is what will happen if we let it—into one of the really important elements in our national life? Is it to be one of the factors upon which the moulding of the younger generation of Australians will largely depend? Prize fighting is followed by many thorough good fellows, but is there any crowd in the country that is so utterly undesirable as that which is formed by the hangers-on of the boxing ring? We hold no brief for the racing tout, or for the lowest element that hangs on to the skirt of football or some other national games. But let the average citizen put it to himself from what he can see in the streets or around the Stadium—do any of these sports attract to themselves a crowd even comparably as coarse and unrefined as that which hangs on to the skirts of prize fighting? All sports which are played for money tend to be unedifying, because the best element in sport, the generosity which characterises it, is replaced by a different motive. And the prize fight has been brought to Australia not in order to encourage the manly qualities of Australians. The way to learn manliness is not to sit down and see two other men hitting one another. The prize fight has been brought to Australia for one object, and one only—as a pure business speculation, with a view to filling the pockets of its promoters. And the question which each thinking Australian will have to ask himself is, in view of what he sees around him, in view of the rowdiness and lawlessness of which reports come to him almost daily, is he not allowing the refinement of this nation to run a most grievous risk?

Wattle in Bloom.—Although wintry weather conditions are ruling on the Blue Mountains, the wattle trees are blooming with all the suggestiveness of spring. Even amid the snow that fell recently it bloomed bravely, and the blossoms became frosted over, creating most striking effects. It is on the lower levels, however, that it can now be seen to fullest advantage than at Springwood and Glenbrook. There are numerous trees there overhanging the roadway that present a mass of golden flowers. In the bush the different varieties, and there are many of them, are all bursting up the sombre green of the gum trees, while other bush flowers are peeping shyly. If warm weather comes there will be quite a wealth of blossom. The early blooming of the wattle indicates what a hardy plant it is, and all through this month there have been hundreds of shrubs of the golden wattle blooming around Blackheath. By the time Wattle Day comes, in September, the first blossoms will be over.

Mountain Waterfalls.—The recent wintry weather and fall of snow on the Mountains were responsible for many of the waterfalls and falls freezing, and heavy frosts have turned numerous small cascades in that state. The result has been that many beautiful scenes have been created, and visitors to the mountains are quite enthusiastic over it. The frosts in the early morning have been so heavy that many people have mistaken the whitened ground for snow.

INCREASING TRADE.

NEW ZEALAND AND AMERICA.

NEW SERVICES.

According to advices received by the agents or Riverina yesterday, there is every indication of a big increase of trade between New Zealand and America, arrangements being made for further steamers to load in the Dominion direct for the United States.

For some months steamers have been despatched from Wellington at regular intervals for Boston and New York, with full cargoes of frozen meats and other produce, but these vessels, which belong to the Federal and Shire Line, have, in most cases, commenced loading in Australia.

It is now announced that the Shaw Savill and Albion Line will also commence to despatch its steamers from the Dominion to New York and London at regular intervals. The cargo steamer Delphic will be the first vessel to load in New Zealand on behalf of the line. She will load frozen meat, and will make Auckland her final loading port, leaving there about August 7 next.

If sufficient inducement is offered the Delphic will be followed at monthly intervals by other vessels of the line.

The steamer Kent was the first vessel to load at Auckland for Boston and New York under the auspices of the Federal and Shire Line. The Sussex will follow on August 10, and the new cargo steamer Hororata, at present in Sydney, will be loading in the Dominion towards the end of August.

IRISH PROBLEM.

THE CONFERENCE.

SLENDER HOPES OF SUCCESS.

DECISION TO-DAY.

LONDON, July 24.

The conference at Buckingham Palace on the Irish question met again yesterday, and after a long sitting a further adjournment was made until to-day.

There are only the slenderest hopes of the conference being successful. The King granted an audience to the Premier (Mr. Asquith) after yesterday's sitting of the conference, and it is expected that a decisive statement will be issued to-day.

It is understood that the conference declined to accept a suggestion made by the Speaker to exclude Tyrone from the Home Rule area for two years, and afterwards ballot for or against its exclusion.

THE KING'S SPEECH.

MR. ASQUITH'S DEFENCE.

In the House of Commons yesterday afternoon, replying to a question by Sir James Dalziel (Liberal), Mr. Asquith said that the sentence in the King's speech relating to civil war was never intended to convey more than was obviously true—that apprehensions of civil strife had been widely entertained, and expressed by responsible and sober-minded persons, "amongst whom I may perhaps include myself," the Premier added.

LIBERAL LEADER BLAMED.

The "Daily Chronicle," referring to the King's speech, and its publication, says: "Mr. Asquith is perfectly aware that why the inexcusable words were published was not because they were innocent, but because he was careless. This sort of leadership is inadequate, and this it not the first time Ministerial carelessness has allowed an inexcusable phase to appear. Mr. Asquith's own presence at the War Office might remind him of that."

ATTACK ON THE KING.

Mr. Keir Hardie, M.P., has made a violent attack on the King in an article in the "Labour Leader," the official organ of the Independent Labour Party.

SOLDIERS AND POLITICS.

"THEIR'S NOT TO REASON WHY."

The Irish Guards, a number of whom cheered the Nationalist representatives as they were going to the conference on Wednesday, were paraded at Wellington Barracks to-day. Col. Morris stated that he was sorry soldiers in uniform should have given way to a political demonstration.

The War Office has issued an order prohibiting soldiers from associating with the Ulster or Nationalist volunteers.

APPEAL TO ULSTER.

Sir Horace Plunkett, by means of a pamphlet, appeals to Ulster to give Home Rule a chance, stating: "I can say with absolute certainty that if Ulster will throw in her lot with Ireland, she will find herself received with generous enthusiasm, which will last, because it will be founded on respect."

TALK OF CIVIL WAR.

Writing to the Woolston Women's Unionist Association (Hampshire), Sir Edward Carson said: "The position is so critical that any day may see a catastrophe. The Government is apparently content to drift until civil war breaks out."

The Nationalist Volunteers' Aid Association was formally inaugurated at Dublin yesterday, and speaking at the function the Lord Mayor said that people recognised the possibility of the failure of Home Rule owing to the arrogance of Ulster. "If we must have civil war, in God's name let it come," he said.

AUSTRIA'S DEMAND.

SERVIA MENACED.

THE ASSASSINATION PLOT.

BELGRADE, July 24.

An Austrian Note has been received, couched in sharp terms, and confirming the forecast that appeared in the "Neue Freie Presse" on Wednesday.

The Note, to which a reply is requested by 6 p.m. on Saturday, demands the arrest of Major Tankesitch, and of M. Giganovitch, a Servian State employee; also the punishment of frontier officials for facilitating the passage to Sarajevo of the perpetrators of the outrage whereby the Archduke Francis Ferdinand and his wife lost their lives.

The Magisterial inquiry (the Note opens) proves that the crime was hatched in Belgrade by Prinzip, Cabrinovci, Giganovitch, and Grabez. With the assistance of Major Tankositch, bombs from the Servian army stores were delivered to these persons, and Giganovitch instructed the perpetrators of the crime in the use of bombs, and magazine pistols.

PREPARATIONS FOR WAR.

VIENNA, July 24.

Several army corps are getting ready for mobilisation, and warships are proceeding by river to Semlin, a frontier town at the junction of the Save and the Danube, above Belgrade.

The "Allegemeine Zeitung" states that it is believed that the Servian Premier, M. Nikolas Pashitch, is willing to give Austria satisfaction regarding any accomplices of the assassins found in Servia.

THE CAILLAUX TRIAL

HER HUSBAND'S LETTERS.

FORMER WIFE'S EVIDENCE.

PARIS, July 23.

The editor of the "Journal" gave evidence that Madame Gueydan, the former wife of M. Caillaux, offered him M. Caillaux's private letters, but he refused to accept them.

Madame Gueydan, in her evidence, admitted taking the letters from her husband's study for the purposes of her divorce suit. She bitterly recounted how the accused stole her husband from her. She maintained that the letters contained nothing of public interest or justifying the fear of publication, so as to drive Mdme. Caillaux to interview M. Calmette.

The witness refused appeals by Maitre Labori, counsel for the accused, and M. Chenu, counsel for the "Figaro," to deliver up the photographs and letters, but later on she handed the letters to the Judge, the spectators in court cheering her action.

PANAMA CANAL.

OPEN NEXT MONTH.

THE EXHIBITION.

WASHINGTON, July 23.

Mr. Lindley M. Garrison, Secretary of War has formally announced that the Panama Canal will be open to vessels of 30 feet draught from August 15.

There will be no ceremonies, however, until the official opening next March.

A San Francisco message states that Australia and New Zealand have jointly taken the title and site of the Commonwealth Pavilion at the Panama exhibition.

COST OF ARMAMENTS.

ECONOMY FORESHADOWED.

LONDON, July 24.

The Finance Bill was read a third time in the House of Commons last night.

Mr. Lloyd George (Chancellor of the Exchequer) said he thought the next year would find a substantial economy in armaments, without interfering in the slightest degree with the efficiency of the navy. There were symptoms that the industrial and financial interests of the world were beginning to get alarmed at the growing expenditure on armaments.

BRITISH BUILDERS.

FAVOUR NATIONAL LOCKOUT.

LONDON, July 24.

A ballot of the provincial master builders resulted in a decisive majority in favour of a national lockout in the building trade.

CAVALRY CHARGE STRIKERS.

MANY SERIOUSLY INJURED.

ST. JOHN (New Brunswick), July 23.

TRAMWAY TRUST'S INCOME.

PRIVY COUNCIL'S DECISION.

LONDON, July 24.

The appeal of the Commissioner of Taxes against the Melbourne Trust, Limited, was allowed by the Privy Council to-day, but it was held that neither side was entitled to costs.

Their Lordships also set aside the judgment of the Supreme Court, and remitted the case to the Supreme Court with certain declarations.

In the above case the point involved is the liability to income tax of receipts of the company derived from realisation of assets. The State Courts decided in favour of the Tax Commissioner, but this decision was upset by the High Court, and the Commissioner obtained leave to prosecute his claim before the Privy Council.

POLITICAL LIBEL ACTION.

SUIT AGAINST MR. ROOSEVELT.

NEW YORK, July 23.

Mr. William Barnes, chairman of the Republican State committee, who was attacked by Mr. Roosevelt, as being not fitted to receive nomination at the primary elections for the New York State Governorship, has brought a suit for libel against Mr. Roosevelt, claiming heavy damages.

Mr. Roosevelt endorsed the nomination of Mr. Harvey Hinman against Mr. Barnes, and criticised the latter severely.

HEAT WAVE IN AMERICA.

CHICAGO, July 23.

A heat wave of exceptional strength is spreading over the United States. Records were broken at Chicago, Oklahoma, and Missouri, temperatures exceeding 100 degrees being recorded. There were many prostrations at St. Louis, where the mercury reached 100.

SPORT ABROAD.

LAWN TENNIS.

DAVIS CUP PRELIMINARY.

AUSTRALASIA V CANADA.

NEW YORK, July 23.

The preliminary tie between Australasia and Canada was commenced to-day on the courts of the Onwentsia Club, near Chicago, with the following results:—

SINGLES MATCHES.

N. E. Brookes (Australasia) beat B. P. Schwengers (Canada), 6-2, 6-2, 6-2.

A. F. Wilding (Australasia) beat R. B. Powell (Canada), 6-1, 6-2, 6-2.

During the progress of the Brookes-Schwengers match the thermometer registered 100 degrees, but a cooling shower occurred prior to the Wilding-Powell match. However, as the courts were heavily tarpaulined, the ground was unaffected.

Schwengers displayed a lack of confidence, and this factor hastened his defeat, although Brookes was his master at all stages of the game.

If the usual custom is followed, the doubles matches will be played on Friday, and the remaining singles to-day. However, if Australasia wins the doubles, it will not be absolutely necessary to play the second round of the singles, as the rubber will have been won.

AUSTRALIANS AT BISLEY.

ST. GEORGE'S CHALLENGE VASE.

C. Cross (Vic.)	40
T. J. Meers (S. Aus.)	40

M'Alister and Harrison qualified for the second stage, for which Jamieson will shoot off with ties.

L. T. Ryan (N.S.W.) qualified for the second stage of the King's in the shoot-off.

THE NEW REGULATIONS.

Lieutenant-Colonel C. E. Merrett (commandant of the Australian team) has drafted a letter to the council of the National Rifle Association, explaining the objections of Australia and other dominions to the changes in the regulations proposed by the War Office, and suggesting that the War Office be asked as a compromise to accept a qualifying shoot for the King's Prize under service conditions, and conduct the actual competition as now.

THE TURF.

TESTS FOR DOPING.

LONDON, July 23.

The stewards of the English Jockey Club announce an analysis of the saliva of the horse Red Finch, who was detained after winning the Swaffam Welter Handicap at Newmarket on July 15, has not shown any indication of a dope having been administered.

The stewards announce that they will occasionally order an examination of the saliva of horses under suspicion of having been doped, in order to satisfy themselves that rule 176 has been observed, but they will not publish the results unless they discover that drugs have been administered.

[Section (1) of rule 176 provides for the disqualification of any person who administers, or causes to be administered, for the purpose of affecting the speed of a horse, drugs or stimulants internally, by hypodermic or other methods. . . . . . . and every person so offending shall be warned off Newmarket Heath and other places where these rules are in force.]

DIVORCE COURT CASES.

LONDON, July 23.

In the Divorce Court to-day, Mrs. Dudley Ward, formerly Miss Maidie Hope, actress, and Mrs. Crawshaw-Williams, obtained decrees for the restitution of conjugal rights in their respective suits.

Mrs. Eric Loder, formerly Miss Gabrielle Ray, a well-known musical comedy actress, was granted a divorce for non-compliance with a restitution order.

In June, last year, it was cabled that Mr. Eliot Crawshaw-Williams, then Liberal member of the House of Commons for Leicester, had resigned his seat because he had been cited as co-respondent in a suit for divorce, instituted by Mr. H. W. C. Carr-Gomm, member for Rotherhithe division of Southwark.

CANCER RESEARCH.

CONTACT INVESTIGATIONS.

LONDON, July 22.

Dr. E. F. Bashford, General Superintendent of Imperial Cancer Research, reports that 12 years' experience shows the so-called cancer villages, cancer houses, and cancer streets are a myth.

He adds that careful investigations showed that contact with natural or inoculated cancer does not increase liability to development of the disease.

STRIKES IN RUSSIA.

RISING OF WORKERS.

CONFLICTS WITH COSSACKS.

ST. PETERSBURG, July 24.

The strikes are extending and increasing in violence.

The strikers in the Viborg quarter of St. Petersburg cut down the telegraph poles, tore up the pavements, and overturned vans. They used the latter as barricades, from behind which they fired at and stoned the troops. They also sang revolutionary songs. In four other districts the rioters also stoned the police. In all such cases parties of Cossacks fired volleys and charged the rioters. One woman and five workmen were killed, and 17 wounded. Three police were severely injured, and many slightly hurt.

Some of the rioters attempted to burn the bridge leading to Viborg and to destroy the waterworks. Thousands assembled outside the Imperial porcelain factory and threw stones through the windows.

The employees of the Government Gun Factory at Obukhoff are joining the strike, many being terrorised into this course.

The police have arrested 30 members of the strike committee, including the editorial staffs of two Labour newspapers.

Eight thousand shipbuilders at Nikolaieff, on the Black Sea, went on strike yesterday. They sang revolutionary songs, and several were wounded in a collision with the troops.

Collisions with the police occurred throughout the day, and it is estimated that 20 were killed and 100 wounded.

FRENCH PRESIDENT'S VISIT.

President Poincare's visit was overshadowed by the strike riots. He witnessed a review of 60,000 troops at Tsarkoe Selo, and left yesterday for Stockholm.

HINDUS LEAVE CANADA.

PEACEFUL DEPARTURE.

POLITICAL DEVELOPMENTS.

VANCOUVER, July 23.

Conveyed by the cruiser Rainbow, the steamer Komagata Maru departed peacefully with the contingent of Hindus who had been refused admission into Canada.

The militia remained on the wharfs all night.

The Hindu committee on shore claim that Gurdit Singh deceived the passengers on the Komagata Maru as to the real reasons for their deportation, and that few really knew why they were barred from entrance into Canada.

It is understood that, as a result of the Komagata Maru incident, the British Government is likely to take up, with the United States, the question of investigating the political activities of Hindus throughout the United States and Canada. It is well known that Hindus in several centres are conducting an agitation in California, particularly in San Francisco, also in Seattle and the State of Washington.

DIVED OVERBOARD.

ATTEMPT BY JAPANESE.

As the Komagata Maru was passing through Plumper Pass two Japanese dived overboard.

A cutter was lowered from the Rainbow, and started after the swimmers. The latter were fast becoming exhausted in their endeavours to combat the fast-running tide, and were pulled aboard the cutter half drowned.

KING'S WITHDRAWAL DEMANDED.

DURAZZO, July 23.

The insurgents demand the withdrawal of the King, Prince William of Wied, and the surrender of Durazzo.

They threaten an immediate attack if the demand is refused.

STRATHBLANE BREAKS DOWN

VESSEL RETURNING.

NEWCASTLE, Friday.

While the steamer St. Louis was making her way across the Pacific from New Caledonia to Newcastle on Monday afternoon last, she noticed the steamer Strathblane flying signals of distress. The St. Louis went close to the Strathblane, and learnt that there had been an accident in the engine-room, and that the high pressure cylinder had been damaged. The Strathblane was in latitude 26.50 south, longitude 163.15 east. She wished to be reported to Newcastle that she was steaming for Sydney for repairs. At that time the Strathblane was making between four and five knots.

The Strathblane left here on July 11 last with 4821 tons coal, and 2215 tons bunkers for Honolulu.

According to information received in Sydney by Messrs. R. Towns and Company, agents for the steamer St. Louis, the Strathblane's high pressure cylinder has split, and the stop valve has broken. The engines have been compounded, enabling the steamer to return slowly. The St. Louis remained in company with the Strathblane for two or three hours to see if she could render assistance, but this was not required. Captain Chaniel, of the St. Louis, was unable to make out some of the later signals from the Strathblane, as it became too dark. Messrs. R. Towns and Company consider that the damaged steamer should arrive here about Sunday night or Monday morning. According to information received by the Navigation Department yesterday, however, the vessel is expected to make the Australian coast, near Bustard Heads, Queensland.

BRITISH ASSOCIATION'S VISIT.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—Will you add to the obligation under which you have already laid me by permitting me to draw attention to the fact that the members of this association will be with us within the next four weeks, and that it is necessary for us to know without delay to what extent we can provide for their accommodation? To enable us to do this, it is proposed to close the list on the 31st inst. We shall, of course, have "to cut our coat according to our cloth," and I shall be obliged if those who have not yet contributed will do so during the coming week, in order that we may know how large the coat will be. We have had a very generous response, but the sum at present at our disposal will not enable us to do all we wish, and which we think the occasion demands.

I am, etc.,
RICHARD TEECE,
Chairman of Business Committee.

GOVERNOR-GENERAL.

SCOTS' WELCOME.

AN ENTHUSIASTIC GATHERING.

HIGHLAND CORDIALITY.

A Highland Society welcome was accorded the Governor-General and Lady Helen Munro Ferguson in the Town Hall last night. The occasion partook of the nature of a concert, and their Excellencies were unanimously elected members of the society, the greeting extended to Sir Ronald and Lady Helen being in the most hearty Caledonian style.

His Excellency, who was in the full costume of a Highland laird, entered with rare zest into the spirit of the large gathering, which was presided over by Colonel Burns, M.L.C. Among those present were the Governor (Sir Gerald Strickland) and Miss Strickland, and when, at the close "Auld Lang Syne" was sung, the vice-regal quartette, with Colonel Burns, joined hands. Sir Ronald afterwards raised his arm, and called for cheers.

The ceremonial portion of the proceedings consisted of the election of Sir Ronald Munro Ferguson as a member of the society, the honorary secretary, Mr. John Stewart, first formally reading a minute of the last meeting of the body, unanimously recommending that their Excellencies, who had graciously accepted the election, be made members of the society.

The chairman, Colonel Burns, then announced that their Excellencies were duly elected members of the society, and in a few happy remarks, in which he said how proud they all felt to have Sir Ronald among them, he moved that the election be now confirmed.

Mr. Dugald Thomson, in seconding the proposition, said that they all extended a hearty welcome to their Excellencies. Sir Ronald had done splendid service for his country at home, and he had now come to extend the range of his services to Australia in the interests of the Empire. (Applause.) He spoke of the purposes of the society, which were to foster the Scottish national sentiment, to instil a love of the literature of Scotland, and to render aid one to another. He realised that their Excellencies would be most valuable and honoured members of the society, whose aims and objects they would have genuinely at heart. (Applause.)

Sir Ronald Munro Ferguson, who was received with prolonged applause, expressed the great pleasure he, as a Highland laird, felt at being amongst so many of his own countrymen in Australia. He was deeply sensible of the warm reception that had been extended to him everywhere in Australia by his fellow Scotsmen, whose presence in the Commonwealth made him feel more than ever at home. (Laughter.) Scotsmen made good Empire builders. (Applause.) He could assure them that he and Lady Helen Munro Ferguson appreciated the compliment they had paid them of unanimously electing them members of the society. They would highly prize their membership of such a body, the benevolent and natural character of which had, in other parts of the Empire, done so much for the uplifting and improvement of what was now an integral and loyal portion of the British race. (Applause.)

His Excellency referred humorously to the journey from Yaralla that evening to the hall, and incidentally answered the question put to him the previous evening by Mr. Wade, who desired to know what he thought of the roads between the metropolis and Concord. His Excellency elicited great laughter by saying that in a motor car guaranteed to do 20 miles an hour through the bush, he had been able to accomplish eight miles an hour on the Parramatta-road.

An excellent musical programme was submitted, which the vice-regal visitors apparently enjoyed thoroughly. Mr. W. H. Wale gave an organ recital, and the Highland Society select choir, under Mr. W. Arundel Orchard, of the Highland Society's pipe band, rendered a number of pleasing items. The artists who contributed were:—Mr. Charles Schmidt, Mr. F. Mowat Carter, Miss Bessie Fraser, Mr. Philip Newbury, and Miss Ella Caspers. In addition there was Reel of Tulloch dancing by a champion corps.

IMMIGRATION.

EXPENDITURE AND EFFECT.

A COMPARISON.

During the three years ended June 30, 1914, New South Wales added 32,319 to its population by way of immigration; while Victoria added 33,689. The cost to New South Wales amounted to £162,000, while Victoria paid £306,960 (approximately) for her immigrants.

On paper it would seem that Victoria is paying nearly twice as much as New South Wales for her new arrivals. The difference is partly due to the fact that the southern State advances more to her immigrants, which amount is presumably afterwards returned to the Government, but for all this none of the States of Australia manage their immigration Department so economically as New South Wales; while the economy is so effected that it does not adversely influence the class of immigrant.

The cost for the three last financial years ended on June 30, for New South Wales, was:—1911-12 £59,186, 1912-13 £69,655, 1913-14 £33,158. In addition to this an amount of £12,000 annually is spent by the Commonwealth as the result of an agreement between New South Wales and Victoria. It is impossible to apportion the exact amount of which each State receives the benefit, but it may be set down roughly as £1 per head.

The immigrants, selected and nominated, received by New South Wales, during the last three years, were as follows:—1911-12, selected 3975, nominated 8881, total 12,856; 1912-13, selected 2499, nominated 11,150; 1913-14, selected 1430, nominated 5384, total 6814.

This works out per head of the total immigration as follows:—1911-12 £4 12s, 1912-13 £5 2s, 1913-14 £4 17s.

A STREET SMASH.

CART AND MOTOR CAR.

BATHURST, Friday.

A collision between a horse and cart and a motor car occurred in Lambert-street tonight. The car, owned and driven by Mr. Geo. Rutherford, the well-known amateur golfer, struck the horse head-on, and the animal, rearing into the air, came down on the car. The driver of the cart, James Boyle, an elderly man, was knocked unconscious, and was later taken to the hospital suffering from internal injuries. The horse had one of its forelegs broken and its side badly cut by the car, the front of which was considerably damaged. Mr. Rutherford leapt out of the motor when the collision occurred, and had a remarkable escape from injury.

SUNKEN GOLD.

WELLINGTON (N.Z.), Friday.

The final extension of the license for three months has been granted to May's syndicate to commence salvage operations to secure the treasure in the General Grant wreck, Auckland Islands. Another syndicate is reported to be anxious to secure the right to search. If the May syndicate does not start within the specified time the license will be cancelled definitely. Mr. May is now in San Francisco, where he has secured a vessel, which sails for New Zealand in August.

COAL CRISIS.

PESSIMISTIC OUTLOOK.

BOTH SIDES FIRM.

NEWCASTLE, Friday.

Despite the fact that rumours are current about two more of the afternoon shift collieries breaking away from the decision of the Proprietors' Association, and making agreements with the miners for the abolition of the afternoon shift, there are so far absolutely no grounds to lead the miners to expect such an occurrence.

At present, the position points in the direction of a long struggle. The proprietors of the five afternoon shift collieries are all connected with the Proprietors' Defence Association, and their chairman states they are determined in their stand to refuse to abolish the shift. Although they greatly disliked Bellbird breaking away, at the same time they did not treat it as seriously prejudicing their position, because that mine employed less than 200 miners. The proprietors believe that it would be a very unwise step to give way to the miners, partly in view of the fact that the wages board award has been flouted, but more so because they contend that two of the five mines will not be able to work profitably with only one shift. There is also another reason, and that is that they cannot obtain sufficient coal on the one shift to fulfil the contracts which they entered into some time ago. They are now protected in their contracts by the strike clause.

On the other hand, the representatives of the miners, and particularly their president, say that the men are out to win. Reports that come through from the Maitland district from unprejudiced persons are to the effect that, while the majority of the miners want the shift abolished, they are commencing to grow tired of the position. They were encouraged for a time by Bellbird breaking away, and rumours of further breakaways being circulated. The fact that they are out of work, and that the large funds which they expected to come forward from the federated unions did not put in an appearance, has thrown them into a state of restlessness.

While this dispute cannot be settled—and there are resources waiting to be worked by nearly 3000 men—the trade of the port and district generally is being considerably damaged. Newcastle is making restricted progress, owing to the strike, and the inadequacy of the facilities for loading coal at the port. Already several vessels have been forced to leave the port without taking the coal that they came here purposely to load.

The remaining collieries in the Newcastle and Maitland district are working at full pressure. For the week ending to-day the total quantity of coal loaded for export was 99,456 tons, of which 50,946 tons were for the Commonwealth and New Zealand trade, and 48,510 tons for foreign ports. The principal shipments were: Chili 27,093 tons, South Australia 23,676, Victoria 12,700, New Zealand 74,000, and Philippine Islands 7944 tons.

EGG MARKET.

A SUDDEN COLLAPSE.

The local egg market has totally collapsed. Yesterday new-laid eggs were offered wholesale in Sussex-street at from 1s 4d to 1s 5d, and case eggs at from 1s 2d to 1s 3d a dozen. These prices were from 1d to 3d a dozen lower than those ruling on Thursday, and about 4d cheaper than Monday's quotations. This sharp downward movement in values has been caused by heavy importations from South Australia and Queensland, and also by the greatly increased supplies arriving from local sources. It is usual at this season of the year for arrivals to increase, but it is seldom that production bounds forward as rapidly as it has done during the past week or ten days. "But the market has not yet reached bottom," said the sales manager of one of the big houses when spoken to yesterday, "and I am confident that within a fortnight we will have prices down to cold storage levels. It must be remembered that August and September are the two cheapest months in the year for eggs. In the present instance, the decline has been hurried by fairly heavy shipments from both Adelaide and Brisbane. If all one hears is true, there must have been almost 7000 dozen Adelaide eggs and 2000 dozen Brisbane eggs landed in Sussex-street this week. These parcels are admittedly not exceptionally heavy, but, when it is remembered that they arrived on a tottering market, it will at once be apparent that they must have exercised considerable influence upon the course of prices. As a matter of fact, I see by yesterday's 'Herald' that one Sussex-street merchant is willing to sell Adelaide eggs for delivery on Monday at 1s 3d a dozen."

RAILWAY WORKERS.

QUEENSLAND DEMANDS.

BRISBANE, Friday.

Regarding the demand made by the Amalgamated Society of Engineers for increased pay to its members at work on the railways at Hughenden and Cloncurry, the deputy chief mechanical engineer at Townsville has telegraphed to the department that he had received a schedule of the proposed increased rates on behalf of the mechanics, skilled labourers, and apprentices, which are equal to 25 per cent., with an additional 2s 6d per day at Cloncurry and Normanton. A reduction of weekly hours to 44 and other concessions are also demanded, and a reply is required by the seventh proximo.

The Minister for Railways to-day pointed out that there were 11,000 employees in the railway service in the whole of Queensland, and a 25 per cent. increase in wages in all grades, exclusive of the higher paid officials, would approximate to £45,000 per annum. Assuming the increase sought was given to the northern employees, naturally it would have to apply to the whole service throughout Queensland. He added that this year's estimates provided for automatic classification and increases in his department amounting to £47,000.

Apparently the northern men are actively carrying on their campaign. Every union in the State has, it is stated, been communicated with, asking its members to take a ballot on the question of supporting them in the event of a strike in the railway service.

TOWNSVILLE, Friday.

There are no further developments in connection with the threatened railway strike. The men's ultimatum will expire to-morrow, but before finishing work Mr. Nield, deputy mechanical engineer, will confer with the men, who, it is understood, will hold a meeting to-morrow.

The trouble appears to be confined to the Townsville men, the Charters Towers branch officials asserting that they know nothing about the action of the Townsville branch.

THEFT AT PADDINGTON.

The residence of Mr. Charles D. Greenway, 6 Mona-street, Paddington, was entered last night, and jewellery and clothing valued at between £12 and £15 were stolen. Entrance was effected during the absence of the inmates by means of a kitchen window, which had been left open. The door leading from the kitchen into the dining-room was locked, and the intruder first took the screws from the hinges in the door, and then got into the main part of the building, and ransacked the house.

WOMAN SANITARY INSPECTOR.

BROKEN HILL, Friday.

Out of five applications, Mrs. Annie Henrietta Allen, 33, widow, now of Chatswood, Sydney, was appointed woman sanitary inspector to the city. She tendered high credentials from England.

EVELEIGH ROBBERY.

HOBART ARREST.

SAMUEL FAULKINER'S CASE.

STILL UNDECIDED.

HOBART, Friday.

The case of Samuel O. Faulkiner, who was arrested at Hobart on July 2 in connection with the robbery of £2000 at Sydney, is not yet satisfactorily disposed of, as far as the Tasmanian police are concerned.

After Faulkiner's arrest he appeared at the Hobart Police Court, where Detective Pattinson, of Sydney, applied for his remand to that city, on a charge of harbouring Ryan, the man charged with the robbery, at Melbourne, on June 18. Faulkiner raised the point as to whether the Court had power to remand him to Sydney when the warrant alleged that his offence was committed in Melbourne. The Magistrate overruled the contention, but gave Faulkiner the chance of applying to the Tasmanian Supreme Court for the right of habeas corpus. Faulkiner applied through Mr. C. S. Page; and the right was granted, and he was afterwards discharged. Directly Faulkiner got outside the Court he was re-arrested, and later appeared again at the police court, an adjournment for eight days being granted, in order to allow Mr. Page to secure affidavits from Melbourne to prove an alibi.

To-day the case was resumed. The Solicitor-General, Mr. D. E. Chambers, appeared on behalf of the Crown; and Mr. C. S. Page again represented the accused.

Mr. Page announced that he had obtained three affidavits from Melbourne, which went to show that it was impossible for accused to have harboured Ryan at Sydney on June 26.

The Solicitor-General said that he objected to taking the affidavits, and submitted that Mr. Page could show no grounds whatever upon which Mr. Wise could receive them. The Crown had no chance of cross-examining. There was another objection to make—There was no evidence that accused was the Faulkiner referred to in the affidavits.

The Magistrate said he had made up his mind to send accused back to Sydney in custody of Detective Pattinson, of New South Wales. He, however, withheld his signature to the warrant to allow accused if he wished to appeal to a higher Court through his counsel.

RELEASED PRISONER.

AN EXPLANATION.

BY THE ATTORNEY-GENERAL.

PERTH (W.A.), Friday.

To a further statement in regard to the Bennett case, published to-day, the Attorney-General (Mr. Walker), says:—"I can scarcely credit the remarks of Colonel Hoskin as to the action of the Salvation Army in dealing with the case. On April 27 Major Hoad wrote to me and said that while in the eastern States he had interviewed Colonel Hoskin, who said he was quite prepared, if Bennett were released, to meet the boat and provide a home for him. The letter added that Major Hoad was prepared to secure a boat ticket for Bennett, and take charge of him, prior to the boat leaving. A letter written to Major Hoad by Bennett's mother, and given me by the Major, may be of public interest. It says, 'Just a few lines to thank you for what you have done for Bob.' Bennett also wrote to me and said, 'you could accept this as a pledge that you shall never have cause to regret your action towards me.'

Continuing, Mr. Walker said, "The more I studied the case the more I was convinced that drunkenness and a moral disease were the cause of this man's crime. In sentencing Bennett to a flogging, which the Act says shall be passed, in addition to imprisonment, the Judge said, 'I say it is a repulsive task, not because of any objection I have to flogging, but because I venture to say no Judge in any other State would think of ordering punishment of this kind on a man in your state.' Then his Honor went on to say if the evidence of Dr. Seed is correct, you are a weak-minded man, and I am quite sure he is correct in saying that the operations you have undergone tend to increase your mental infirmity.' Afterwards he sentenced the man to be flogged, but 'as little as possible,' and, as a matter of fact, the flogging was not inflicted.

"I have received several letters, expressing appreciation of my action in releasing Bennett. One of these was sent by his counsel, Mr. C. Penny, and another from Messrs. R. Hayes and Co., solicitors, who presented the petition for his release.

"I have been asked why, when I released Bennett from gaol, I did not plunge him into a lunatic or other asylum. Unfortunately, a man may have the disease of impulse, and yet have a sound mind, as far as the test goes, for a lunatic asylum. We have no institution for the care of treatment of abnormal instincts or impulses. "We must," concluded Mr. Walker, "rise superior to passion, and deal coolly with these moral aberrations in society."

ENGINEERS.

STRIKE AT ANNANDALE.

PYRMONT TROUBLE.

The time limit allowed to non-unionists employed at the engineering workshops of Messrs. Davies, Shephard, and Co., Bridge-road, Annandale, expired yesterday, and when the eligible men (11 in all) still declined to join the Amalgamated Society of Engineers, the unionists of that society would not continue working. Thirty-one engineers downed tools at mid-day, "Australasian" engineers being included in the number.

No change was reported in the position at the Pyrmont works of the Colonial Sugar Refining Company, Ltd. It was explained, on behalf of the company, that out of 200 men employed at the engineering shop there were 51 men out on strike. In reply to a question, a representative official said, "The company does not inquire whether men are unionists or non-unionists, as long as they are good and competent workmen. The trouble does not affect the refinery."

The State organiser for the Amalgamated Society of Engineers, Mr. A. E. Dengate, stated:—"Any of the five men objected to at Pyrmont can join the union upon payment of 5s. The rules for industrial members provide for payments of 2s 6d when proposed, 2s 6d on the night of admission, 4d for a copy of the rules, and 4d for the first week's contribution. Thus, for 5s 8d these men could be admitted to industrial membership, and all trouble would be over."

ESSENDON BY-ELECTION.

EX-PREMIER'S VIEWS.

Mr. G. A. Elmslie, M.L.A., leader of the Victorian Labour party and ex-Premier of Victoria, who arrived in Sydney by the Melbourne express yesterday, said in reference to the Labour win at the Essendon by-election:—"The victory was a great one, and would have been even greater had Mr. Watt been the opponent instead of Dr. Martell. Mr. Watt knew all along that his seat was 'shaky,' and he wasn't game to face another election for that constituency.

"One of the main reasons why our party returned a minority of 1500 votes into a majority of 1200, is the disgust felt at the Victorian 'Liberal' Government refusing to give the Labour party fair play on the division of electorates. The result of the by-election should have an important bearing on the Federal elections."

BOORABIL.

ROYAL COMMISSION.

HEARING OPENED.

EXAMINATION OF WITNESSES.

The hearing of evidence in the purchase of Boorabil by the State Government was commenced by Mr. Justice Pring, sitting as a Royal Commission, in No. 1 Jury Court yesterday.

Mr. Rolin, K.C., instructed by Mr. Harknett, of the Crown Solicitor's Office, appeared to assist the Commissioner.

Mr. Rolin first called Mr. Niall, one of the former part-owners of Boorabil.

Mr. Hare, Under-Secretary for Lands, intimated that he appeared on behalf of the Department of Lands.

Mr. John M'Laughlin appeared as solicitor for Mr. Wilkinson.

His Honor said he understood that the Boorabil Bill had been assented to, and he would like to have a copy of it.

Mr. Rolin directed attention to the fact that Messrs. Wilkinson, Jones, and Osborne were in court.

His Honor thought it better that the three should withdraw from the court till called to give evidence.

MR. NIALL'S EVIDENCE.

James Mansfield Niall said he was general manager of Goldsbrough, Mort, and Co., carrying on business in Sydney and Melbourne. Alexander Eric M'Leod and R. G. Case were joint owners with him in his private capacity of Boorabil. In the early part of last year M'Leod met Wilkinson, and witness saw Wilkinson later on. M'Leod was on Canonbar station, near Nyngan. Witness had a conversation with Wilkinson, but did not discuss the terms of his employment, as Wilkinson told him that he had already made arrangements with M'Leod. Witness first met Wilkinson on April 7, 1913, negotiations between M'Leod and Wilkinson having been entered into in March previous. Witness produced the correspondence between M'Leod and Wilkinson. In April, 1913, Wilkinson informed him by letter that the advisory board had recommended the purchase of the property by the Government.

Mr. Rolin referred his Honor to the advisory board report of March 18, as to what the advisory board had recommended.

Witness said that he received a telegram from M'Leod stating that he had decided to accept £30,710 from the Government for the property. Early in March, 1913, M'Leod told him that he had met Wilkinson, who told him there was a probability of Boorabil being resumed in view of the construction of the railway from Wyalong to Cudgellico. M'Leod then suggested that it should be sold, and witness authorised him to sell it. M'Leod said that Wilkinson had been engaged, and witness informed him that there should be no elastic arrangements as to the commission to be paid, but a definite arrangement with Wilkinson. Witness knew that the railway from Wyalong to Cudgellico was being spoken of at the time, but he could not recall whether at the time he knew that the bill authorising it had been passed.

5 PER CENT.

The arrangement by M'Leod with Wilkinson, said witness, was reduced to writing, and was that he should be paid 5 per cent. on the amount of the purchase money.

On April 2, 1913, a letter was written by M'Leod to Mr. Barlow, Wilkinson's partner, concerning the commission to be paid. Witness produced the receipt dated November 18, 1913, for the commission finally paid Messrs. Barlow and Wilkinson on the sale of the property to the Government.

His Honor drew attention to the fact that the commission originally fixed was to be £2000.

Witness replied that the £2000 was to be on the £38,000 estimate being realised, which was the amount they first asked for the property. £1610 11s was paid on the lesser amount, which the property brought, at 5 per cent.

Mr. Rolin: Is that not an unusually large commission?

Witness: No; not considering the reports to be made. The ordinary commission, he added, would be 1½ or 2 per cent. on such an amount, on the average. This Boorabil commission was getting on to 5 per cent., and was to cover all the local reports on the leases and freeholds, so as to establish the value of land. There was, witness explained, a great deal more time occupied with the Government in these transactions than with private people, and the sale took 10 months to complete. Any agreement arrived at by the Government was subject to the ratification of the House. £65 commission had been paid in advance, and was deducted from the amount paid. That £1610 was the only commission paid on the sale of the property by the partnership, either directly or indirectly. Witness said the partnership accepted Government debentures at par for the property.

FURTHER CLAIM.

Witness said he knew at the time of no arrangement between Wilkinson and Osborne and Jones, the first he knew of it being on February 14, 1914. That intimation came in the form of a letter enclosing correspondence between Osborne and Jones and Barlow and Wilkinson, in which Osborne and Jones claimed commission from Wilkinson. In one letter, Wilkinson said: "I have refrained from mentioning the names of Osborne and Jones till now." This letter was received three months after the commission had been paid.

His Honor read the letter from Wilkinson to the co-owners of Boorabil, in which Wilkinson said he had refrained from bothering them about the commission, which Osborne and Jones were claiming from him (Wilkinson). The position, Wilkinson wrote, was becoming acute, as Osborne and Jones were threatening to sue him, and he had no defence to their action.

Witness said that was the first he heard of Osborne and Jones.

His Honor read Wilkinson's letter to the co-owners, in which he suggested that M'Leod could not say he did not know Osborne and Jones in the matter.

FURTHER COMMISSION DISCLAIMED.

The further correspondence showed that the owners of Boorabil disclaimed their liability for anything beyond the £1610 already paid, and said they had nothing to do with any sub-agents that Barlow and Wilkinson might have chosen to employ in the matter.

Witness said that he did not know that Osborne and Jones were being employed by Wilkinson.

Mr. Rolin: You adhere to your statement that you never heard the names of Osborne and Jones in connection with the matter?—Yes.

That is, until this time in February, except for that reference to Jones in that letter of October?—Yes.

Did you never hear their names from McLeod or from anybody?—No. I heard Wilkinson tell me that he owed money, and I understood he owed it to other people.

What was the occasion?—Wilkinson asked for an advance, which I would not give him, and I believe he mentioned the name of Caldwell and Watt.

His Honor: What was the amount he asked you for?—About £50 advance.

Mr. Rolin: Was that the time you gave Wilkinson £65?—No; I did not give him that; M'Leod gave it to him.

His Honor informed witness that he did not think he would be required again, but if he were he would receive due notice.

MR. WILKINSON EXAMINED.

William Boyce Wilkinson, land agent, was the next witness, and said he had carried on business at Dubbo and in Sydney. He first met M'Leod on a railway journey from Nyngan to Sydney. M'Leod arranged with him to pay him £2000 commission on the property if sold to the Government for £38,000, and said he would pay any outside expenses. That arrangement was not confirmed by writing. Next day witness called on the Under-Secretary for Lands, Mr. Hare, with regard to the matter. He thought the Under-Secretary advised him to see the Advisory Board, which he did. The Advisory Board inspected Boorabil immediately, and witness subsequently visited Wyalong and made a report on the values of the land in the district. He also got a report from Mr. Bolger, the owner of an adjoining property. On April 21, 1913, M'Leod accepted the Advisory Board's estimate of the value for an immediate purchase. Witness said that Mr. A. Kelly, who at the time was member for the district, introduced him to Mr. Trefle, Minister for Lands, and recommended the acquisition of the property for closer settlement purposes. That was during the initiation of the proposition, the purchase being recommended by the Advisory Board on April 30, 1913, for £30,000. When M'Leod signed his acceptance witness thought the matter was settled, irrespective of any reference to Parliament.

His Honor: Why do you say that?

Witness said he thought there was a question as to whether Parliamentary approval need be obtained.

Mr. Rolin: Did you know the Under-Secretary advised against it?—Witness said he knew there was some delay, the objection being as to the form of payment. Witness then interviewed Niall as to whether he would accept Government subscribed stock in payment. He understood that Mr. Trefle then approved of the purchase. Mr. Trefle met him subsequently in the street, and told him that the Cabinet had turned the matter down.

PARLIAMENTARY AGENTS.

Witness said he subsequently received an official intimation that the Cabinet had rejected the proposal for purchase on June 14. Witness wrote in reply that there was already an agreement by the Government to buy. Witness told Mr. Kelly of this, and Mr. Kelly, who was then ill and could not leave his room, told him Mr. M'Gowen, Mr. Trefle, and Mr. Holman had called and seen him, and told him that the proposition would be revived. Witness then saw Mr. Jones, M.L.A., who, he knew, had land experience in the Moree district, and explained that the matter was hung up. Before that M'Leod told him to get finality and to employ sub-agents.

His Honor: Did he specify any particular class of agents?

Witness: I don't know that he did, but I suggested Parliamentary agents.

Mr. Rolin: Meaning members who were land agents?—Yes. I had very strong reasons for doing that, as there was a circular preventing land agents interviewing the Lands Department, except through the Information Bureau. "I could never see the Minister. It was only a matter of courtesy that the Under-Secretary would see me, but a member of Parliament could walk in."

Mr. Rolin: How long had the circular been in existence?—I think it was issued by Mr. Neilsen.

Did you suggest to M'Leod who would be the Parliamentary agents?—Yes.

Did you mention names?—I mentioned Jones, because he understood pastoral matters. I saw Jones and told him the whole position, and asked him if he could get finality. I said: "You can see the Minister, having the right as a member of Parliament of interviewing him." I said: "What would you charge for the whole thing?" And he replied, "£100." I said I would make it £150, and went back to the Hotel Australia, and told M'Leod, who said: "You did perfectly right."

INTERVIEWING MR. HOLMAN.

Witness added that Jones told him subsequently that he had been interviewing the Minister for Lands, and Mr. Holman, and the latter had said he could not see what was the delay.

Witness, in reply to Mr. Rolin, said he did not always keep copies of the letters he sent out. He was asked what was the difficulty that made him increase the offer of £180 to £200 in June, 1913, and he replied "It was getting the Minister to do something."

His Honor pointed out that the letter increasing the offer to £200 was written on Osborne and Jones' office paper.

Witness: I should say they must have asked me for an increase.

His Honor: That is what I should say, too.

Witness said that at the time it was mooted that there might be a dissolution of Parliament. "If so," witness added, "I would have lost my eight months' work."

"Can you suggest," asked Mr. Rolin, "why Osborne and Jones would be more stimulated by £200 than £150?"

MINISTRY AND CAUCUS.

His Honor: What had Jones to do?

Witness added that the Ministry was controlled by the Labour caucus.

Mr. Rolin: It had affected you, Mr. Wilkinson, that they were Labour Ministers?—Yes. Nobody would go to anybody but Labour land agents to get anything done.

His Honor questioned witness what he meant when he asked Jones to get finality in the matter. Did he mean by means of Parliamentary influence?

Witness: No; but that he had access to the Ministers, and was always in touch with them.

Mr. Rolin: Plus the fact that he had a vote in the caucus and in the House?

Witness: No. I think if I had gone to the president of the Labour Council I should have done better.

You meant for influence in the party?—Yes.

It was in that view, Mr. Wilkinson, that you went to Osborne and Jones?—Yes.

Was there anything said to the effect that Osborne and Jones should make any improper use of the money?—No; it was never suggested.

MOSS VALE CABINET.

Witness said that he saw Jones, and told him that as Osborne was at Moss Vale, where the Cabinet was holding a meeting, if Osborne had any strength he could get something definite from the Ministers. He then telegraphed to him offering Osborne a further £50 beyond the £200 promised. He told Jones that Mr. Niall was tired of the whole thing, and would withdraw the property, and if it was resumed by the Government in the ordinary way no commission would be paid to any agents. M'Leod was more anxious to sell the property than Niall.

THE EXTRA COMMISSION.

His Honor asked witness if he was suggesting that Niall and M'Leod were to pay the £250 he (Wilkinson) had promised Jones and Osborne.

Witness: Yes.

Mr. Rolin: That stimulation of the extra £50 led to Osborne's success?—Yes.

You were informed on July 21 that the Cabinet had decided to accept it?—Yes.

Did you pay Osborne and Jones the £250?—No.

Did you pay them part of it?—No. But I lent them £25 each.

His Honor remarked to witness that his defence in the action Osborne and Jones had brought against him to recover £150 was that he did not owe the money.

Witness said his defence was that he was instructed by M'Leod to pay the money, and that he (Wilkinson) was only an agent.

RATE OF COMMISSION.

Mr. Rolin cross-examined Wilkinson regarding the terms of his letters to Osborne and Jones as to who was to pay the £250 promised to Osborne and Jones. "You say: 'If successful, I can afford to pay more than £150.' Does it not look, Mr. Wilkinson, as if you were talking about something coming out of your own commission?"

Witness: If I used the word "afford," I might have used it inadvisedly.

His Honor: If the owners were to pay this amount, why did you not include it in the account?

Witness: I had sent in the item as outstanding. He added that he did not think Niall knew of the arrangement witness set out he had made with M'Leod, that "outside expenses" should be paid in addition to the £2000.

Mr. Rolin: Was not 5 per cent. a very large commission itself?

Witness said it was, but the work he had to do could not be done by an ordinary agent.

Mr. Rolin: Perhaps not, but you were paid double the usual commission.

Witness said that he had had to halve the £1600 he received from the owners of Boorabil with Mr. Barlow, who had also been instructed to sell it to the Government, and he added "If I pay Osborne and Jones this £250, I only get £400 or £500 for about 10 months' work."

DEPARTMENTAL REGULATIONS.

Witness was examined by Mr. Hare as to the effect he had alleged the departmental regulation had on him in making him employ political land agents. "Were you ever," Mr. Hare asked, "denied free access to myself or others in the department?" Witness replied:

"No; but I refused to go while the regulation was hanging over my head."

Mr. Hare: Do you remember any instance in connection with Boorabil where I had denied you audience?—No.

The departmental regulation in question was produced by Mr. Hare, who was next examined, and on his Honor remarking that it referred to all land agents, whether members or not, he said that when a member of Parliament came to the department the officers did not always know whether he came in his capacity as a member or as a land agent. His Honor remarked that Wilkinson complained that members received priority over other callers, and witness said that he always took callers in their order of coming, whether members of Parliament or not. He personally did not know of any department giving preference to members of Parliament when they called.

His Honor: As far as I can gather, there seems to be a general impression that this is so.

MR. OSBORNE'S EVIDENCE.

John Percy Osborne, a general agent, trading as Osborne and Jones, in conjunction with Mr. Jones, said he was member of the Legislative Assembly, representing Paddington. Prior to getting into Parliament he was a shop assistant. In June, 1913, his firm received a visit from Wilkinson, who said he was agent for the owners of the Boorabil Estate, and as in the negotiations with the Government delay had occurred, he was desirous of reaching finality, because Mr. Niall was impatient, and threatened to withdraw it. Wilkinson was anxious, as he said his commission was to be £800, and he was in danger of losing it if there was no sale. In reply to a question, Wilkinson said that Mr. Andy Kelly, M.L.A., had referred him to them.

MR. KELLY INTERVIEWED.

Wilkinson, continued witness, said it was a good proposition from the Government standpoint, and could not be objected to. Nothing was fixed as to remuneration at this interview, as the firm desired to know whether the matter was all right. Jones saw Mr. Kelly, who was anxious that the property should be secured for closer settlement. They then decided to take the matter up for £100, the work they were engaged for being to urge the acceptance of the offer before Niall withdrew it. Witness went to the Lands Department and saw Mr. Hare, who told him the matter was under consideration. Witness saw the Minister, who seemed in favour of the purchase. Wilkinson, who was getting more anxious, voluntarily increased the fee to be paid the firm. On June 19, Wilkinson came with a letter from Niall, expressing disgust at the delay, and saying that he would have to withdraw it. Later Wilkinson said M'Leod was in town, and he had received an extension of time. Jones interviewed Mr. Holman, and asked him if it had been placed before Cabinet, and asked him his opinion of it. Mr. Holman said he would look into it, and if he thought the property should be resumed he would expedite it.

PROCEEDINGS AT MOSS VALE.

Witness informed Mr. Trefle of Niall's attitude. Mr. Holman informed Jones that there was no objection to the resumption, and he would expedite it. Witness was in Moss Vale organising in connection with the Wollondilly by-election, and Mr. Holman came there about a week later. Any suggestion that he had gone there to see Mr. Holman was absolutely untrue. A Cabinet meeting was held there, and before it was held he did not mention the Boorabil matter to the Premier. Subsequently, after he had received Wilkinson's telegram, he mentioned to Mr. Holman that the matter had not been concluded, and Mr. Holman expressed surprise. On his (witness's) return to Sydney he received a letter that the purchase had been approved by the Cabinet. Mr. Trefle explained to him that the matter had been pushed aside by the Cabinet in favour of dealing with more important matters. After the Cabinet had approved, witness considered that the firm had earned its commission, and he took no further interest in it.

A VOTE.

Witness said he voted for the matter in Parliament the same way as on any other Government motion. The matter was not a party or contentious one. The resolution was carried by 22 votes to 15. He considered that his work was concluded in July.

His Honor: If that is so, why did you in your action claim for work done up to September?

Witness said he had not given his solicitor instructions to that effect. The Boorabil division in the Legislative Assembly was on September 18. He did not know till now that the Cabinet had first rejected the proposal for purchase.

His Honor: Was it not mentioned by Mr. Trefle and Mr. Holman in any of the conversations with you that they had considered the matter and rejected it?

Witness: I don't remember.

His Honor: When you were urging the matter did anybody say, "This matter has been before us, and we have rejected it?"

Witness: No, it was never put that way to me.

His Honor: Your commission depended upon this matter going through. If Cabinet had rejected it, you do not mean to say you would have claimed your commission?

Witness: No.

ADVOCACY.

His Honor: I want to know what use was your advocacy?

Witness: Well, I don't know, I am sure. Wilkinson evidently thought we would be useful.

His Honor: But you must know. Was it because you were a member of Parliament? What made your advocacy worth £250?

Witness: I don't think that gave us a pull.

His Honor: What gave you a pull?

Witness: I don't think we had any more influence or pull than any other reputable citizen who knew the people concerned, and were able to talk to them on a matter of this description.

Mr. Rolin: Is there not a standing order of the House against a member voting in a matter in which he is interested?—Yes. Directly pecuniarily interested.

Mr. Rolin read the standing order to the effect that if a member took part in a division in which he had a direct pecuniary interest, his vote should be disallowed. "Had you not," asked counsel, "a direct pecuniary interest in this matter going through the House?"—I did not consider so.

Did you consider it at all?—No.

AN IMPROPER THING.

His Honor (to witness): I suppose you can see now that it was rather an improper thing for you to vote?—Yes; I had not any experience before, but, judging from the construction—

His Honor: It is not a question of judging by the construction. There is no question that you were interested, whether you are right or not in saying that your work was done before that.

Witness: I have no hesitation in admitting that certainly it was an indiscreet thing to do under the circumstances, but the figures will prove that it was not necessary for me to vote.

His Honor: That is neither one way nor the other. The fact remains that you did vote, and apparently it had some influence in putting money into your pocket.

QUESTION OF DISCLOSURE.

Mr. Rolin: You did not disclose to the House that you were interested in this proposition to the extent of £250?—No.

Did you disclose to any member of the Ministry whom you approached?—I did not disclose the amount of commission, but they knew I was interested in a business capacity.

His Honor: How did they know that?

Witness: Because I told them I was pecuniarily interested.

Whom did you tell?

Witness: Both Mr. Trefle and Mr. Holman. They were both aware that I was interested from a business standpoint. I made it plain to them that I was engaged by Wilkinson.

Mr. Rolin: Not as a matter of politics?—No.

Did you pay any of the money you received to anybody else?—Not a copper.

Did you expressly tell Mr. Trefle or Mr. Holman that this would mean something in your pocket?—Yes: I made that very plain.

I see. Whom did you say that to?—Both of them, I think.

Mr. Rolin: At this time parties in the House were supposed at least to be pretty evenly divided, were they not?—Yes; they were fairly evenly divided.

Your party had a majority of one?—Yes; that occurred at one stage of the proceedings.

PART PAYMENTS.

Proceeding, the witness said he received two cheques for £25 each, which he considered were for part payment for his services. He had been pestering Wilkinson to settle the account, but he demurred, as he held that he was not liable for the amount. When Wilkinson paid him the sum he said he looked upon it as an advance.

His Honor: Was there not some suggestion that it was a loan?—I do not think so.

Was there not something said about being hard up?—Both of us were heavily involved, on account of the election, and we wanted the money. I had an arrangement with my partner to forward him a portion of the money.

Mr. Rolin: Then you regarded the first cheque paid to you as being your share?—Yes.

The second cheque for £25 you sent to Jones?—No, I kept that for myself.

What banks were they on?—I cannot say. It was on a bank near Hunter-street.

Were the cheques crossed?—No.

Does your firm keep books?—We have only a bank book. We do not do much business; most of our clients are constituents of mine.

His Honor: You do not keep any books? How do you manage with regard to your income tax returns?—We can manage that with our bank-book.

The witness said the office of the firm was at the time of the transaction situated at 50 Elizabeth-street. They had a lad in their employ to whom they paid 25s a week. Questioned as to the number of transactions which the firm put through during the past twelve months, the witness said he had little recollection of them, but on being pressed, he stated that one of the transactions was the sale of a terrace of houses in one of the suburbs, the commission for which worked out at £36.

Mr. Rolin: Have you a banking account for the firm of Osborne and Jones?—Yes.

Have you settled up that matter of the £25 with him yet?—No; I have not.

He is still waiting?—Yes.

MR. JONES CALLED.

George Alfred Jones, carrying on business as an agent and printer, said that he represented Gwydir in the State Parliament up to last year. He was in Parliament eleven years altogether, two years for the Inverell constituency, and when that electorate was wiped out he represented Gwydir. Up to the present time he had been engaged in agency business for two years and three months. Regarding the Boorabil transaction, the witness said he was the first member of the firm of Osborne and Jones, that Wilkinson saw. He thought he met him in the street, and said he wanted to see him to discuss a business matter. He (witness) asked him to come to the office. He did not know him prior to the negotiations being opened up. An interview took place between Wilkinson, Osborne, and witness, and the Boorabil matter was discussed. An offer of £100 was made by Wilkinson in connection with the matter. Witness was a printer by trade, but, as he was born and bred on a farm, he had some knowledge of the value of country land. Though he had worked as a printer since he was 14 he considered that he knew a good deal about land values.

Mr. Rolin: When the matter of the £100 was mentioned what were you and your partner to do?—We were to make an effort to sell the land to the Government.

Had you any knowledge of Boorabil?—No; I consulted with Mr. Kelly, the member for the district, and he strongly advised me in favour of the purchase.

What did the estate consist of?—Some freehold and improvement leases.

Practically, that was the extent of your knowledge?—Yes.

Did you know how long the leases had to run?—I think some of them had three years to run.

Did you read the report of the Closer Settlement Advisory Board?—Yes.

When did you read it?—I think after Wilkinson spoke to us.

But the report was confidential; how could you see it?—It was probably when the matter came up before Parliament.

MR. TREFLE FAVOURABLE.

After seeing Wilkinson, the witness stated that he saw Mr. Holman and Mr. Trefle, and the latter told him that he considered it a satisfactory proposal.

His Honor: When Mr. Wilkinson spoke to you, did he not say that the Cabinet had considered the proposal and rejected it?—No.

Did Mr. Holman or Mr. Trefle tell you?—No.

They did not tell you, though you were discussing the matter with them?—No.

When was the first time you discovered that the Cabinet had considered the proposal?—This is the first time I heard it.

That is most extraordinary. You knew nothing about it?—No.

Mr. Rolin: Surely you must have known that the Cabinet had turned the proposal down?—I do not think so.

How often have you seen the Ministers?—I think I saw Mr. Trefle once and Mr. Holman twice.

Now, in a letter dated June 20, you speak of the reconsideration of the proposition.—Yes, but I did not know that it had been turned down. I thought consideration was deferred.

The witness said that when the matter came before the House he voted on it, and did not consider that he was interested.

LEGAL ADVICE.

His Honor: When you brought this action against Wilkinson did you give instructions to your attorney—I think Osborne and myself were present.

Did you give the date appearing in your statement of claim?—Osborne did.

But you were present?—Yes.

Does your vote in the House appeal to you now as being wrong?—Well, if I had to go through the same proceedings over again I do not think I would do it.

Mr. Rolin: Did you know that Wilkinson had paid Osborne £50?—Yes, I learned that after the election.

Have you been paid since?—No.

How did it come that you rendered an account for £250 to Wilkinson?—I think he wanted to show the account to his principals.

In answer to further questions, witness said a letter was written to M'Leod regarding the commission for the sale of the property, and he referred them to Wilkinson and Barlow, as he understood that their commission was to meet all charges against them. The firm of Osborne and Jones did not do much business.

"BUYING INFLUENCE."

His Honor: Is not this the position? It was simply your influence that was bought?—It may be that, or it may be the access to Ministers that we had.

You had nothing to urge upon them beyond what they already knew?—Except that the property would be withdrawn if the transaction did not go through.

But it had already been rejected.

At this stage the Commission adjourned until 10 o'clock on Monday morning.

GOODNESS
IN THE CUP.
One cup of good tea is worth any number of poor ones. You can always depend upon Robur to make a cup of good tea—even the No. 3 grade is good—it's not fine, but then it's not expensive—still it's good.
We recommend the No. 1 grade; it is delicious tea; it is refreshing; its golden creamy colour is enticing, and no tea is more saving.

WATERSIDE WORKERS.

TECHNICAL BREACH.

MR. JUSTICE POWERS'S DECISION.

MELBOURNE, Friday.

Mr. Justice Powers, in the Arbitration Court to-day, found that the Waterside Workers' Federation of Australia had committed a technical breach of the award in regard to ceasing work at Mackay, but that no breach had been committed as to the refusal of the coal-lumpers at Melbourne to work overtime on the first day of the arrival of a steamer or on a Saturday afternoon.

An application had been made by the Commonwealth Steamship Owners' Association to compel the Waterside Workers' Federation to comply with the award of Mr. Justice Higgins, made in May last, or for a variation of the award, which would make the federation responsible for the compliance of its branches and members with the agreement set forth in the award. The Melbourne coal-workers had declined to work overtime in the times mentioned, and the wharf-labourers at Mackay and Flat Top had declined to work unless an allowance for travelling time was paid in excess of that provided for in the award.

Mr. Justice Powers said he would give his formal award later, but with regard to the work at Mackay, he had decided that a technical breach of the award of the Arbitration Court had been made. In regard to the refusal of the members of the union to work after 5 p.m. on the first day of a steamer's arrival or on a Saturday afternoon, he was of opinion that there had been no breach. The applications to make desired amendments in the award would be adjourned till August 21. As both parties desired to have the award amended in certain directions each side should give notice to the other as to the amendments it wished to apply for. He understood that Mr. Cohen would ask in respect of the Mackay dispute that the whole of the time, including travelling time, should be dealt with separately. That point he considered should be dealt with on its merits. He arrived at his conclusion on evidence, and not on any ruling in the judgment of Mr. Justice Higgins. He held that the federation was liable for breaches of award. It would, in his opinion, be very unfair if any President of the court allowed members of a union to have roses in the form of handsomely-increased wages without the thorns of the liability to abide by the conditions imposed by the award. An award must be either binding on both parties or on neither of them.

A COLLIERY CASE.

IN THE INDUSTRIAL COURT.

The Industrial Court sat in Newcastle to-day, with the Chief Industrial Magistrate, Mr. G. C. Addison, presiding.

The Stockton Borehole Company appeared as defendants to a prosecution instituted by Inspector Gregory. One summons laid against the company was in regard to an award of the Coal-mining North No. 2 Board, but by consent it was withdrawn. The second summons was in connection with No. 3 Board for non-payment of two miners for the setting and drawing of four chocks, for which the award said they were entitled to 6d for each chock. Mr. W. Sparke, of Messrs. Sparke and Millard, who appeared for the defendant company, raised an objection that, because the first summons had been withdrawn the second was res judicata, on the ground that the offences in the two summonses were the same, and that the consent of the Magistrate to the withdrawal of one was tantamount to a dismissal. The fact that there were two different awards did not matter. The main issue was in the offence that was alleged.

During the hearing of the case another point arose, as to whether the wording of the award, "setting and drawing temporary chocks," etc., could be taken to mean drawing and setting chocks, as it was shown that men who had set chocks had in some instances not drawn them, while others, who had drawn chocks, had later on set them. The magistrate reserved his decision on the case, and also on the points of law.

FRIENDLY SOCIETIES.

FAILURE TO FURNISH RETURNS.

MELBOURNE, Friday.

The first prosecution under section 14 of the Friendly Societies Act, 1890, took place in the District Court to-day. Under the section societies are bound to furnish returns of receipts and expenditure and the number of members before February 1 of each year, to the Government Statist. The maximum penalty is £10, and minimum £1.

The Protestant Alliance Friendly Society, which pleaded guilty to a charge of neglect, was fined £2 and £3 3s costs.

The Grand Secretary, John Callaghan, was also proceeded against. Counsel for the Crown Law Department said that the Act held not only the society, but also the secretary and other officers, responsible for failure to furnish returns.

Defendant was fined £1.

The Hibernian Australasian Catholic Benefit Society, which pleaded guilty to neglect, was fined £2 and £3 3s costs, and the secretary was fined £1.

The United Ancient Order of Druids was fined £1, with £3 3s costs.

MOUNT MORGAN COAL LEASES.

OPERATIONS SUSPENDED.

ROCKHAMPTON, Friday.

Operations on the coal-mining leases held by the Mount Morgan Gold Mining Company at Blackwater, in the Mackenzie coalfields, have been totally suspended during the week.

When asked to-night of the reason, the general manager of the company, Mr. Magnus, stated that all preliminary work was now completed, and the company was only waiting for the Government to construct the railway from Blackwater to their leases, a distance of four and a half miles. A shaft had been sunk for a distance of 270ft, and two good seams of coal has been struck. The first seam, which was 6ft 9in thick, was struck at 223ft, and the second seam, which was 7ft 6in in thickness at 263ft. Mr. Magnus added that only 17 men were affected.

LONG-DISTANCE TELEPHONES.

MELBOURNE AND ADELAIDE.

MELBOURNE, Friday.

A metallic circuit telephone line has been erected between Melbourne and Adelaide, and from to-morrow it will be available for public business.

The first conversation over the wire was carried on between the Postmaster-General (Mr. Wynne), who is now in Adelaide on his way to Madrid, and the Acting Secretary to the central postal administration (Mr. C. E. Bright.) The line stretches over about 495 miles, and will place Adelaide in the same close communication with Melbourne as Sydney has enjoyed for nearly two years.

THE KANOWNA TROUBLE.

CHARGES AGAINST CREW.

MELBOURNE, Friday.

The cases arising out of a disturbance on the steamer Kanowna on June 27 were heard at the City Court to-day. James Carrigan, a trimmer, was fined 5s, with 42s costs for drunkenness. The charge against Thomas Wilson, ship's engineer, of having assaulted Carrigan, was dismissed. Twenty-four firemen and seamen were charged with having deserted from the Kanowna, but the prosecutions were withdrawn.

NORTH COAST RAILWAY.

WORKMEN REMOVED.

BOWRAVILLE, Friday.

The hope was entertained last week that work on the railway construction was to be continued, but about 300 men, with horses and carts, have been sent away. When things become settled again only three steam navvies, each having about 20 men, and a few others, will be working between Macksville and Kempsey. Although all these men have been dispensed with, the staff remains, comparatively speaking, the same. The removal of so many navvies will have a serious effect on the progress of the work of construction.

TRANS-AUSTRALIAN RAILWAY.

PERTH, Friday.

Speaking on the completion of the sleeper contract to-day, Sir John Forrest said if nothing unexpected happened to delay the construction of the trans-Australian line, there was every prospect of the whole of the rails being laid before the end of the year.

DEATH OF MR. H. W. DIVER.

Playgoers will learn with regret of the death of Mr. Harry W. Diver, who died last night at Milford, Victoria-street, Potts Point. The news will come as a shock to the public, since the actor created for our stage the mysterious role of Manson in "The Servant in the House" at the Repertory Theatre last week, sustaining the central character bravely in the face of increasing difficulty until the close of Saturday night. He had been, however, a sufferer for two years past, and ultimately died of acute bronchitis.

The late Mr. Diver was born in Surrey, England, and was the grandson of Dr. Diver, of Highgate, London, and the son of Dr. Diver, of the same neighbourhood. His father practised also at Bombay, and eventually at Wellington (N.Z.), and his son was educated at Christchurch, and then went home to study medicine. However, the call of the stage was not to be resisted, and in the course of an excellent career he proved himself a good actor of innumerable parts. Elderly playgoers will remember him as supporting Frank Thornton upon that comedian's first visit; he was the "Dr. Bill" of Myra Kemble's tour; he was identified with the seasons of the ill-fated Amy Roselle and Arthur Dacre; and during the tour of Kyrle Bellew and Mrs. Brown Potter he played Angelotti in "La Tosca." While heavy lead with the Messrs. MacMahon's dramatic company at the Lyceum Theatre 15 years ago, he married the pretty and graceful ingenue of the season, Miss Helen Burdette, the step-daughter of a noted old Australian actor, the late Lachlan McGowan. This lady, and their son of 14 years of age, survive him.

About a year later Mr. Diver made one of the hits of his career as Iago to the Othello of the late George Rignold at the Criterion Theatre, and he was admirable as the chivalrous and courtly Comte de Guiche when Henry Lee appeared as "Cyrano de Bergerac." A character for which he was applauded in Melbourne was that of Admiral Lord Nelson in "Mariners of England." The artist also possessed a talent for suggesting the weird, and played two or three horrible characters with success in melodrama (which he much disliked) at the Adelphi Theatre. Indeed, it was at that playhouse that he took a finely organised benefit upon his retirement and through ill-health on August 1, 1912. The deceased, who was esteemed for the quiet refinement of his manners, was 49 years old at the time of his death.

The Bulli's propeller, which had been disconnected before leaving Newcastle, was connected at Auckland, and she will in future be engaged in towing the Colonial Sugar Refining Company's barges to and from Chelsea.

AUSTRALIAN WEATHER.

THE "HERALD" MAP.

The high pressure which on Thursday was centrally situated over the eastern district of New South Wales has now assumed an elongated shape. It extends from North Island to the southern goldfields of Western Australia.

There is an indentation in the isobars of this high pressure about Adelaide, which denotes the presence of an Antarctic disturbance. This low pressure was centrally situated over the Bight on Thursday but since then has surged southwards. Fine weather should rule generally, with many fogs and frosts, but there is still a possibility of showers in the SW.

Ocean Forecast:—Generally smooth to moderate. The rain depression in the Bight has filled up temporarily.

FINANCIAL.

TRUSTS AND COMBINES.

BENEFICIAL OR DETRIMENTAL?

METHOD OF CONTROL.

It is not yet too clear as to whether the trust system as applied to modern industrialism is beneficial or the reverse. True, that the very word is anathema to a large section of the people. Unduly impressed by the scare articles of the American yellow press they look upon anything like a complete organisation of industry as necessarily bad for the community. Dr. Woodrow Wilson has a clearer perception of the strength and weakness of the trust system as viewed from the standpoint of the public interest. He says:—

"Up to a certain point (and only up to a certain point) great combinations effect great economies in administration, and increase efficiency by simplifying and perfecting organisation; but, whether they effect economies or not, they can very easily determine prices by intimate agreement, so soon as they come to control a sufficient percentage of the product in any great line of business; and we know that they do. I am not drawing up an indictment against anybody. This is the natural history of such tariffs as are now contrived, as it is the natural history of all other governmental favours, and of all licenses to use the Government to help certain groups of individuals along in life.

"The fact is that the trusts have been formed, have gained all but complete control of the larger enterprises of the country, have fixed prices, and fixed them high so that profits might be rolled up that were thoroughly worth while, and that the tariff, with its artificial protections and stimulations, gave them the opportunity to do these things, and has safeguarded them in that opportunity. The trusts do not belong to the period of infant industries."

Our point of view is that trusts are not necessarily baneful. Eliminate competition and many wasteful elements, more particularly of distribution, are avoided. This tends to economy, and so reduced costs which benefit may be passed on to the public, or retained for the combine. Trusts should not be wiped out; they should be controlled. As has been pointed out, "industrial development is always in advance of legal machinery."

Mr. Charles R. Flint says that "the consolidation of manufacturing interests ensures cheaper production through the division of labour, and the bringing them under one control means continuous production. There is nothing so harmful both to capital and labour as spasmodic manufacture." It was stated in the New York Legislature that "it is as prejudicial to business interests to pass laws to forbid the combination of capital, as it would be to turn the universe back three hundred years, and pass laws forbidding the combination of labour. Laws should be passed facilitating the combinations of effort and means, whether these means are the muscle of the labourer or the accumulated wealth of the capitalist."

Mr. S. C. T. Dodd says: "Contrast the countries where industries are concentrated where capital is greatest and machinery most effective, with those where larger partnerships and corporations are almost unknown, where industry is not organised, and large aggregations of capital are not the rule. The condition of labour is always worst where capital is small. Business drifts in old ruts, cannot attempt new enterprises; manufacturing is done by hand or by defective machinery; products are dearer; wages lower; a greater number of labourers are idle, and their general condition much more deplorable. . . In every land wages are higher, and the condition of the labourer best where most capital is employed, and that capital most concentrated."

We are in a transitional period. Industries are rapidly being socialised. This process may take two forms. It may involve monopolisation by the State or municipality, or it may involve concentration in private hands. In the first case the community retains control. There are all the benefits of monopoly, but there is the counteracting disadvantage of redtape, government stroke, and the general inertia of the civil service, or the blundering and possible corruption of the municipality. In the second there are also the benefits of monopoly allied to that greater initiative born of personal interest, but there is the drawback that the trust, uncontrolled, may be operated solely in the interest of the trust, that is of its shareholders, quite irrespective of the welfare of the community as a whole.

In New South Wales there is no legislation dealing with trusts. In the Commonwealth we have the Australian Industries Preservation Act, which has so far been practically inoperative. In Victoria legislation is to be introduced in the State Parliament, which can be foreshadowed. In the proposed measure "commercial trust" will be defined as "any association or combination (whether incorporated or not) of any number of persons established either before or after the commencement of the Act, and either in Victoria or elsewhere, having for its objects:—

(a) The controlling, determining, or influencing the supply or demand or price of any goods in Victoria or elsewhere, or

(b) That of creating or maintaining in Victoria or elsewhere a monopoly, whether complete or partial, in the supply or demand of any goods.

"Association" will be held to include the union of a number of persons by or under any agreement of trust, whether temporary or permanent, and whether legally valid or not, and whether including any scheme, organisation, or any management or not.

"Member of a commercial trust" will be held to mean any of the constituted persons of that trust or any agent of that trust.

Every person will be held to commit an offence who either, as principal or agent, in respect of dealings in any goods, gives, offers, or agrees to give to any other person any rebate, refund, discount, concession, allowance, reward, or other valuable consideration for the reason, or upon the expressed or implied condition, that the latter person—

(a) Deals or has dealt or will deal or intends to undertake or has undertaken or will undertake to deal, exclusively or principally, or to such an extent as amounts to exclusive or principal dealing, with any person or class of persons, either in relation to any particular goods or generally; or,

(b) Does not deal or has not dealt or will not deal or intends or undertakes or has undertaken or will undertake not to deal, with any person or class of persons, either in relation to any particular goods or generally; or,

(c) Restricts or has restricted or will restrict, or intends or undertakes or has undertaken or will undertake to restrict, his dealing with any person or class of persons, either in relation to any particular goods or generally; or,

(d) Is or becomes or has been, or has undertaken or will undertake to become, a member of a commercial trust; or,

(e) Acts or has acted or will act, or intends to undertake or has undertaken or will undertake to act, in obedience to or in conformity with the determinations, directions, suggestions, or requests of any commercial trust with respect to the sale, purchase, or supply of any goods.

It may also be expected that the bill will lay down that every person commits an offence who, either as principal or agent, refuses, either absolutely or excepting upon disadvantageous conditions, to sell or supply to any other person, or to purchase from any other person any goods for the reason that the latter person—

(a) Deals or has dealt or will deal or intends to deal, or has not undertaken or will not undertake not to deal with any person or class of persons, either in relation to any particular goods or generally; or,

(b) Is or has not been or will not become or undertake to become a member of a commercial trust; or,

(c) Does not act or has not acted or will not act or does not intend to act, or has not undertaken or will not undertake to act, in obedience to or in conformity with the determinations, directions, suggestions, or requests of any commercial trust with respect to the sale, purchase, or supply of any goods

It will further be laid down that any person who conspires with any other person to monopolise, wholly or partially, the demand or supply in Victoria of any goods, or to control, wholly or partially, the demand or supply or prices in Victoria of any goods, will be guilty of an offence if such monopoly or control is of such a nature as to be contrary to the public interest.

COMMERCIAL BANKING COMPANY OF SYDNEY.

The report of the Commercial Banking Company of Sydney covers the six months ended June 30. It shows a net profit of £149,383, which, with £57,729 brought forward, makes £207,112 available for distribution. The usual dividend at the rate of 10 per cent. per annum absorbs £99,258, £50,000 is added to the reserve fund, and £57,854 is carried to the next account. The following comparisons may be made:—

The above table shows the progress of the institution since Federation, more particularly from a shareholder's point of view. It will be seen that the profits of the bank during that period have increased almost threefold. The chief figures in the balance-sheet compare with those of earlier balance-sheets as follows:—

ARE SHARE CERTIFICATES DUTIABLE?

STOCK EXCHANGE APPEAL.

"Secretary" writes:—

Sir,—Will you inform me whether it is permissible to affix 6d adhesive duty stamps to share certificates, or, should they be impressed with the duty stamp at the Stamp Commissioner's Office?

The Stamp Commissioner expects share certificates to be embossed in his office. Where adhesive stamps have been affixed he will grant a refund. As to the wider question whether share certificates should be stamped at all, the Stock Exchange has appealed to the Treasurer, but so far has had no decision. Some companies are and others are not stamping them. Legal opinion appears to be in favour of non-stamping.

BANK ABSTRACTS.

COMMERCIAL BANKING COMPANY OF SYDNEY.

NORTH BULLI COLLIERY, LIMITED.

At an extraordinary meeting of the above company, held yesterday, the resolutions passed on the 9th instant were confirmed. In addressing the meeting the chairman (Mr. G. O. Hyde) stated that the new stone drive (referred to in his remarks at last meeting) had since last meeting reached the coal, and, as expected, the coal was of good quality and quite satisfactory in thickness. The chairman also stated that the directors had decided it was not necessary to issue more than 30,000 of the preference shares, and that this number would probably be offered at an early date. That it was the intention of the board to offer these preference shares somewhat on the following lines:—2/ per share upon application, 2/ per share upon allotment, 4/ per share 12 months after allotment, and 4/ per share 15 months after allotment. This would mean that, say, within about 18 months from this date the shares will be called up to a total of 12/ per share. This 12/ per share would provide the necessary funds to retire £12,000 of this company's present debentures, and should provide the necessary expenditure as outlined in Mr. Robertson's report.

COMMERCIAL.

THE MARKETS.

The oil market was again stronger yesterday, in consequence of an advance in the London quotation for linseed oil, Blundell Spence's was quoted for prompt shipment at 2/2½ f.o.b., an advance of ½d, and for shipment September to December at 2/3¼, a rise of ¾d since Monday. Local prices were without alteration, but there were more purchases of parcel lots on spot at the prices asked, 3/7 and 3/9, and distributing lots had a firmer feeling at 3/8 and 3/10. Second brands were 1d less for raw and 2d less for boiled. There was still a little Champion's whitelead in quarters to be obtained, but an excessive price was paid, £45 per ton. In cwt packages a few sales were made at £42. Other brands were distributing at 40/ per cwt. Turpentine was selling freely at 3/1½ to 3/4½, according to brand. All fish oils were dear, and the seed oils from Japan were also high in price. Even rapeseed oils, which had been a little easier, had again firmed up. For copra, the demand was irregular. Sun dried in bags sold at £20/7/6 f.o.b. export steamer.

Eastern seeds continued high in price. The Japanese market was quite cleared of white millet and hemp seed, and there were no chance of any more being available until the new crop came in.

The tea market was quiet. Not a great deal of business was done, as the news from Calcutta and Colombo made buyers pause. They thought that there might be a further easing next week.

The market for silk was strong, and the fabric was very difficult to procure in the East, especially for prompt shipment. Stocks in Australia are light.

An easier tendency was noticeable in the jute market yesterday. The sellers were not so confident concerning cornsacks. Calcutta was a shade lower, and the cheap lots offered by Melbourne, which bought heavily at low prices some months ago, had considerably disconcerted sellers, while giving buyers occasion to pause. For season's shipment, 6/7½ net to rails was accepted. Holders of woolpacks also were hardly so confident, and though 3/4 was quoted, yet 3/3¾ was accepted for spot lots, and the same money for June shipment. The position was unaltered as regards branbags. Holders quoted 5/3, but the business done was of the smallest.

BREADSTUFFS.

HIGHER PRICE FOR WHEAT.

Wheat was considerably firmer yesterday. European harvest prospects were cabled as not so favourable, and cargoes had advanced a little over 3d per quarter. Freights for prompt despatch also remained low at 18/6. Indeed, a fixture was made from Port Pirie at 17/6. Buyers gave 3/11 for spot lots yesterday, and for August delivery, and there were buyers of August-September delivery at the same money. At these prices Sydney is above the parity of the London quotation of 4/6 a bushel, allowing 6d for freight. Insurance, handling, and wharfage rate absorb more than a penny, so that there is nothing left for profit. Growers' lots were quoted at 3/5½ in the stack, equal to 3/9½ ex trucks Darling Island. The millers were quite off the market. They wanted no wheat for gristing. Business was done in new wheat, sales being made at 3/3½ for delivery January to March. New season's freight was still offering at 25/ for steamers.

Flour was steady at £9 per ton. Bran and pollard were active at £5/5/.

DAIRY.

COLLAPSE OF THE EGG MARKET.

Yesterday the egg market totally collapsed. Supplies were far in excess of requirements, and agents decided that the only way to effect sales was to substantially reduce quotations. This they did. New-laid suburban varieties were offered at from 1/4 to 1/5 a dozen, and railway and South Coast consignments at 1/3 straight out. River eggs were in a particularly bad position, and, although the general quotation was 1/3 a dozen, many orders were booked at 1/2. Duck eggs commanded about 1d a dozen more than hen eggs. New-laid were worth to 1/6 and case to 1/4 a dozen.

There was an average demand for butter at the previous day's advanced rates. It was stated that the feeling in the market was improved, and that sales had been made to Western Australia on a basis of 125/ per cwt f.o.b. Sydney.

He and I sealed the boxes of eggs for the second test, and were both present at the unsealing of them. I tested them there and then (in the presence of others), both poached and boiled. The result was such that I had no wish or need to carry any home. A few days later Mr. Hansen called, and asked for my signature to a certificate of good quality, and I refused to sign. If I was not present at the test (as Mr. Wareham states), why was I asked to sign a certificate?

SPORTING.

THE TURF.

Metropolitan racegoers will, this afternoon, have the choice of horse-racing at Canterbury Park, and pony and galloway racing at Victoria Park; while the Cessnock Jockey Club provides an outing for northern district sportsmen. The Moonee Valley Racing Club caters for Victorian turf patrons; the Helena Vale Racing Club holds its July meeting near Perth (W.A.), and the Sandgate Jockey Club provides sport for southern Queenslanders.

Entries will be received up to 4 p.m. on Monday next by the secretary, Mr. H. R. Evans, for the half-dozen events on the programme for the inaugural meeting of the Menangle Park Racing Club on the 6th prox., and for which 500 sovs prize-money has been provided. The principal item is the Menangle Park Handicap of 125 sovs; the Opening Handicap is endowed with 100 sovs; the Three-Years-Old Handicap, Novice Handicap, and Glenlee Handicap, with 75 sovs each; and the Maiden Handicap with 50 sovs.

The Cup meeting of the Canterbury Park Race Club takes place this afternoon, and a very attractive bill of fare is down for discussion, the items including a contest over the battens, the cup, for which a field of 17 has accepted, an event for two-year-olds, and three other races on the flat. The track is reported to be in good order, and the management has made due preparations for the requirements of a large assemblage. The transit arrangements include special trains starting from the Central Railway Station at 11.27 a.m. (horses and attendants), 11.50 a.m., 12.22, 12.37, 12.43, 12.50, 1.2, 1.15, and 1.23 p.m., while the ordinary service of the Belmore line will also be available. Business opens at 2 p.m., with the Hurdle Race, in which the situations may be filled by Treacherous, Prince Plutus, and Gorilla. Spurn, Happy Lady, and Sweet Malt may pass the judge in that order at the close of the Flying Handicap; Sylva Larl, Avenir, and Celluloid may get home as named in the Park Stakes; and the places in the Nursery Handicap may go to Kirkee, Ouragus, and Viburnum. A good contest may be anticipated for the Canterbury Park Cup, and sweep considerations will secure a large field. The most likely to be in the fighting line towards the finish are St. Carwyne, Brunnhilda, Winora, and Lord Emly, and the numbers may be hoisted for St. Carwyne, Winora, and Lord Emly. The sport winds up with the Welter Mile, and the honours may be divided by Grail, Best Scot, and Hobble Skirt.

The next meeting of the New South Wales Trotting Club takes place on the Epping racecourse on the 4th prox., and the half-dozen items on the card carry in the aggregate 310 sovs, of which 60 sovs each endows the Flying Handicap and Epping Handicap, 50 sovs each the Trial Handicap, Tramway Handicap, and Trotting Club Handicap; and 40 sovs the Glebe Handicap. Nominations will be received by the secretary, Mr. R. C. Hungerford, up to 8 p.m. on Monday next.

Patrons of pony and galloway racing are catered for to-morrow afternoon by the Victoria Park Racing Club, and the items on the seven-events programme have attracted the best talent in that branch of sport. Large entries have been received, and it may be necessary for several of the races to be run in divisions. The track is good going, and the usual arrangements have been made for the comfort and convenience of visitors. Special trains from Circular Quay and the railway loop land passengers at the racecourse gates, and the ordinary service to Zetland will also be available. The first race is timed to start at 1.30 p.m., and the results may be anticipated as under:—Flying Handicap: Merv Blend, Superb, Doongar. Fourteen-one Handicap: First Toy, Haurient, Lady Mascot. Hurdle Race: Lord Lunn, Tally Ho, Sanienda. Fourteen Hands Handicap: Sir Moorefield, Sinderby, Haresfield. Fourteen-two Handicap: Ragtime, Lady Sidney, Almafield. Victoria Park Handicap: Wherry, Argyle, Postelite. Encourage Stakes: Sandsoap, Ayr Blend, Lady Canada.

The attractive programme drafted by the Rosehill management for its August meeting on the 8th prox. demands the attention of owners and trainers on Monday next, when at 4 p.m. nominations close with the secretary, Mr. Geo. W. S. Rowe. The prize-money totals 775 sovs, of which 150 sovs each endows the Hurdle Race, Auburn Handicap, and Rosehill Handicap, 125 sovs the Parramatta Mile, and 100 sovs each the Maiden Handicap and High-weight Handicap.

The starting price of Master Dix in the Fourteen-two Handicap at Ascot on Wednesday last was 7 to 2.

Messrs. H. Chisholm and Co. announce that they will hold their monthly sale of blood stock at their stables, Randwick, on Monday next. Among the lots already catalogued is the stoutly-bred mare, Helen Murillo, a member of the renowned Sappho family, and a close relation to that great mare Etra Weenie. Other horses to be brought under the hammer are the two-year-old colt Brinsmead, by En Garde (a recent winner at Newcastle), Queenie Soult, by Soult (imp.), and the gelding T.L.E. The sale commences at 2 p.m., and intending vendors can furnish particulars of horses to be included in the catalogue up to noon on Monday.

The following race meetings have been granted registration by the A.J.C.—Greenwood Vale Amateur Race Club (August 6), Dubbo Jockey Club (September 11, 12), Albury Racing Club (September 11, 12), and Dubbo Hibernian Racing Club (September 16).

Messrs. H. Chisholm and Co. report having sold, on behalf of Mr. F. C. Kater, Warren, the ch g Highnote, by Goodfellow from Music, 4yrs, to a Western Australian sportsman; on behalf of owner, b or br a Flying Mint (late Pteropus) (imp.), by Flying Fox from Mneme, to a southern district breeder; and on behalf of Mr. G. D. Greenwood, the dual New Zealand Derby winner, Cherubini, by Martian (imp.) from Grand Opera, by Gipsy Grand, 3yrs, to Mr. "J. Birks." Cherubini is engaged in the A.J.C. Epsom Handicap with 8st 7lb, and in the Metropolitan with 3lb less.

The next fixture of the Australian Trotting Club is announced for the 17th prox. at Victoria Park, and the six-event card for the occasion carries in the aggregate 310 sovs prize money, of which 70 sovs endow the A.T.C. Handicap, 60 sovs the Flying Mile, 50 sovs each the Unhoppled Handicap and Progressive Handicap, and 40 sovs the Encourage Handicap, and Novice Unhoppled Handicap. Entries close with the secretary, Mr. H. Cobcroft, at 5 p.m. on Tuesday, August 11.

RUGBY UNION.

COMPETITIONS RESUMED.

The Metropolitan Rugby Union will resume its competitions this afternoon after two weeks given over to the matches with the New Zealand team. The round constitutes the final games before the clubs are divided into A and B divisions—the four leading sides contesting the premiership in the former group, and the other seven clubs the B division honours. The most interesting game will be that between University and Eastern Suburbs at the University Oval, and as is usual with these fifteens a fast and attractive game is expected. Both sides are showing greatly improved form on that of the early matches, and both have already gained positions in the A division.

OFFER TO "ALL BLACKS."

AUCKLAND (N.Z.), Friday.

A cablegram received from Sydney last week stated that overtures had been made to the "All Blacks" and that three players were to go over to League code. A private letter received from a member of the team, now touring Australia, refers at length to the overtures made by the League executive. Negotiations were certainly in progress, and, to use the writer's words, "The League are desperate." "It is the beginning of the end," he writes, "for there is a decided revulsion of feeling in Sydney towards the Union Rugby. An offer of £3000 was made to the 'All Blacks' if they would play the Australian League team. The League have plenty of money at present, and stop at nothing to get players. They haven't six decent men of their own rearing."

The writer gives his opinion that it would take more than £3000 to get the boys, who he hoped would remain staunch. He was doing his best to keep them amateurs.

RUGBY LEAGUE.

TO-DAY'S GAMES.

The third series of games in the second round of the competition will be contested to-day. The match of importance is that between Eastern Suburbs and Newtown at the Sydney Cricket Ground. These teams generally provide a close and oftentimes desperate struggle. Their first round match resulted in a narrow win for Newtown by a penalty goal to nil. Since the inception of the thirteen aside code Newtown have been particularly successful against Eastern Suburbs, as of the last eight matches played the latter have won on two occasions only. No other district club in the same period has such a record against the champions. The result of this afternoon's game will have an important bearing on the competition, as the defeated side will drop outside the pale of premiership possibilities, whilst the victors will still remain within striking distance of the leaders, South Sydney. Another interesting game should be that between North Sydney and Glebe at Wentworth Park. Early in the season Glebe won by 13 points to six, but only after a game wherein the Northerners held the lead to within ten minutes of time. This afternoon North Sydney will be without Deane, who will sail for England at noon to join the Hull Northern Union Club. Annandale and Balmain will meet at Birchgrove. Both teams play a vigorous forward game, but lack cohesiveness in attack. Their previous meeting resulted in a draw, 7 points all. South Sydney will oppose Western Suburbs at the Agricultural Ground, and they should prove too much for the Westerners. To-day's fixtures are as follow:—

FIRST GRADE.

Newtown v Eastern Suburbs, Sydney Cricket Ground, 3.15 (C. Hedley); Annandale v Balmain, Birchgrove Oval, 3.15 (T. Dickinson); Western Suburbs v South Sydney, Agricultural Ground, 3.15 (J. T. Black); North Sydney v Glebe, Wentworth Park, 3.15 (A. Farrow).

SECOND GRADE.

Redfern v Glebe, Metters Ground, 3.15 (E. Shaw); Newtown v North Sydney, Wentworth Park, 2 (P. Frank); Balmain v Western Suburbs, Agricultural Ground, 2 (L. Hansen); Annandale v Eastern Suburbs, Birchgrove Oval, 2 (C. N. Yard); South Sydney v Grosvenor, Sydney Cricket Ground, 2 (I. Doyle); Sydney v Mosman, Mosman Oval, 3.15 (B. Fitzpatrick); Marrickville v Randwick, Sydney Cricket Ground, 2 (T. E. Phelan).

THIRD GRADE.

South Sydney v S.S. Federals, Sir Joseph Banks, 3.15 (C. W. Regan); Glebe v Balmain Ions, Metters Ground, 2 (A. Ballerum); Eastern Suburbs v Parramatta, Sydney Cricket Ground No. 2, 2.15 (L. Sheen); Balmain v S.S. Rinkora, North Sydney, 3.15 (A. Norton).

AUSTRALIAN.

TO-DAY'S COMPETITION GAMES.

With the exception of the replay match between Paddington and Sydney on August 1, to-day's series of games will bring to a conclusion the first round of matches in the League competition. Interest will be centred in the Paddington-Central Western game at Hampden Oval, which will bring to the winner certain inclusion in the semi-final games. Should Newtown defeat North Sydney at Erskinville Oval, then a play-off between them and the loser of the Paddington-Central Western match, for inclusion in the semi-final games, will most likely ensue. At the Australian Football Ground, South Sydney should score an easy win over East Sydney. Following are to-day's fixtures:—

LEAGUE.

Paddington v East Sydney, Australian Football Ground (E. McDonald, field umpire); Newtown v North Sydney, Erskinville Oval (J. Blackaby, field umpire); South Sydney v Central Western, Hampden Oval (R. Walters, field umpire). All second grade matches will start at 1.30 p.m.

BRITISH ASSOCIATION.

The inter-city engagement between Sydney and Newcastle at Epping this afternoon has aroused keen interest, mainly because the players' performances will be a standard for the selection of the combination to visit Queensland next month. Two powerful sides have been chosen, each in its personnel as good as any of the historical teams of the nineties. Newcastle (red) will be represented by:—J. Sneddon, F. Williams, J. Thomson, C. Peckersgill, D. Sneddon, J. W. Stoker, Clarke (Weston), F. Watson, F. Alberts, J. Thorpe, and Clarke (Cessnock), with Knudson, Lambert, and Robinson as reserves. WOMEN'S HOCKEY.

ENGLAND BEATS AUSTRALIA.

ELEVEN GOALS TO THREE.

The chosen of Australia, selected from New South Wales, Victoria, South Australia, and Tasmania, failed yesterday at Rushcutter Bay Oval to check England's succession of victories. The teams were:—

England.—Goal, S. Wetherall; backs, C. Smith and K. Tuke; halves, M. Robinson, C. Gatey, and M. Morgan; forwards, B. Tuke, M. Eames, C. Gaskell (captain), M. Leacroft, V. Elwell.

Australia.—Goal, N. Warden (N.S.W.); backs, B. Walsh (N.S.W.), J. Smith (S.A.); halves, E. Babbage (S.A.), I. M'Murtrie (N.S.W.), and A. Lewers (N.S.W.); forwards, J. Cleland (S.A.), B. De Laine (S.A.), N. Sands (S.A.), N. Meares (N.S.W.), A. M'Donald (Vic.).

The colours were:—England, red; Australia, black.

Securing the ball from the bully-off, the English women soon reached the opposition's circle, where good defence averted disaster. The visitors, however, would not be repulsed, and Miss Eames followed up well and found the net. Score, 1-love. England leads. The Australians then took charge, and Miss De Laine, with a brilliant run, was only beaten by Miss Wetherall's clever defence. The play was even at this stage, and the game became fast, and falls and collisions were frequent. Miss Leacroft, by accurate shooting, notched the second goal for the mother country. Score, 2-love. Centreing nicely, the Reds placed their antagonists on the defensive, until Miss Meares dribbled down to England's circle, where Miss Wetherall again safely guarded goal. An excellent rally resulted in the ball being driven to the Blacks' circle, where England again scored, and the game was called 3-love.

In response to the advice of lady barrackers to "buck up, Australia," the latter twice shot at England's goal, missing narrowly on each occasion. A quick transfer of play to Australia's circle resulted in an amusing mixture of kicks and clashing sticks, the outcome being that England scrambled the ball into the net. Score, 4-love. Miss Meares now cheered Australia's supporters by dribbling the ball from halfway and shooting straight from the circle, past England's goal, and scored at last for her side. A penalty for "sticks" against Australia gave the Reds another goal. Score at half-time, England 5, Australia 1.

After a brief spell, play was resumed. Within three minutes Miss Leacroft, who was playing a great game, found Australia's net twice. Score, England 7, Australia 1. Weak defence enabled Miss Gaskell to shoot two goals for the Reds, who led by 9 to 1. A bad shot spoilt Australia's chance for goal. Miss Meares earned applause by a clever run and a pass to Miss De Laine, which resulted in the latter scoring. Soon afterwards Miss Meares and Miss M'Murtrie shone out, and by good shooting got the third goal for Australia. Score, England 9, Australia 3. Miss Tuke, by splendid play, got a great goal for England, and just before the last whistle was sounded her side scored again. Final scores: England 11, Australia 3.

The goal-getters were:—England: Miss Leacroft (4), Miss Gaskell (4), Miss Eames (2), Miss B. Tuke (1). Australia: Miss N. Meares (2), Miss De Laine (1).

The English captain, Miss Gaskell, when asked in what respects the Australians failed, said: "They should learn to keep their places more carefully, and thus know where the others are. There was a tendency to rush about too much, and often two players would go for the ball, the result being that one would impede the other. The backs were inclined to crowd the goalkeeper. Another noticeable defect was that too much time was wasted in trying to get in a good shot, when any sort of quick shot was necessary."

At the conclusion of the match the members of the two teams presented a silver-mounted Malacca cane to each of the umpires (Mr. Easthaugh and Mr. Redgrave) for their services.

AUSTRALIA II. BEATS N.S.W. II.

The first match played yesterday was between the second teams of Australia and New South Wales. The players were:—

Australia II.—Goal, M. Eberhard (Tas.); backs, B. Gilbert (Vic.), A. White (Tas.); halves, E. Lyne (S.A.), J. Guthrie (N.S.W.), F. Law (Tas.); forwards, D. Kerslake (Tas.), M. Lyall (N.S.W.), H. Gell (S.A.), S. Meares (N.S.W.), and M. Proud (S.A.).

New South Wales II.—Goal, M. Crane; backs, N. Walsh, L. Meares; halves, D. Craig, K. Prescott, and J. Turner; forwards, D. Weidmann, W. Irving, S. Wallach, M. Hamilton, E. Wallach.

ANNUAL MEETING.

The annual meeting of the Central Cumberland Cricket Club was held at Parramatta on Thursday evening, Mr. T. D. Little (president) in the chair. The annual report showed that the club held a very good position in the first grade contest, occupying third place. Twelve matches were played, seven of which were won, three lost, and two drawn. Reference was made to the fact that Mr. L. W. Pye had completed 21 years in first grade cricket, and this year had come top in the batting averages with an average of 30.20 runs. Mr. R. C. Coogan came top in the bowling, with an average of 15.8 for 56 wickets. The report was adopted. Mr. J. H. Clayton, president of the New South Wales Cricket Association, who was present, congratulated the club on the excellent report submitted. In regard to the game, he said the association was doing what it could for the prestige of the game. The press had said the game was languishing, but he did not hold that view, and the average number of runs scored in an afternoon's play proved that the scoring was faster now than it was years back. He asked the delegates not to be too sanguine as regards the suggested reforms. Some wished to reduce the number of grade clubs, but he was not with them. They must devise some other ways and means other than the reduction of clubs—probably run the competitions in divisions. Population was increasing, and they must do their best to cater for the growing number of cricketers. He congratulated Mr. Pye on his splendid performances in grade cricket. The election of officers resulted:—Patron, Mr. Joseph Cook, P.C.; president, Mr. T. D. Little; hon. secretary, Mr. R. C. Coogan; hon. treasurer, Mr. C. Tait; delegates to N.S.W. Cricket Association, the Rev. E. F. Waddy and Mr. O. S. Smith.

SYDNEY DISTRICT CLUB.

The 14th annual general meeting of the Sydney District C.C. was held on Wednesday night last at the N.S.W. Cricket Association's room, Bull's-chambers, Mr. James Searle presided. The annual report and balance-sheet, which showed a credit balance, were adopted. The batting average of the first team was won by N. Winning, with an average of 29.5 runs per innings. F. Toby secured the bowling average with 31 wickets at a cost of 14.2 runs per wicket. In the second team R. Rowe headed the batting with an average of 37.4 runs per innings. Colin Smith secured 53 wickets at an average cost of 12.6. The election of office-bearers for the ensuing season resulted as follows:—Patron, his Honor Judge Backhouse; president, Alderman W. P. M'Elhone; vice-presidents, Alderman A. M'Elhone, Alderman E. Milner Stephen, Mr. C. J. Roberts, C.M.G., M.L.C., Dr. A. A. Palmer, Dr. Sydney Jamieson, Messrs. W. Lowe, A. C. J. Wood, E. A. F. Stack and W. H. Rivett; delegates to City and Suburban Association, W. Jolly and B. Marks; teams' secretaries, first G. Stack, second D. Muller, third W. F. Smith, City and Suburban W. Jolly.

Selection Committees.—First grade: E. Coffey, C. Wright, and G. F. Stack. Second grade: H. Marshall, D. Muller, and C. Smith. Third grade: W. Smith, R. Collins, and V. Toby. City and Suburban: W. Flatau. The committee in the report expressed regret at the non-selection of H. L. Collins to accompany the team to visit South Africa, in view of his successful performances with the Australian teams that recently toured America and New Zealand. It was with general regret that the members heard of Alderman W. P. M'Elhone's retirement from all office of the club. Presentation of a ball, suitably inscribed, was made to Mr. F. Toby for his fine performance against Petersham's first grade team last season, when he secured seven wickets for 17 runs.

BILLIARDS.

HOOPER LEADS BY 109.

The meeting of Messrs. J. R. Hooper and A. G. Fay in the third heat of the New South Wales amateur championship, at Heiron and Smith's rooms, Castlereagh-street, was largely patronised. This was Mr. Hooper's first appearance in a State championship, and, as he brought a big reputation from Newcastle, local followers of the game were curious to see how he would play against the young Enmore competitor, who won the title in 1912.

Mr. Hooper showed very fine billiards from the opening stroke. He has a gentle style, rarely making a forcing stroke, and groups the balls nicely for the following shot. In his third visit he ran up a masterly 82, which was the highest break of the evening, and he soon obtained a substantial lead, scoring 106 to Fay's 71. The latter was troubled with nervousness, and the fast table brought the red ball too far down, which compelled him to play many run-through shots to the centre pockets. After a time he did better; but Hooper always held command, and in almost successive visits he ran up 52 twice, 56, 30, 31, 53, and 25. Between those breaks Fay was busy with 22, 41, 48, 28, 35, and 40, mainly by means of losing hazards. He missed many easy shots by over-anxiety, and although his redoubtable opponent had a lead of 109 when play ceased, it is no certainty that he will win on Monday evening, when the bout will be concluded. Fay is certain to do much better as he gains confidence and the strength of the table. The scores at the close of the first session were:—

J. R. Hooper	500
A. G. Fay	391

INTER-INSTITUTE CHAMPIONSHIP.

GLEBE WINS THE DOUBLE.

The inter-institute championship which has been in progress for the past nine weeks was concluded yesterday, when the Glebe Workingmen's Institute won the A and B divisions, the former by 2 points and the latter by 6 points from their nearest opponent—Marrickville. This result was mainly due to the fine play of the club's Nos. 2 (H. Elms), 4 (W. Griffen), and 3 (W. Andrews), who went through the competition with only two defeats. Elms did not lose a game, and scored 2403 points to 1668. In the B division, J. Taylor had a somewhat similar record, winning all his games, and scoring 1402 to 987. Glebe lost six games in the A division, and six in the B division, the only member of their team who failed to keep up last year's form being their No. 1, Mr. T. J. Lambert.

The champion of the tournament was G. Linden, of Marrickville, who won all his games in the No. 1 position, with a record of 2101 to 1388 against. Following is the table of results:—

A DIVISION.		B DIVISION.
Glebe	26	Glebe	26
Marrickville	24	Marrickville	24
Rozelle	21	Rozelle	20
Manly	18	Manly	20
Woollahra	15	Woollahra	18
Alexandria	13	Ashfield	15
Ashfield	12	Alexandria	10
Leichhardt	9	Leichhardt	7
Drummoyne	4	Drummoyne	7

At a committee meeting to be held on Wednesday it will be decided when the institute snooker championship entries will close.

ALPINE SPORTS.

KIANDRA SKI CARNIVAL.

KIANDRA, Friday.

The ski carnival was opened to-day in perfect weather, and visitors were present from Sydney, Ganmain, Tumut, The Ravine, and Adaminaby. The full course was rough, owing to the heavy drifting during the week, and considerable skill was required to negotiate it. The competition was keen, and excellent finishes were made. The full course cannot safely be ridden, therefore the long-distance races were cut down to somewhat more than three-quarters of the course. Results:—

MOUNT KOSCIUSKO CARNIVAL.

SUNSHINE ON THE SNOW.

MOUNT KOSCIUSKO, Friday.

The second day of the Alpine Club's carnival was carried out under ideal weather conditions—a distinct improvement on the first day. The morning opened with a light fall of snow, but later the sun shone out in all its glory. In the morning the guests and competitors journeyed to the Kerry course on skis, the road presenting a picturesque sight. As on the first day, many events were keenly contested, resulting in close and exciting finishes. Afterwards the venue changed to the Grand Slam, where all the events, including novice races, were held.

Mr. Jacobson opened the afternoon's proceedings with a magnificent and daring exhibition, doing the whole length of the Grand Slam. Despite the soft snow, the Norwegian expert successfully negotiated the course on several occasions, making remarkable bird-like flights, which thrilled the large number of visitors, from whom he received an ovation. He also gave a daring exhibition of jumping off a specially erected platform near the foot of the Grand Slam. Results:—

Gentlemen's Ski Champion.—Dr. Schlink, 1.
Ladies' Ski Champion.—Miss Gordon, 1.
Champion Toboggan.—Dr. Schlink, 1.
Club Ski Race.—R. Furley, 1.
Gentlemen's Novice Ski Race.—Dr. Fisher.

BOXING.

MILBURN SAYLOR v FRED. KAY.

Fred Kay, the West Australian lightweight, gained a points' victory over Saylor in Melbourne, and a second match between the two is the fixture at the Rushcutter Bay Stadium for to-night.

The preliminary contests of six rounds each (the first to begin at a quarter to 8), are Fred Brett v Joe Conroy, and "Cobber" Beavis v Pat Talbot.

TEN-STONE TOURNEY.

In conjunction with Lang and Storleck's training exhibitions on August 24 and 28 a £30 10st tourney, limited to 16 boxers, entries for which close on August 17, will be carried out, and the final will be the preliminary to the Lang-Storleck contest.

AMATEUR TOURNAMENT.

The amateur tournament promoted by the Railway and Tramway Recreation Club was continued at the Olympia Stadium, Newtown, last evening, before a very meagre attendance. Mr. Les Corbett was the referee. Results:—

Bantam-weight Division.—Robin Hood (Drummoyne) and W. O'Connell (Glebe) made things lively for two rounds, when O'Connell cried enough, Hood gaining the decision. A. J. Skinner (Darlinghurst) and Stan. Jones (Newtown) put up an interesting full-term bout, the former winning on points. Noll Smith (Leichhardt) also won on points from Pal Brown (Double Bay). C. Smith (Alexandria) outclassed Sid Woods (Paramatta), and the towel was thrown in from the latter's corner early in the first round.

Feather-weight Division.—F. Davis (Mascot) outpointed Fred Page (Darlinghurst), after going the full term. The contest between Harry Miller (Alexandria) and T. Martin (Surry Hills) lasted but half a round, the latter being counted out. Billy M'Govern (Newtown) was too good for Battling Jack (Mascot), and won on points after four rounds. A. Cox (city) forfeited to "Buck" Wilson (Marrickville). F. Gibson (city) was given the decision over W. North (Croydon), who ceased hostilities at the end of the first round.

Lightweight Division.—J. Knudsen (Darlinghurst) received a forfeit from George Russell (North Sydney). E. Williams (Willoughby) defeated "Kid" Frey. E. Williams (sic)... J. Spoward Murphy (Petersham) on points, and J. Spoward (Forest Lodge) similarly won from R. Bance (Croydon) and T. H. Hook (Canterbury) from Les Williams (Surry Hills).

Welter-weight Division.—L. Jackson (Canterbury) knocked out Joe O'Brien (Glebe) early in the first round, and Ray Ingram (Petersham) similarly accounted for Billy Wills (Newtown). George Wright (Leichhardt) received a forfeit from W. Lane (Mosman).

PIGEON HOMING.

BOWRAL, Friday.

The Bowral Homing Pigeon Society held a race from Cootamundra to Bowral, an airline distance of 139 miles, the result being a win for T. Small's bird, with R. Pain's second, and A. Dowling's third.

LISMORE CIRCUIT COURT.

A special sitting of the Supreme Court, for the hearing of the Criminal Cause, Rex v Frederick James Glover, will be held at Lismore on Wednesday, August 12, in lieu of Wednesday, July 29.

AMUSEMENTS.

ELLEN TERRY MATINEE.

The Ellen Terry matinee, which is to be held at Her Majesty's Theatre on Tuesday afternoon next, has been organised by the Actors' Association of Australasia. The plan opened on Thursday morning at 9 o'clock; at 6 o'clock there was a crowd of people standing in line outside the box office, and at 4 p.m. every seat in the dress circle was booked, and over 500 seats in the stalls were marked off. A beautiful souvenir programme has been designed and executed by a leading firm of printers, and is now on sale at the music warehouses. The programme contains the names of every actor or actress of note in Sydney, and three new productions by the different theatre companies are to be submitted. Mr. M. J. Bloomfield, the hon. general manager, has received eleven cheques from Melbourne for seats, four from Newcastle, two from Brisbane, and one from Adelaide, so there will be visitors from the adjacent States to witness one of the greatest programmes yet presented to the public.

"THE BARRIER" AT THE ADELPHI.

"The Barrier," founded by Eugene Presbrey on the well-known romance by Rex Beach, will be produced for the first time in Australia at the Adelphi Theatre to-night, at S. Beaumont Smith and Louis Meyer's new Anglo-Australian company will perform "The Barrier," which was produced in America by Klaw and Erlanger five years ago, and has since enjoyed a run at the Strand Theatre, London. The drama, which will be picturesquely staged, will deal with the social conditions likely to arise from a marriage between a half-breed Indian girl in Alaska and an officer in the U.S. army. Mr. W. F. Grant and Miss May Congdon will appear in the central characters. The plan is at Nicholson's.

THE DUFAULT CONCERTS.

At the final concert of his series at the Town Hall to-night, M. Paul Dufault will sing "Celeste Aida," Goetz's "Melisande in the Wood," Debussy's "Mandoline," "Here's My Boy," "The Trumpeter" (Dix), and a new song with violin obbligato, "For Thee," composed by Herr Raimund Pechotsch. The encore numbers will include the "Boat Song," the regimental story "Air Pays," "Srivelin," and other favourite numbers. Miss Pauline Bindley, whose career is published in our "Music and Drama" column, will also sing, and there will be violin solos by Mr. Ernest Toy. The plan is at Paling's.

"THE GIRL IN THE TAXI."

Saturday, August 8, will see "The Girl in the Taxi" installed at Her Majesty's. The new J. C. Williamson Company will be composed entirely of principals new to Australia, and will be headed by Mr. C. H. Workman, the distinguished London comedian, in his original role. Mr. W. H. Rawlins, also a well-known London comedian, will be associated with him, in addition to Mr. Chris. Wren, a musical comedy humorist, and Mr. Fred Maguire, a light comedian. Arriving with these on the Orontes will be Mr. Paul Plunbek, a juvenile actor, Mr. S. J. Williams, and Mr. M. L. Lycett, character actors; Miss Helen Hobson, soubrette, Miss Millie Engler, and Miss Vera Probyn, comedians, Miss Ewen Hughes, a singing actress, and Miss Maggie Jarvis, a musical comedy prima donna. "The Girl in the Taxi" is a racy French production, with music by Jean Gilbert. Booking arrangements are announced.

HER MAJESTY'S THEATRE.

"Gipsy Love" enters this evening upon its last twelve nights at Her Majesty's Theatre, where the usual matinee will be given on Wednesday. Franz Lehar's comic opera with its captivating melodies is drawing large audiences, and its withdrawal has probably cut short a fine run.

THEATRE ROYAL.

The last twelve nights of "Bunty Pulls the Strings" are announced by the Carroll-Williamson direction at the Theatre Royal, where a matinee of Graham Moffat's amusing comedy will be given at 2.15 to-day. The Scottish artists present this quaint story of rustic life in the most humorous fashion.

CRITERION THEATRE.

"Madame X," the French drama by Alexander Bisson, at the Criterion Theatre, brings forward Miss Muriel Starr in a strong character as the society woman who elopes, loses caste, takes to evil courses, and at last finds herself tried for murder with her husband as judge and her son as counsellor for the defence. Miss Starr makes a great sensation in this scene.

LITTLE THEATRE.

"Sweet Lavender" is the current attraction at the Little Theatre, where Pinero's comedy of character and sentiment is renewing much of its original attractiveness in the hands of the Hugh Buckler-Violet Paget combination. Mr. Arthur Cornell's Dick Phenyl is appreciated. There will be a matinee on Thursday.

PICTURES AT THE PALACE THEATRE.

This afternoon and evening, at the Palace Theatre, Mr. William Anderson (in conjunction with the Greater J. D. Williams Company) will initiate the final week of his picture season by screening for the first time in Sydney, "Inheritance of Hatred," a photo-drama prepared by the Cines Company of "Quo Vadis" repute. Mary Carmi, an emotional actress, will appear in the sensational scenes of this new tragedy.

LE ROY, TALMA, AND BOSCO.

The present tour of Le Roy, Talma, and Bosco through Australia, under the E. J. Carroll direction, is the last they will make—at least, it is the last Le Roy and Talma (Madame Le Roy) will make. The first tour was eight years ago, and it was as much his delight with the country as the enthusiasm of its audiences that induced the senior partner of the great magic show to pay a return visit. These noted illusionists will open at the Palace Theatre next Saturday evening in a new entertainment of an especially elaborate character.

LAWRENCE CAMPBELL RECITALS.

Students of the modern classics should be especially interested in the third recital of the Lawrence Campbell season, which is being given on Monday evening next, in Concordia Hall, as he will then recite, in its entirety, Tennyson's poetic idyll, "Enoch Arden," to the pianoforte accompaniment composed by Richard Strauss. The music will be played by Miss Lilian Frost. The remaining recitals of the season will be given on August 3 and 10, when miscellaneous programmes will bring forward Misses Lilian Frost and Leonore Gotsch, Messrs. Cyril Monk and Carl Gotsch. Plans and concession details are at Nicholson's.

ORCHESTRAL SOCIETY.

The Sydney Amateur Orchestral Society's concert at the Town Hall next Tuesday evening will embrace Beethoven's Second Symphony, and Mr. Alfred Hill will also conduct Rachmaninoff's "Pianoforte Concerto," with M. Jacques Pintel as soloist, after an absence in Europe of several years. Goldmark's "Sakuntala Overture," Dvorak's "Slavonic Dance," and other pieces, will be rendered. Miss Muriel Barton will sing Weber's "Softly Sighs," and the aria "O Mia Patria" from "Aida." The plan is at Paling's.

MISS MIRRIE SOLOMON.

Miss Mirrie Solomon will be accorded a hearty send-off concert at the Repertory Theatre next Wednesday evening, prior to her departure a few days later for Vienna. This bright young pianist will play the Chopin G minor Ballade, and compositions of her own; and Mr. Lawrence Godfrey Smith will play her new "Rhapsody in A," supported by the composer. The programme will be strong in other directions, as Mme. Slapoffski and Mr. Philip Wilson will sing, and the Sydney Quartet, under Henri Staell, will play Alfred Hill's Maori Quartett. Miss Alicia Nolan and Mr. Gerald Cowper will be the accompanists. The plan is at Paling's.

SYDNEY SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA.

Kallinikov's "First Symphony in G Minor" will be performed by the Sydney Symphony Orchestra on the Town Hall on Saturday afternoon, August 1. The concert will also bring forward two other interesting "first performances," Saint-Saens' symphonic poem "Phaeton," and Bordin's symphonic sketch, "In the Steppes of Central Asia." Beautiful pieces by Brahms, Sibelius, and Tschaikovsky will be rendered. Mr. Cyril Monk will play part of the Max Bruch Violin Concerto, with the orchestra under Mr. Joseph Bradley's baton. Mr. Philip Newbery will sing the "Preislied" (Wagner), and "Celeste Aida" (Verdi), and his reappearance should prove an attractive event. Plan as notified.

THE AUSTRALIAN OPERA LEAGUE.

The Australian Opera League will be practically launched with the production of two new works at the Repertory Theatre on Monday, August 3. Messrs. Joseph Bradley and Alfred Hill will conduct a professional orchestra, led by Henri Staell, and Alfred Hill's "Giovanni," and Fritz Hart's "Pierrette" will form the six nights' programme. Mr. Reginald Roberts will direct the productions, and Miss Florence Young, Mr. Philip Newbery, Misses Muriel Barton, Dulcie Huxtable, Elsa Vaumenn, Mary Campbell, Messrs. F. Collier, T. Courtney Hood, and F. P. Michell will be in the casts. The plans are at Paling's.

MR. SAINTON-DOLBY'S RECITAL.

A complimentary invitation vocal recital will be tendered to Mr. A. Sainton-Dolby, a tenor from the studio of Mrs. Haffenden-Smith, in the Repertory Theatre, on Monday evening next. Mrs. Haffenden-Smith, Misses Emilie Draper, M. Gallagher, Messrs. Sid Gordon, W. Houston, and W. J. Collins will assist. Invitations and plan are at Paling's.

MR. ARNOLD MOTE'S RECITAL.

After an absence of some 10 years in England, Mr. Arnold R. Mote, B.A., Mus.Bac., Oxon., F.R.C.O., will make his reappearance at the Town Hall, Sydney, on Wednesday, August 5, at 8, when he will give a grand organ recital. Mr. Mote will be assisted by Mrs. A. N. Graham, mezzo soprano, and Mr. Cyril Monk, solo violinist. The plan is now open at Paling's.

"THE HYMN OF PRAISE."

The choir of St. James' Church will render selections from Mendelssohn's "Hymn of Praise" next Wednesday evening, at 7.30, assisted by Mr. Percy French (tenor). Mr. G. Faunce Allman will conduct, and give several organ solos; and Miss Dora Rancland (violinist) will also assist.

DAVID JONES DRAMATIC CLUB.

The David Jones Dramatic Society will this evening repeat their successful performance of "My Soldier Boy" at the Repertory Theatre. The play, which is by Alfred Maltby and Frank Lindo, proved popular on a previous occasion.

MR. HARRISON ALLEN'S RECITAL.

Next Saturday, at the St. James' Hall, Mr. Harrison Allen will give a Dickens' recital, under the auspices of the Dickens Fellowship. Selections, humorous and dramatic, will be rendered from the author's most popular works. Messrs. Bryce Carter and Percy French, and Misses Beatrice Schubach and Gladys Shaw, will assist. The plan is at Paling's.

THE WALTER BENTLEY PLAYERS.

The next performance of the Walter Bentley Players will be given at the St. James's Hall, on Thursday, August 20, with full scenery and effects. A scene from "Rigoletto," with Mr. Walter Bentley as the Hunchback, will be included, as well as "The Adopted," "My Own Sweetheart," "Single-handed," "The Little Band in the Pines," and "Box and Cox." The Players' Trio will be responsible for the music.

N. J. GEHDE'S MATINEE.

To-morrow afternoon, at the Town Hall, Mr. Gehde will direct his usual concert. Miss Elsie Peerless will sing "Caro Nome," Mr. E. Kerry (champion euphoniumist) will play, and The Palace Emporium Glee Party will assist.

THE LOTUS PLAYERS.

The Lotus Players will give an entertainment in aid of the Civil Ambulance at the Repertory Theatre on Tuesday next, at which they will present Alfred Hill's "Wattle Tree Farm," Clarence Lee's "Gertie's Glad Eye," Venetto, the Dancer," by T. [illegible] Coward, and "Way Outback," by [illegible].

"LIFE OF QUEEN VICTORIA."

The Sydney season of "Antony and Cleopatra," at Spencer's Lyceum, will conclude to-day, and on Monday the management intend introducing another whole-programme picture, illustrating the life of Queen Victoria. This is a comprehensive review of the ruler's private and official life, and shows every event of importance from the time of [illegible]. The work of selecting material has been [illegible] done, with the result that the scenes portray practically every event of first importance. The spectator sees her as a lover, as a throned monarch, as a gentle mother, as a guardian over the people's happiness, and as co-partner in their sufferings. The ideal relationship between sovereign and subject is shown with striking fidelity.

WEST'S PICTURES.

Asta Nielsen continues to attract big audiences nightly at the Olympia, her appearance [illegible] proving no exception to the rule. This distinguished artist will be screened for the last time to-day, at both the matinee and evening performances, when she should repeat her success in "Vengeance is Mine." On Monday there will be a complete change of programme, including a big Continental "star." Mr. Groen's Vice-Regal Orchestra will supply the incidental music.

THE GLACIARIUM.

The first ice sports of the season are to be held at the Glaciarium on Tuesday night next. A programme of seven events has been arranged, five of them being for lady skaters. These include a [illegible] yards race, a hockey match, an egg and spoon race, a bun race, and musical chairs. The last three will provide spectators with plenty of amusement. The men's events comprise a hurdle race and a half-mile handicap. The annual carnival, one of the social events of the year, is fixed for August [illegible], to be followed by the interstate hockey matches and sports.

ROYAL ROLLER RINK.

The attraction at the Royal Roller Rink, Moore Park, next week will be the first long-distance race of the season. This is a five miles relay race, which is to be run on Tuesday night. A large entry has been received, and the event should draw a crowded house. The final of the novice half-mile handicap is to be run on Thursday. Arrangements are now being made to hold a carnival on the rink at an early date.

IMPERIAL PALACE.

A grand masquerade ball will be held at the Imperial Salon de Luxe on Tuesday, August [illegible], under the management of Messrs. Bendrodt and Irving. In the meantime there are two sessions daily as usual.

The Dandies, at the Coronation Theatre, [illegible] Junction, still continue to appear before large audiences. This company of versatile artists includes good singers and excellent comedians, and their work is noticeably refined and entertaining.

"On Tour and Cleopatra" will be screened at the Crystal Palace Theatre on Monday. In presenting this film to patrons, the management point out that it is not their custom to screen films that have been run elsewhere in the city. In the present case, however, they are convinced that many patrons have not yet witnessed this fine production, and they have, therefore, made arrangements with the [illegible] Film Exchanges for its exhibition for a short season.

The Lyric Theatre has as its feature film for to-day, "The Night Riders of Petersham," a drama dealing with a desperate and mysterious band, the members of which in black shrouds roamed about the district terrorising the inhabitants. A [illegible] showing molluscs at the bottom of the sea will also be screened.

At the Colonial Theatre during the early part of next week, will be screened "A Deal With the Devil," a drama in a series of strong scenes, dealing with the misery that may result from fame and riches unscrupulously gained. The moral lesson the film carries should give it a universal appeal.

"Round the World in Two Hours," will be the feature film at the Empress Theatre on Monday. On account of the interest manifested in this travel film when shown at the Crystal Palace Theatre last week, the management have decided to transfer the picture to the Empress Theatre.

SKATING PANTOMIME.

On Thursday evening next a grand skating pantomime will be held at the Centennial Skating Palace. The proceeds are to go towards the proposed Eastern Suburbs Hospital. Many new attractions will be embodied in the programme. Besides the pantomime a great number of costume and character competitions will be held, for which prizes to the value of £100 will be presented. The function is under the patronage of his Excellency the Governor, Sir Gerald Strickland, and suite, Rear-Admiral Sir George Patey, Commander-in-Chief of Royal Australian Navy, Mr. W. A. Holman, Premier of N.S.W., Mrs. Holman, and the Lord and Lady Mayoress of Sydney.

MR. A. G. STEPHENS'S LECTURES.

Mr. W. A. Holman will preside at the fourth of Mr. A. G. Stephens's "Evenings with Australian Authors," at the King's Hall on Tuesday. The subject is "Dreamers and Singers," including Henry Kendall, J. B. O'Hara, V. J. Daley, W. H. Ogilvie, C. [illegible] Souter, and Roderic Quinn. A musical programme is advertised.

For the Whitehead Cup final, Wagga B met and defeated Manus. The teams were:—

Umpire: H. E. Bullivant.

Final scores: Wagga B, 6 goals 15 behinds; [illegible] (receives two goals), 4 goals 4 behinds.

RIFLE SHOOTING.

"JOHN SANDS" MATCH.

The "John Sands" match will be shot off on the Long Bay range on Saturday next, 13 teams taking part. The competition will be carried out in full marching order, under strict service conditions. Umpires will be placed along the line of march to observe the march discipline of teams, and points will be deducted for faulty marching. Web equipment will be issued to rifle club teams at Kensington, and must be returned to the N.R.A. representative at Long Bay on the day of issue. As military great coats are not available for issue to rifle clubs, members of these teams will be required to carry their own great coats.

The following is the draw, the teams falling in at Kensington at the times stated:—D Company, S.U. Scouts, 1 p.m.; B Company, S.U. Scouts, 1 p.m.; [illegible] 1 Battery, R.A.F.A., 1 p.m.; Parramatta R.C., 1.15 p.m.; D Company, 29th Infantry, 1.30 p.m.; B Company, 18th Infantry, 1.30 p.m.; H Company, [illegible] Infantry, 2 p.m.; Randwick R.C., 2 p.m.; G Company, 20th Infantry, 2 p.m.; G Company, 18th Infantry, 2.30 p.m.; F Company, 21st Infantry, 2.30 p.m.; E Company, 18th Infantry, 2.30 p.m.; C Company, [illegible] Infantry, 3 p.m.; A Company, 18th Infantry, 3 p.m.; D Company, 18th Infantry, 3 p.m.

HIGH SCHOOLS MATCH.

In a teams match fired at the Randwick range, [illegible] a side, ten shots at 200 yards, the representatives of the Sydney High School defeated a team from Fort-street High School by 62 points, the respective totals being 400 and 338.

BOWRAVILLE, Friday.

In a shoot for the Nambucca News' Cup, at Bowraville range, C. H. Soden, Gleniffer Club, gained the highest score. This will entitle him to hold the cup for twelve months.

GRAFTON, Friday.

At the annual meeting of the Grafton Rifle Club the report showed a membership of 46. The income was £246. Mr. M. Ferguson won the championship for the past year. Mr. W. J. [illegible] was elected captain, Mr. C. Cameron treasurer, Mr. [illegible] Stears treasurer.

ICEBERGS.

FINE SIGHT AT SEA.

A fine sight was witnessed from the deck of the French ship Crillon on her run from New York to Sydney, when several large icebergs were sighted in southern latitudes.

The Crillon arrived last evening and anchored in Watson's Bay for the night. The captain stated that the vessel was carried well to the south on the run across, and, within a period of 48 hours, they passed close to no fewer than four large icebergs. The bergs were up to 100 feet in length, and towered to a great height above the sea.

The members of the crew exhibited a keen interest in the sight, but the captain was mainly concerned in keeping his vessel well away from the 'bergs.

The Crillon was 95 days on the passage, the run to Tasmania occupying only 60 days. The vessel brought 77,000 cases of oil for the Vacuum Oil Company.

INSPECT THE NEW ROLLS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—May I be permitted, through your columns, to direct attention to the necessity for close inspection by electors of the new Federal rolls. Looking through the Parkes division roll at the G.P.O. yesterday for the names of myself and wife, I was surprised to find that they had been omitted, notwithstanding that the applications for enrolment had been properly filled, and notifications from the sub-divisional electoral officer had been received by the applicants to the effect that their names had been duly enrolled. I have since heard several similar complaints couched in indignant language.

I am following this warning to fellow electors or would-be electors, by at once forwarding fresh applications for enrolment, with the suggestion that other complainants should do the same.

I am, etc., QUALIFIED FOR A VOTE.

MINING.

LEAD WEAKER.

LONDON EASIER.

LOCAL MARKET SLACK.

With lead quoted 7/6 lower, and the quotations of the London Stock Exchange indicative of sagging share values, there was every reason why the local market yesterday morning should show no improvement in prices. And it did not.

It is true that a fair amount of business was transacted, but in the majority of cases, there was a tendency for prices to ease a shade. This latter remark applied more particularly to Barriers, and to a lesser degree to copper stocks. New Burragorang (silver) sold at a lower rate.

The gold division was in more evidence than usual, but the stocks dealt in were mostly unimportant. In tin stocks, Eastern propositions commanded very little attention. Ardlethan stocks were fairly steady, whilst Vegetable Creek recovered a little of the ground lost in the past day or two.

Barriers were most in evidence in the afternoon. Indeed, they dominated the market, but it cannot be said that the prices realised were in favour of sellers. Copper stocks were neglected, whilst the gold section was also lifeless. Tin scrip was in moderate trade, but values showed an easy tendency.

MINING NOTES.

The dredges of the Araluen Redbank Gold-dredging Company, N.L., for the week ended July 24 obtained 88oz of gold. The directors have declared a dividend of 3d per share (free of income tax), payable at the office of the company on August 5. The transfer books will close on August 1.

The manager of the Mudgee Slates, Limited, reports for fortnight ended July 21:—"Level driven 4ft, the slate keeps slightly improving. Will send slabs lettered as requested next week."

The directors of the Broken Hill Proprietary, Limited, announce the declaration of the 168th dividend of 1/ per share, payable on and after August 19. The transfer books will close in Melbourne and London on Wednesday, August 5.

Reporting for the week ended July 22, the manager of the Black Range West gold mine (W.A.) states:—"Level No. 3 South drive advanced a total distance of 66ft. At present driving under the reef, and, therefore, the width and value are not at present available."

TELLURIDE AT 2900 FEET.

AN IMPORTANT DEVELOPMENT.

KALGOORLIE, Friday.

The manager of the Golden Horseshoe mine (W. Sutherland), in speaking of the recent development at the 2900ft level, where No. 4 lode assays 78/6 per ton over a width of 15ft, and shows telluride and free gold, said he regarded the development as very important, not only to his own company's property, but to the State generally, for it had proved the existence of telluride at the greatest depth at which it had yet been found in the State. Work at the 2900ft level was necessarily slow, as it had to be carried on without interfering with the hauling of ore for mill, but as speedily as possible the good ore in the lower levels would be opened up and sent to the mill.

HAWKIN'S HILL MINING.

BATHURST, Friday.

Amongst the latest developments at the Hawkin's Hill Reward mine, Hill End, is a crosscut driven east for a distance of about 7oft at the 200ft level. A splendid reef about 1ft in thickness has been passed through, showing nice gold in the stone, and fair prospects in the floors. The reef has been opened up north and south. The prospects so far point to the reef being payable, as the ground is soft and easily worked. Seeing the reef has been cut in new country, and so far as is known has never been opened up to any extent on the company's property, it is an important development. The mill is crushing again this week, the stone being principally from No. 1 winze.

Rowley's Reef Company, owing to the encouraging prospects met with in driving the ... level, is now working two shifts.

The drive is being pushed ahead, and if the ground continues the same as it is at present showing in the face, a few months should see the Patriarch shaft reached.

BROKEN HILL JUNCTION.

MANAGEMENT OF COMPANY.

DISCUSSION AT MEETING.

ADELAIDE, Friday.

At an extraordinary general meeting of the Junction Lead-mining Company, held here, strong comments were made by shareholders regarding the management of the company by the board of directors. The meeting was called to elect a new board in place of the five men who have retired in accordance with the agreement made when the company was reconstructed on June 20.

When the chairman (Mr. W. C. Davies) announced that three of the old directorate offered themselves for re-election, strong protest was made by local shareholders, and Mr. J. G. North, of Sydney, who was also one of the old directors.

During the discussion Mr. Davies stated that when elected to the directorate Mr. North announced he would not transact any business in Junction shares.

Mr. North denied the assertion, and declared that Mr. Davies had dominated other directors. He had made four fatal mistakes in the management of the company, the chief of which was in mortgaging the property, instead of making calls on shares. Mr. Davies had made a promise to certain operators that he would not make any calls.

Mr. Davies, in reply, said he had not made any promise to any operators. When preference shares had been issued on the motion of Mr. North, he told shareholders that the directors would not make any calls.

A poll was held in the afternoon, and the result will be announced on Saturday.

LATE CANON FLOWER.

An inquest was held yesterday at the City Coroner's Court by Mr. Hawkins respecting the death of Canon Willoughby Flower, on Monday last. It was stated deceased's body had been found in the bathroom at the rectory of St. Mark's Church of England, Darling Point, there being a bullet wound in the head. Evidence was given by Mr. Justice Harvey that deceased, through insomnia, was physically broken up, and subject to complete prostration after severe exertion. The coroner found that deceased inflicted the bullet wound while he was suffering from temporary mental derangement.

THE LATE MR. H. W. CAREY.

The late Mr. Henry William Carey, whose remains were interred in St. Thomas's Cemetery, North Sydney, on Thursday, had carried on the business of tea broker in Sydney for 20 years, the firm being known as H. W. Carey and Son. Mr. Carey in his 79 years of life had a varied, and, in his youthful days, an adventurous career. Born at Wanstead, near London, the youngest son of the then head of the firm of Carey and Brown, Eastern merchants, he was educated in Germany. At the age of 17 he was given the option of entering his father's firm, or of going to China. He chose China, and entered the service of Gibb, Livingstone, and Co., with whom he remained for 25 years. In China Mr. Carey soon attained a prominent position in the Eastern mercantile community, and superintended the loading of many of the fast tea clippers. He passed through the exciting times of the Taiping rebellion, and in some of the ports which have since been opened to trade Mr. Carey was the first European who ventured there. He continually slept with his revolver at his side, and he could tell exciting stories of secreting himself in attics and drawing up after him the ladder which had served him. His two eldest children, a daughter, who is now a nurse in England, and a son, afterwards his partner in business in Sydney, were born in Foochow. Returning to England at the age of 42 years, he joined as junior partner the firm of Adamson, Bell, and Co., of Lombard-street, London, tea and silk merchants. After some years misfortune overtook him, and, at the age of 49, he came to Australia to start the world afresh, with what he had saved from the wreck of his fortune. About 1884 he bought the business of Mr. H. J. Rhodes, a tea broker, and, changing the name to his own, he remained in the business till his death. Mr. Carey was recognised as an authority on tea and tea prices, especially on China teas. He was twice married, and left a son and six daughters.

UNION SECESSION.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—In the issue of the "Sydney Morning Herald" of July 24, appears a letter under the heading "Union Secession," signed by John Jenkins, secretary pro tem., Western District Mining Employees' Association. In the course of his remarks he makes the following assertions, when referring to the fact that the F.E.D. and F.A. were going into court for a higher minimum than at present exists in the western districts. He says that the reason why the question was asked (presumably by the man he takes to task, as the writer of the letter he was replying to), "is only thrown out in order to try and mar the pleasant relationship that exists between the two unions, notwithstanding the fact that a gulf was created by a member of our previous executive last year, advising the A.M.A. 'to go to their work' at the Mount Boppy mine when the engine-drivers were on strike." If this is unionism, I pray that in future Canbelego may be saved from it. Now, Sir, as one of the executives who was in Canbelego the most of last year, I take that portion of Mr. Jenkins's letter to be directed at me, as I was secretary of that branch, and an executive officer. If I am the one he refers to as doing the contemptible action, I challenge him, or anyone else, to prove it. I have no recollection of anything of the sort ever occurring, and deny his statement absolutely. In fairness to the executive committee, though they may not suit the writer, he should be manly enough to deal with the questions at issue between the two bodies as to the rights or wrongs of the case, but to make such innuendoes as accusing men of advising their fellows to scab on one another without any proofs, and without naming them, is about as low as a man can descend.

I am, etc.,
E. McLOUGHLIN,
July 24. Vice-president A.M.A., N.S.W.

The tramway authorities notify that commencing on Monday next the 6.48 p.m. tram from Sandringham (Ramsgate-road 6.51 p.m.) to Kogarah will be altered to leave at 6.30 p.m. (Ramsgate-road 6.47 p.m.), and run 4 mins. earlier throughout on Mondays to Fridays.

REAL ESTATE.

NOTES OF THE WEEK.

Notwithstanding the wet and cold, there was a fair amount of business transacted in the real estate market this week, and one or two sales of note were recorded. Properties which changed hands included two city blocks. The first was sold by Mr. S. Raper. It was a block in Pitt-street, on the eastern side, between Park and Market streets, and used by Messrs. Sargent and Co., who have still two years to run of their existing lease. But the land also runs through to Castlereagh-street, and has therefore the great depth of 270ft from street to street. The frontage to Pitt-street is only 32ft 7½in, and 35ft 9in to Castlereagh-street. The price paid was £22,500. Eighteen months ago this property was purchased for £18,600 by the vendor in the present instance, so the gentleman made about £4000 on his deal.

The second city property which changed hands this week was a portion of the well-known Starkey's block, in Phillip-street, adjoining St. Stephen's Presbyterian Church. Two allotments of 25ft each by a depth of 112ft were secured by a stanch Presbyterian, who, no doubt, would be quite willing to allow the church to have the land if required, or otherwise to utilise the block for his own use. It is fortunate for St. Stephen's Church that a loyal supporter of the kirk should have purchased this land, for it is a well-known fact that under the Rev. John Ferguson's ministry the present building, which occupies every available inch of land owned by the Presbyterian Church, is too small, but now the church authorities will, no doubt, have an opportunity of securing 50ft of additional frontage at a more reasonable rate than if strangers had purchased the block, and had erected up-to-date buildings. The price paid for the land works out at £200 per foot. It is a record price for Phillip-street, but judging by the continued upward tendency of the value of city properties, so few of which are available, and the natural growth of Sydney jointly taken into consideration, the purchaser in this instance will no doubt be able to turn over the property at a very fair profit in a very short space of time.

At the present time there are numerous buyers in the market looking for city properties, that is, where they are obtainable at a reasonable figure. These people are not simply speculators. They are in most instances business men, who are anxious to acquire their own property. They are like the suburban householder, anxious to avoid the rental business, and there is also to the city business man the uncertainty of the continuation of a lease. Owners of a property in the city are not now prepared to grant long leases to their tenants. The result is that business firms are at present building up their trade and connection on very shaky foundations, for the uncertainty of tenure of premises makes a man cautious about building up a business for the landlord to make such conditions that the tenant has no security of tenure. In fact, the goodwill of any firm is not of much value when based on such a foundation. Thus, there is a strong desire just now on the part of big firms to become their own landlords, and business successes of the last few years have enabled many firms to enter the market as purchasers, and it has thus brought about the change of ownership of many city properties.

The position is really an extension of the great desire shown by people during the last twelve or eighteen months to become their own landlords in regard to suburban residences. The rapid raising of rents and the uncertainty of getting a house to live in, made many people purchase a cottage who, under ordinary conditions, would have been content to pay a moderate house rent, using their money on other investments, such as company shares, etc., and so the business man who purchased his home realises now that it is better also, if possible, to own his business premises, and thus make himself absolutely secure against the inroads of the landlord. But the steady rise in city properties which has been going on for some time are causing many owners to sit tight, and agents, therefore, find it a rather difficult problem to get suitable city properties for their numerous clients. No doubt it is this tendency to hold back, and this desire, on the other hand, of business firms to purchase, that keeps up the price of all city investments.

There was an instance on Monday of the demand for city investments, when Messrs. Richardson and Wrench held a special sale of freeholds and leaseholds belonging to the City Council. The room was crowded, and spirited bidding was the order of the day. The first subdivision offered was at Chippendale. This was land forming part of a resumption recently made by the council of a large number of rookeries. Most of these hovels have since been demolished, and the council in one part of the resumption area recently erected workmen's flats, but the division of opinion as to whether it is wise to encourage the building of flats, and thus to crowd the people together under one roof, led to the council staying its hand as builder and landlord. It was decided to sell a portion of the land resumed, and on Monday quite a number of allotments on the west side of Abercrombie and surrounding streets were sold at from £12 to £25 per foot. Since the sale the firm have disposed of additional allotments fronting Abercrombie-street, near to its intersection with Cleveland-street, at from £15 to £19 per foot. This is considered a good price for this land, which old residents will remember was years ago a watercress bed. Some of the finest samples of watercress ever used by the citizens of Sydney were taken from this land. But with the natural growth of Sydney it is daily becoming a valuable city freehold.

Mr. Gregg at Monday's sale also disposed of blocks in Bourke and Dowling streets, Surry Hills, at £12/10/ and £15/10/ per foot. At Camperdown £25 per foot was paid for Paramatta-road frontages, and from £7 to £10 per foot for Pyrmont Bridge-road frontages, while £5/15/ to £6/10/ per foot was got for University-street frontages. The sale produced a total of £25,470, and since the sale the total increased by another £3020. Messrs. Raine and Horne were associated with Messrs. Richardson and Wrench in the conduct of this sale.

There has been a fair demand this week for suburban properties, and land values in suburbs adjacent to the tram, train, or ferry are steadily advancing in price. Last Saturday Messrs. Hugh Duff and Co. held a very successful sale on the ground of Webb's Estate at Burwood. They disposed of the whole subdivision at from £2/2/ to £3/10/ per foot. The land sold produced a total of £3313. As an instance of the activity of subdivision work, there were over 250 people present at this sale, and bidding for a number of the lots was keen.

Included among the sales effected this week by Messrs. Rix, Harris, and Co. was that well-known nursery at Dalley-road, Brookvale, which has been conducted and owned for the past 28 years by Mr. F. J. Gebuhr, one of the oldest horticulturists in and around Sydney. The purchasing price was £2500.

Messrs. Stanton and Son this week included in their sales a cottage in Logan-avenue, Haberfield, for £1095; two allotments at Rosebery Model Suburb at £4 per foot; and 120ft of land at Barranjoey at 6/ per foot.

Messrs. Hardie and Gorman this week sold a couple of small properties at Pyrmont subject to the approval of the Master in Equity. One was a cottage, in Pyrmont-street for £420, and the other a house in John-street for £295. The firm also sold a cottage in Woodward-avenue for £825, and a 3½ acre block in Cheltenham for £250.

Messrs. Richardson and Wrench, at their weekly sale yesterday, disposed of three properties in the list, and there was bidding for several of the other lots. A small cottage in William Henry-street, Ultimo, brought £310, another cottage at Leichhardt was sold for £360, and a subdivision block at Bankstown was disposed of at £42 per acre.

The same firm this week disposed of 60 acres at Pittwater near Newport, known as Farrell's Grant, running from the waters of Pittwater. The price paid was £1200. Another strip of land in the same district, part of the Clareville estate, was sold for £200; while two lots of the Fitzpatrick estate at Gladesville were disposed of for £143.

Mr. C. H. Crammond has had a busy week. His sales included a cottage in Marrickville for £675, a shop and dwelling at Summer Hill for £885, a residence at Ashfield for £1175, houses at Forest Lodge for £950, and two pairs of cottages at Petersham at £900 per pair; also a number of allotments of vacant land at Port Hacking, Sutherland, and Marrickville.

Surveyors and land owners are up in arms against the Blue Mountain Shire Council for strictly imposing a regulation that all newly formed streets in the various subdivisions must have a grade of one in 14. This is an old Government regulation which was made to apply to roads in level country, where teams with wool and heavy loads were bound to traverse. That was all right, but on the Blue Mountains the position is very different. We have there the main Bathurst-road, with a grade in some places of one in 10, and the unevenness of the subdivision blocks makes the position such that to drive a road through the land at one in 14 would cause many of the allotments to be from three to six feet above the roadway. The owners of such blocks would be compelled to build retaining walls, etc. Every person naturally admires a road with as little grade as possible, but to make a hard and fast rule in the grading of side streets in a mountainous country, streets which are used exclusively by light vehicles, is in the minds of a large number of people inflicting a hardship on land owners which is having the effect of keeping estates out of the market, thus hindering the progress of such places as Leura, Wentworth Falls, and other much admired spots in the health-giving centres of the Blue Mountains.

It is stated that if such a rule is strictly enforced by the shire council it will be impossible to gain access to some of the subdivisions. That would be a pity. In Katoomba it is said that no such hard and fast rule exists, and there some of the roads have a grade of one in seven, and in eight. It is said also that the shire council is going to make a distinction in the case of a subdivision at Mount Piddington. It is to be hoped that the shire council, while advocating roads with as little grade as possible, will not make a hard and fast rule that will hinder the carrying out of subdivision work within the large and important area under its control. The matter was mentioned at the last meeting of the Surveyors' Institute, and it was unanimously decided to draw the attention of the shire council to the injustice that was being done to land owners and others by the enforcement of such a hard and fast rule.

There is to be an outdoor sale this afternoon, at Lindfield, on the North Shore Line, when Messrs. Slade and Brown will offer four valuable business sites right at the station. This is a small but rather interesting subdivision. It is the old Methodist Church site, but the Church authorities decided to secure a block for a new church on the other side of the line, where the new church is now being built. The present church is on one of the lots to be offered to-day, and the building is such that it could be adapted for shop purposes.

Mr. R. T. Forsyth this week sold a villa at Chatswood for £1100, and a cottage in the same suburb for £700, also a subdivision block at Longueville for £1200, a number of allotments in suburbs on the North Shore line, and 240 allotments of Blackall's Township at Lake Macquarie.

Messrs. B. B. Tuohy and Co. have sold several properties this week at Neutral Bay. One cottage in Goddard-street, known as Moyallan, brought £925. Another in Reynolds-street, known as Guyra, realised £775, and a third in Waters-road, known as Allandale, was sold for £775. The same firm also sold 67 acres of land on the Mulgoa-road, near Liverpool, for £478.

In addition to the freehold blocks sold by Messrs. Richardson and Wrench, and Raine and Horne, on behalf of the City Council this week, a large corner site, fronting Liverpool-street and Wentworth-avenue, was also leased for a term of 50 years, at a rental of £1000 per annum, and two small allotments fronting Commonwealth-street at a rental of £50 per annum.

There is still a fair demand for properties at Cronulla, and this week Mr. C. Monro disposed of a cottage property fronting the Esplanade for £1400, and several blocks of land in the district were also sold.

Mr. J. W. Crane reports having sold during the week a block of land in area about six and a half acres, situated at the corner of High and Botany streets, Randwick, at a price just under £10,000. The purchaser is a builder, who, it is said, intends to erect about 80 cottages on the land. There is about 2200 feet of building frontage in the block.

At their bi-weekly sale next Thursday, Messrs. Raine and Horne will submit a number of first-class residences, situated at Bellevue Hill, and other attractive centres in the eastern suburbs. There have been many inquiries this week regarding these properties, and the sale ought to prove attractive.

Mr. C. Monro, of Cronulla, intimates that he has arranged his first outdoor sale during the coming season for Eight-hour Day, when he will submit the Cronulla Port Hacking Estate of 81 acres, subdivided into 400 choice lots. There is already a big demand for the land, and, with this and other sales to follow, Cronulla will again be to the front so far as subdivision work is concerned.

On Thursday Messrs. Hugh Duff and Co. submitted to auction a block of land in Pitt-street, city, adjoining Sydney Snow's. The bidding started at £5000, and the property was passed in for £6000.

Parramatta River home site estates are continuing to be in keen demand. Messrs. Arthur Rickard and Co., Ltd., report that their Centre, Fairlight and Fairlight Extension Estates at Five Dock, and the Grasmere Estate at Mortlake, have been particularly prominent, several sales having been effected. These riverside properties are excellent propositions for the home-seeker and the investor, and will, no doubt, within the next few years develop into some of the most picturesque garden suburbs around Sydney. In addition, the river being close by will afford to many recreation in boating, fishing, bathing, etc. As all these estates are within easy reach by tram or ferry, the value of a home amid such delightful surroundings can be easily estimated.

Since the recent announcement in regard to the North Shore Bridge, and the early electrification of the North Shore line, numerous inquiries have set in for home sites in the northern suburbs, and particularly for those estates which have the most elevated positions. The demand is especially felt at Lindfield, Broadmeadow, Hornsby, Turramurra, Pymble, and Killara. The Heart of Lindfield Estate at Lindfield station is a property in the market which is particularly attractive for home sites, owing to its grand soil and lawn-like aspect. North View Heights Estate, at Turramurra, is also a select residential property which is receiving a good deal of inquiry. Owing to its position it is eminently suitable for first-class residences. Messrs. Arthur Rickard and Co., who have charge of many estates in these districts, report a good demand, which is evidence of the growing popularity of the land along the North Shore railway line.

MEAT STRIKE FINES.

The acting general secretary of the Australasian Meat Industry Employees Union, Mr. J. Grainger, stated yesterday that the information published from the Government to the effect that 94 employees had not paid the fines imposed upon them in connection with the meat strike was incorrect, the union having paid all the fines some months ago.

GERMAN SHIPPING SUBSIDIES.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—The statement made by one of the witnesses before the Interstate Commission in your paper's issue of to-day that "German manufacturers were in a more favourable position to (cement) export than British, because the German Government subsidised German shippers, whereas the British Government did not" is likely to give your readers an erroneous idea as to the nature of the so-called German shipping subsidy. It would seem as if the exporter (the shipper) would get any payment or any bounty or premium in any form from the German Government for cement carried from Germany or elsewhere on German ships to Australia.

This is by no means the case, neither for cement nor for any other merchandise. Since the abolition of the sugar bounty no bounty or premium of any kind whatsoever is paid by my Government. The payment granted by us to the North German Lloyd is not a subsidy in the real meaning of the word, as we don't make grants, for building or equipment, mileage, bonus, etc. We pay the North German Lloyd only a sum at par with the payments made to the P. and O. and Orient Companies by the British and Australian Governments—for certain specified services rendered, laid down by special agreement, in order to maintain a regular mail and passenger service between Bremen and Sydney. In return for this the shipowners are bound to observe the time-table compiled by the Government; to use first-class ships of a certain size, speed, and construction; to carry free of charge the mails and their attendants; to convey Government shipments and officials at preferential rates, to undertake the transport of prisoners under observance of suitable precautionary measures, and generally to observe the schedules compiled for persons and goods approved of by the Government, etc.

This shows that the compensations are by no means a financial assistance given to the contracting shipping companies, and certainly not the mercantile marine as a whole.

As the German cement or the cement carried by German ships certainly does not reach these shores on board the Imperial German mail steamers (owing to the higher freight to be paid in that case) the abovementioned allegation is obviously based on a misinterpretation.

The Imperial German Government has always been guided by the conviction that shipbuilding and shipping trade cannot be created by artificial means, such as subsidies granted by the State, nor can the development of these concerns be accelerated in a manner not in accordance with existing and natural conditions of the shipping.

In this, the Government acted in accordance with the leading German shipping circles, whose members, conscious of their own strength, have always declared themselves against State subsidies, and have aimed at retaining the freedom and independence of their action, which otherwise would necessarily be more or less restricted.

I am, etc.,
R. KILIANI,

"PROHIBITION AND REVENUE."

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—Mr. Stooke, of the Liquor Trade's Defence Association, falls back upon a statement made by the Hon. T. Waddell at the licensed victuallers' annual picnic in 1910, and quotes that gentleman's "opinion" in opposition to my contention as to the economic advantages of prohibition.

He proceeds: "Mr. Marion was very careful to produce no evidence in support of his contentions." I will follow Mr. Stooke's lead, and give the "opinion" of the late Right Hon. Joseph Chamberlain, who said, "If I could destroy the desire for strong drink in the people of England what change should we see? We should see our taxes reduced by millions sterling a year."

My reference to Oamaru can hardly be dismissed by Mr. Stooke's statement about the Government policy in regard to county gaols. Mr. A. G. Creagh, Crown prosecutor of Oamaru, said in 1911, with regard to crime, "There has been a marked diminution in the district. As Crown prosecutor my duties are now very light, and there is a striking contrast between the present state of things and that ruling prior to no-license."

When Mr. Stooke states that "the general idea prevalent amongst no-license advocates, that prohibition would do away with—or even reduce—crime, insanity, and poverty, is not borne out by fact," he deliberately discards the overwhelming official evidence that is available on this question.

I deliberately challenge Mr. Stooke to produce one single instance where poverty and crime have not been decreased as a result of prohibition. My evidence above is but a sample of columns of available facts and figures from most authentic and official sources.

As to my "finding particular satisfaction in the economic conditions obtaining under prohibition," let me summarise in the words spoken by Governor Stubbs, of Kansas, in his famous challenge to the people of Chicago—"If wisdom should cause you to send a delegation to Kansas, I will guarantee that they will not find a business man of standing who will not testify that prohibition is one of the best business assets of Kansas."

Prohibition, as an argument which excludes every moral consideration as rigidly as the whole-souled mammon worshipper could desire, brings us to exactly the same conclusion at which the moralist arrives on higher grounds. For financial reasons the liquor traffic should be fought, if it never ruined a life, broke a heart, or damned a soul; even those who hold the godless doctrine that it is revenue, not righteousness, that exalteth a nation, must admit if their economics be any sounder than their theology, the immense value of prohibition.

I am, etc.,
JAMES MARION, General Secty.,

A copy of the "Speculum Christiani," a rare book, printed by William de Machlinia in 1483, was sold at Messrs. Hodgson's rooms, in Chancery-lane, recently, for £138. Machlinia and Lettou, his partner, were the first printers in London. The former had his press in Holborn.

OLD GAOLS.

PRISONERS OF THE PAST.

"'Gallows Hill' we called it."

"Early in the morning there sounded the clanking of irons as the chain gang wended its weary way from Hyde Park Barracks to work on Flagstaff Hill or Fort Phillip. In the evening the tired convicts clanked wearily back through Jamieson and Hunter streets to the park. But 'Gallows Hill' is no more. Hyde Park and Carter's Barracks are but memories. Now Darlinghurst is gone. For the first time the city of Sydney has no gaol within its borders."

So speak the few old citizens who, during four-score years, have watched the little settlement in Sydney Cove develop. And while there may be several who remember the genesis of Darlinghurst, there be but few whose memories go back to Gallows Hill.

GEORGE-STREET GAOL.

In these enlightened days, when "humanity" is the watchword of the prison system, when public executions are unthinkable, when the lash is almost obsolete, and when every criminal has a comfortable cell to himself, it is hard to imagine the horrors of the early days. But the old gaol bounded by Lower George-street, Essex-street, Little Essex-street, and Cambridge-street, was a hell upon earth. It was only 85 feet long, and built to accommodate 200 prisoners. Yet 345 men and women had at one time been packed into it. Eventually a Legislative Council committee decided that it was miserably inadequate, ridiculously insecure, and in a ruinous condition. In a room 32 feet by 22 no fewer than 112 prisoners were herded together, some sleeping between the legs of others, for there was not even floor space enough. Attempts to escape were numerous, and the brutal treatment debased the unfortunate criminals. Executions were frequent. No wonder the spot was called Gallows Hill.

For 42 years it had done duty, but in Governor Brisbane's time it was recognised that a new gaol was imperatively necessary. So an area of three and a half acres was secured just outside the city. Solid walls 20 feet high were erected round the area, and the currency lads called the place "Woolloomooloo Stockade." Two of those original walls still stand, on the southern and eastern boundaries. And the initials of some of the hapless prisoners still catch the eye of the passer-by. It was not all built by the convicts. One hundred free labourers added their quota. A chain gang quarried the stone from the Woolloomooloo quarry in William-street, where St. Peter's church now stands. But the work progressed too slowly. There was too much "Government stroke." The Sydney "Gazette" opined that it would be far more expeditious to call tenders, and have the work pushed ahead by contractors. However in 1835 Parliament voted £35,000 for the completion of the gaol. It was planned after the Eastern Penitentiary of Philadelphia, and took five years to build. Then, on June 2, 1841, Darlinghurst was proclaimed a Government prison.

OLD DARLINGHURST.

Seventy-three years ago the first inmates were incarcerated. Sydney citizens have at different times seen many processions, grave and gay. But never since has there been such a mournful procession as took place on the bleak winter's morning of June 7, 1841. Convicts, shivering and miserable, in clanking chains, guarded by armed police and warders, shambled along from the old prison to the new. There were old and young, hardened criminals and petty thieves. They seemed to crawl along George-street and Bridge-street, creep through the Domain, then stagger up the hill to the "Woolloomooloo Stockade." There were 407 men and boys, with the murderer Curran in the van, heavily ironed, and destined soon to end his days in Berrima. Then, later on, a slower, sadder spectacle, came the 39 women prisoners, and Darlinghurst was populated.

The year 1841 is memorable in other respects. In a faded and dilapidated old volume, issued in 1847, by Francis Low, and printed by Kern and Mader, at 7 Hunter-street, we find that gas was first used in Sydney in 1841, and the company gave a brilliant illumination on Church Hill; that the census was taken, showing the population of the colony to be 130,856; that the High Sheriff, in a temporary fit of insanity, shot himself at Darlinghurst; and that two new weekly papers saw the light, the "Observer," under the auspices of Dr. Lang, and the "Omnibus," edited by Col. Wilson. Also is it noted that six of the bushrangers belonging to "The Jew Boys' Mob," who had for twelve months kept the Hunter River Valley in a state of terror by numerous acts of daring, outrage, and murder, were executed.

A few months later came the first executions. George Stroud murdered his wife, and Robert Hudson killed a fellow-prisoner. They were hanged together, and many people assembled. But three years later, when the villainous Knatchbull was executed, about 10,000 citizens congregated, kept back from the scaffold by mounted troopers. But the crowd was a silent crowd, and not a holiday crowd like some of those that graced public executions in the old countries. Public execution was abolished in 1853, 15 years before England thought fit to follow suit.

THE SCAFFOLD.

But many well-known criminals paid the penalty of their crimes at Darlinghurst—76 in all—bushrangers and murderers. Captain Moonlight was hanged in 1880, the Mount Rennie criminals in 1887, Louisa Collins in 1889, George Archer in 1893, and Montgomery and Williams in 1894. Others of note were O'Farrell, who shot the Duke of Edinburgh; Butler, and Jimmy Governor. The last to be executed at Darlinghurst was Baxter in 1907. And, though the public sense of propriety no longer sanctions public executions, there is a morbid interest attached to the gallows; and when the gaol was thrown open to visitors this week hundreds of curious citizens flocked to the condemned cell, and stood on the gallows where many noted criminals had stood before them.

At odd times daring Jack Sheppards have broken out of the gaols at Berrima, Goulburn, Bathurst, Parramatta, and Biloela; but Darlinghurst has proved a tougher proposition. In the last 35 years only two prisoners have escaped. But there have been many bold bids for freedom. "Thunderbolt" was in Cockatoo Island Gaol for cattle thieving. He escaped, swam with his irons on to the shore, and took to bushranging. Once a number of prisoners found a likely "header" in the wall, and right under the eye of the warder cut the mortar away. Removing the stone when the warder had turned away, no fewer than 17 men scrambled through. They were lean, wiry customers, for the hole was small. Then a fat prisoner essayed the task, and stuck. He kicked in vain. When the warder returned he found the fat man half-way through, and a prisoner on each side of the wall playing tug-of-war.

PAST AND FUTURE.

Back in the 'Sixties a lot of rebellious prisoners from Cockatoo Island were sent to Darlinghurst, and they revolted, dashed to the painters' shed, seized a ladder, and scaled the walls. But on the other side they found armed warders ready to receive them; so they retreated to the cells, and barricaded themselves in. The guard attacked, and when one of the prisoners was shot the rest surrendered. Sometimes the dreary monotony of prison life became unbearable, and prisoners, finding escape hopeless, committed suicide. One man tried 14 times to shuffle off this mortal coil, but always failed; others were more determined, and succeeded. The old hands at Darlinghurst tell many tales of the prisoners and prisons of the past. But nowadays the prisoner's lot is not altogether an unhappy one. He works, and reads, and smokes; mostly he reforms.

So now Darlinghurst passes from the list of gaols, like Berrima, and Biloela, and Trial Bay. The prisoners have gone out to Long Bay to the penitentiary. Even as Gallows Hill has been forgotten, so will the tragic record of Darlinghurst pass into the seldom-opened pages of history. It will become a centre of light and learning, rather than the abode of criminals. Instead of the monotonous march of sentries will sound the music of children's voices. The drab prison walls and railings will be superseded by the graceful columns of an educational edifice that shall be a thing of beauty and a joy for ever.

EXECUTIONER IN A DRESS SUIT.

Two women and a man were recently beheaded in Germany. At Strasburg, Magdalene Wendel and her lover, a man named Hirth, were executed for the murder of the woman's husband, whom they poisoned. The execution took place within the city prison. It is reported (the "Daily Express" says) that the woman fainted with terror when she saw the block and the headsman in evening dress with a great axe in his hand. The headsman's assistants carried her to the block in a state of collapse. At Graudenz, in West Prussia, Margarete Hass was executed in the same way. She also murdered her husband by poisoning him. Germany is the only country in Europe in which women criminals are beheaded. All the protests of the humanitarians against the system have been fruitless.

LITHGOW, Friday.

Good progress is being made with the Wallerawang duplication work. The main camp is established three miles from Wallerawang. A smaller one is situated a mile closer, and a third is being made a mile from town. Bricklayers are extending the culverts, and a start has been made to widen the cuttings. The spot where the new line will leave the present track is a short distance on the Wallerawang side of the main camp. A big gully has to be crossed here, and an enormous quantity of earth will be required for the embankment. The route is marked by a number of poles, each 40 feet high, and the earth has to be filled as high as the top.

At the half-yearly meeting of the G.U.O.O.F. it was decided to adhere to the rule that members only be admitted on the certificate of lodge doctors. The following officers were elected:—N.G., Norman Jones; V.G., Alf. Fowler; financial secretary, H. B. Jones; treasurer, J. Rodham; past N.G., J. B. Jones.

The municipal valuer, Mr. E. Burns, has relinquished that position, which he has had for many years.

The local coal trade has been good during the past week, and trucks have been plentiful, except in the early part of the week.

Mr. E. S. Carr, M.P., has received a letter from the Postmaster-General's Department in regard to the application of residents at Oberon for telephonic connection to the local post-office. This states that the necessary action has been taken to provide a telephone exchange.

A dividend of 5 per cent. on the share capital, and 2¼ per cent. on the consumption of bread by shareholders, was declared, leaving a balance of £417 to be carried forward. The retiring directors, Thomas Robinson, A. Humby, F. W. Thursby, and Geo. Russell were re-elected.

The recent ball in aid of the funds of the Maitland Hospital resulted in a net profit of £87.

DOUBLES OF WELL-KNOWN MEN.

Mr. Winston Churchill has a double who is a waiter in a Plymouth hotel. Lord Charles Beresford also possesses a double in a waiter who is his exact counterpart. As a matter of fact, we probably all have doubles somewhere or other (the Carpenter says in the "Daily Express.") King Edward had quite a lot. King George and the Czar of Russia are eerily like each other, and there is a gentleman in Massachusetts who is exactly like Colonel Roosevelt, even to the teeth and the smile. George du Maurier and Sir Laurence Alma-Tadema, Jules Ferry, the French statesman, and William Whiteley, Lord Tennyson, and Sir Leslie Stephen, Pierpont Morgan, and Jem Mace supply examples of notorious doubles. Every French president has his double. It is a sort of national game.

A start has at last been made with the actual widening of the western end of Fleet-street, London. The building line on the south side having been put back by considerable demolition and re-erection, workmen have during the past few days been reducing the pavement to a normal width, and the piece taken off will be added to the carriage way as soon as it can be made ready.

CASUALTIES.

FELL DOWNSTAIRS.

While visiting some friends residing at 6 Rowena-place, Sydney, on July 15, Fanny Rothwell (35), a married woman, fell downstairs, and died from injuries to her head on the same day. An inquest was held at the City Coroner's Court yesterday, when Mr. Hawkins (Coroner) returned a verdict of accidental death. Mr. Williams appeared on behalf of the trustees of the property where deceased died.

Marion Campbell said deceased was visiting her home, when she asked to be allowed to lie down upstairs. Witness next heard a crash, as of wood breaking, and turning round saw deceased fall, striking her head and shoulders on the floor. There had been a crack in the step from which deceased fell for about two months past.

To Mr. Williams: Witness was of the opinion that the step had been gradually loosening.

CRUSHED BY STAGING.

From injuries received, through a staging falling upon him at No. 8 wharf, Woolloomooloo, on July 15, Charles Cox (60), a wharf-labourer, died at the Sydney Hospital on the same day. At the Coroner's Court yesterday an inquest was held by the City Coroner (Mr. Hawkins), who recorded a verdict of accidental death. Mr. E. A. Roberts appeared on behalf of the New South Wales Stevedoring Company, Ltd. Deceased was at the time of the accident assisting to run a staging weighing about 8cwt. along the wharf, when by some means it fell, crushing deceased underneath it.

RUN OVER BY A LORRY.

Robert Ritchie (37), a carter, was run over by a lorry in Queen-street, Woollahra, on July 14, and died after admission to the Sydney Hospital. Before Mr. Hawkins, at the City Coroner's Court yesterday, an inquest was held, and a verdict of death from injuries accidentally received was recorded. According to the evidence, deceased was driving a lorry, when the horses suddenly moved forward. He fell to the roadway, and one of the rear wheels passed over his chest.

TACKLE FALLS ON SAILOR.

About 12 noon yesterday Colin Campbell (36), a sailor, employed on the scow Maroro, was helping to hoist timber out of the hold of the vessel, when the tackle gave way, striking him on the head. He was taken by the Civil Ambulance to the Balmain Hospital, where he was admitted by Dr. Bull, suffering from a severe scalp wound.

CHILD BURNED TO DEATH.

Bartholo Farabilo, a little boy, 5 years of age, was severely burned about the body at his parents' residence 557 King-street, Newtown, on Thursday night, and died after being admitted to the Royal Prince Alfred Hospital. He was playing with matches when his mother was in another part of the house, and set his clothing on fire.

COLLISION AT CIRCULAR QUAY.

A horse and cart driven by Ernest Owen, 22, residing at 126 Bullanaming-street, Redfern, collided with a tram car opposite the Orient Steamship Company's wharf, Circular Quay, yesterday afternoon. The cart was smashed and the driver thrown out. He sustained several scalp wounds and abrasions to the legs. The Civil Ambulance rendered first aid, but Owen refused to go to the hospital, stating he would see a doctor himself.

KILLED BY A TRAIN.

Mr. M. H. Fitzhardinge, District Coroner, held an inquiry yesterday at Ashfield into the cause of death of Patrick Mitchell.

Andrew Moody, driver of the 2.20 p.m. train from Sydney to Parramatta on the 16th inst., said that when he had passed Summer Hill Station about 200 yards he saw a man about 60 yards ahead, walking towards Ashfield. Witness blew the whistle, but no notice was taken of it. He applied the brakes and stopped the train, which was running about 25 to 30 miles an hour at the time. Going back he found the man apparently dead under the fifth or sixth carriage.

The Coroner found that the cause of death was injuries accidentally received by being run over by a train at Summer Hill on July 16.

ADELAIDE, Friday.

John Duncan, a fruitgrower, residing at Marion, was getting into a van drawn by two horses at Edwardstown, when the animals started off. The man fell, and was dragged about 60 yards and crushed under one of the wheels. He was killed.

THE SPANIARDS IN AUSTRALIA.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—From time to time statements have been contributed to the press, attempting to prove that two Spanish vessels visited the Australian coast and entered Sydney Harbour early in the seventeenth century—one, the Santa Ysabel, the other, Santa Barbara. That afterwards the latter was wrecked on Facing Island, and was seen there by Captain Cook or his officers in 1770, 160 years afterwards.

Flinders, when he visited Port Curtis, which he discovered, says Captain Cook passed it in the night. He, therefore, could not have seen a bleached hull on the beach, and if it had been there in Flinders' time he no doubt would have said so. The author of the statements says it was also seen by Mr. Archer, who built the Fram Arctic exploring vessel. As this gentleman is still alive, I wrote to him recently, and received his reply this week, and I now ask you to publish it for the information of those interested in Australian history.

I also wrote to Sir Clements Markham, president of the Royal Geographical Society, who, I think, will be accepted as an authority on the subject, respecting the fate of Lope de Vega's ship, after she left Mendana's squadron, off the island of Santa Cruz. His reply I also send you.

The other "evidences" I have shown to be fallacies, and to any that are not satisfied I am willing to go all over the subject again, in the press, if I am allowed to do so, or in a lecture if more agreeable. But I think the letters enclosed are quite sufficient.

I am, etc.,
JAMES H. WATSON,
ex-president Australian Historical Society.
July 23.

Larvik, Norway, June 17, 1914.

James H. Watson, Esq.,
The Australian Historical Society,
Sydney.

Dear Sir,—Your favour of 3rd May duly received. I have much pleasure in giving you such information as I have regarding the supposed wreck on Facing Island—unfortunately, that is next to none. I am aware that a story of the kind you mention has circulated in the Australian papers, and my attention was drawn a year or two ago to a lengthy notice in the "Capricornian," stating that I had seen the wreck and pronounced it to be the remains of a Spanish ship. I then wrote a letter to the editor, stating that I could not say if there was any foundation for the story about the wreck, but that the rumour connecting my name with it was a mistake; that I had never seen the wreck, never having landed at the part of Facing Island in question. As I do not see the "Capricornian" regularly, I am not aware if my letter was published. As it will appear from this, the questions you ask must be answered in the negative. How my name has been brought in as evidence in the case may perhaps be accounted for in this way. I lived during the latter part of the 'Fifties at Gracemore, on the Fitzroy, and occasionally cruised about in a sailing boat off Port Curtis. About this time—probably in 1857 or 1858—a coasting schooner, the "Sable Chief," took in a cargo of wool at Rockhampton, bound for Sydney, and was wrecked on some rocks off the east coast of Facing Island. A part of the cargo was washed ashore on the beach and was bought by the firm with which I was connected, dried, and re-shipped, my brother William (since deceased) superintending the work while I remained on the station. The strange thing is that I do not remember my brother ever mentioning having seen the remains of a ship on the island, and although my memory may fail me, I think it likely I should remember such an unusual incident had it occurred. If I am not mistaken, the "Capricornian" also spoke of a brass gun found near the wreck and handed over to Captain (afterwards Sir Maurice) O'Connell, at that time Government Resident at Port Curtis. If this is true, this gun is probably still to the fore at Gladstone. The ship remains, too, are not likely to have been removed, and could still be found—if they ever existed.

Yours truly, (sgd.) COLIN ARCHER.

Dear Sir,—With reference to your letter, received on April 23, 1914, the best account of the voyage of Alvaro de Mendana de Negra in 1595 will be found in my translation of the voyages of Quiros, printed by the Hakluyt Society in 1904. It was Mendana's second voyage, and Quiros was the pilot. Lope de Vega commanded one of the ships called the Santa Isabel, and was wrecked on the volcanic island of Tinakula. The story about her being found with sails set and all the people rotten is all nonsense. Search was made for the wreck by her consort, but no ship called the Santa Barbara was ever sent to look for her from Lima. Lope de Vera was Mendana's brother-in-law.

Tinakula is one of the Santa Cruz group. The Santa Isabel was very unseaworthy, and went down in sight of the volcano. I think you will be doing useful work in exploding absurd stories which are so injurious to sound geographical research.

Ever yours very truly, (sgd.) CLEMENTS R. MARKHAM.

The Salvation Army has a certain genius for the simple and feeling expression of those things which move humanity. At the Albert Hall recently there was a vacant chair left for every comrade lost in the Empress of Ireland, and tied upon it were a white sash and the legend of his name. What could more fitly betoken the triumph of faith over death, or symbolise that Communion of Saints which is the bond by which Christianity links two worlds?

THE WEATHER.

INCREASE IN TEMPERATURES.

Due to the Antarctic influences which were active on Thursday morning in the south-western districts, some light and scattered rain has been recorded on the Central and Southern slopes, and at a few places to the north-west as far as Bourke. The chief amounts received were:—Parkes 8 points, and Cudal 6 on the South-western slopes; Morangarell 22, and Gundagi and Tumut each 8, on the Central tableland; Carcoar 9, on the Central-western plains; Ungarie 14, and Coonamble 9. The remainder of the precipitation was very light and scattered.

At 9 a.m. yesterday there were indications of further rain over the Southern districts, but principally on the South-western slopes. Although the State was covered by a high pressure (or fine weather system), yet on its southern side, which lay over the South-western districts of New South Wales, there was a depression in the isobars, marking the activity of a disturbance over the Southern Ocean.

The weather at that hour (9 a.m.) was cloudy to overcast over the southern half of the State. Scattered clouds in the north-west and light rain or misty showers at a few places in the Central-Western districts, the south-western slopes, and at Hill End, Goulburn, Kurrajong, and Parramatta. Otherwise fine and clear weather ruled, with frosts, and a few fogs.

The temperature has increased generally since Thursday, the 9 a.m. readings being decidedly higher. The largest rise was 12 degrees at Bega, Moruya and Cooma were each 11 degrees higher, and Bodalla 10 degrees. The lowest registrations reported to-day were:—Kiandra 21 degrees, and Nimitybelle and Queanbeyan each 25 degrees. The highest temperature in the State on Thursday was 72 degrees, at Kempsey.

ALSTONVILLE.—After a succession of heavy frosts heavy rain commenced on Sunday, continuing until Thursday, during which time nine inches were recorded.

HARGRAVES.—For the last six weeks the weather has been very unsettled. It has now changed, and fine, clear, bright days are being experienced.

Fewer persons were killed in street accidents in London during the first 20 weeks of this year than in corresponding periods for some years past. An analysis of the figures for 1911-13 shows that as far as age groups are concerned the greatest number of deaths occurs to children between 5 and 10 years of age. It is suggested that instruction in the schools as to the danger of rushing into the roads, the right way of crossing streets, etc., would materially help in reducing the number of accidents to children.

SYDNEY TOURIST OFFICE.

WELLINGTON, Friday.

Mr. Rhodes, Minister in charge of tourist resorts, interviewed regarding the statement of Dr. McNab that the New Zealand Government offices in Sydney had lately been removed to premises that were not as suitable as those previously occupied, said that, while the old offices were no doubt very suitable, the Bank of New Zealand, having bought the building, required the use of it at once, and it was necessary to obtain other quarters. The Government had arranged for a suite of rooms in the new building being erected by the Union Company, which were eminently suitable for its requirements. These rooms being at the corner of George and Grosvenor streets were right in the heart of traffic, and he thought they could fully meet the requirements of the Government. The occupancy of the present premises was only a temporary arrangement, pending the completion of the Union Company's buildings.

To show that the business of the Tourist Department had not been detrimentally affected by the present temporary alteration, he said that since the present offices were opened there had been a continual stream of visitors to them, and no complaint had been made regarding the unsuitable situation.

CIVIL SERVANTS' LEAVE.

WELLINGTON, Friday.

It is proposed by the Public Service Commissioners to make arrangements to grant six months' leave of absence on full pay to all Civil servants after 20 years' service.

FEAR OF TRUSTS.

Sir James Crichton-Browne, addressing the conference of the Child Study Association, alluded to the dangers, in the present state of knowledge, of the application of electricity to child-culture. He was inclined to think that some postponement of mental evolution was even now going on. A large amount of material he had collected went to show that boys and girls of a century ago matured a little earlier than they did to-day. His impression was that the boys leaving Eton to-day at eighteen were distinctly more boyish than the youths of that age and under who entered the Scottish universities 150 years ago.

MOTOR DRIVING. BE A CHAUFFEUR. Tuition, 30s. WE GUARANTEE PROFICIENCY and License from 6 to 12 days. Our Pupils are taught on modern Cars, and obtain their license on a gate-change, which is the hardest car to drive. Most modern lorries and high-priced cars are gate-changes. If you obtain license on this style of car you can drive any car made. We don't charge extra for use of car for license. We specialise in teaching the working and repairs of engines, magnetos, carburettors, tyres, tubes, etc. We have expert mechanics overhauling cars, and parts of same are open for inspection of pupils. Our chief aim is to make you a competent Motor Driver, and capable of looking after your running repairs. It is useless learning motor driving and trying to be a mechanic, as it is necessary to serve an apprenticeship; so don't waste your time, but come to us. We are making a great name for ourselves, and our business is a tremendous success through the fair deal we give every man. Our Pupils speak very highly of us. Have a chat with them. There is no trade can be learnt so quickly and cheaply as the one we offer you, and there is no other trade demands employment like this one. It's the coming thing; get in early. We don't show you how to drive and change gears, but make you do it yourself the very first lesson.
Our price is reasonable, cars modern, tuition the best. Night Pupils have Traffic Driving same as Day Pupils. Day, Evening, Saturday Afternoon, and Ladies' Classes. WEDNESDAY, 7.30 P.M., FREE DEMONSTRATIVE LECTURE, PUBLIC INVITED.

PIMPLES AND BLACKHEADS.

When the skin is cruelly marked with pimples, blackheads, open pores, eczema, or other similar distressing complaints, then LETHOL OINTMENT will do for you what you never dreamed possible. It will bring health and purity to your stricken skin, because it removes the germs from the pores, and the foreign matter and the disease, and thus makes the skin as healthy and as smooth as human skin could be. You run a very, very grave risk in permitting your skin to be thus, for do you not know that hundreds—aye, many hundreds—of women folk have imperishable scars upon them, the result of neglected pimples and blackheads. Lethol Ointment removes all traces of ringworm, and, no matter how wide open the pores may be, this remarkable ointment will close them and heal them. A well-known nurse recently remarked that Lethol Ointment enabled many thousands of women folk to venture into the public streets unveiled, and without being the object of pitying glances. It is 3s per tin (post free 3s 3d), from DURNO, Ltd., Chemists, Pitt-street, Sydney; and from FIRKIN and DALBY, Chemists, Newcastle.

GOOD NEWS FOR GREY-HAIRED FOLK

To be able to remedy your grey hair by natural means—to bring every grey thread back to precisely the colour it was before greyness crept in—to again have every grey thread its old colour—be it golden brown, red, light brown, flaxen, black, or what not—to have all this, and to gain it without the use of a drop of hair dye, stain, hair tint, or restorer—that is the great, the supreme, the tremendous blessing, that Surmanol confers upon you. Surmanol is the recently-discovered remedy for grey hair, which has the extraordinary power of bringing the greyest whitest hair back to its normal colour in a few short weeks. Greyness is caused by a lack of colour oil in the hair. Surmanol strengthens certain glands in the scalp that supply this oil, and thus every grey thread is soon filled with the rich, natural, healthy, pretty colour that was there before. The remarkable feature about Surmanol is that when it has remedied your greyness you leave off using it, for this strange precious colour oil will never—never cease flowing into the hair from the scalp, thus making the return of greyness impossible. Day and night, year in—year out, these colour glands just keep on pumping—pumping colour into the hair, so that soon a grey-haired person will be a stranger in our midst. Surmanol is not a dye. It is 5/ (post free 5/9), from The Edgeworth Laboratories, Hoffnung's-chambers (1st floor), Pitt-street, Sydney (near G.P.O.). Will you call or write for full free information about this extraordinary compound—Surmanol? OPEN FRIDAY NIGHTS.

No one need have Freckles, Blackheads, or Wrinkles, if they come to me for proper treatment.

My system of Massage is built on sound, commonsense lines, and is the result of experience gained in YEARS OF SUCCESSFUL PRACTICE. HAIR HEALTH.

The causes of hair falling are so varied and so apparently trivial that precaution is rarely taken in time. Scurf or dandruff, brittleness, or splitting at the ends, are signs which require immediate attention. At this stage such a nourishment as J.S.W. HAIR FOOD proves of inestimable value. It cleanses the scalp and improves in quantity and brilliance even the best heads of hair. J.S.W. Preparations are fast becoming a household word. Hundreds of testimonials asserting confidence in these tonics have been received, each emphasising the fact that J.S.W. HAIR FOOD is maintaining its excellent reputation. Being made in OILY and NON-OILY lotions, it commends itself for use in all cases.

MOTHER! LOOK TO YOUR CHILDREN'S TEETH.

Often because of decayed teeth your child is forced "to eat as one does," and then does not chew its food properly, with resultant stomach trouble. Further, the decayed teeth and almost chronic discharge of disease filter into the system and undermine the child's health during its growing period.

LET US ATTEND TO YOUR CHILDREN'S TEETH.

Let us free the teeth from decaying particles—attend to overlapping, and regulate them so that the permanent teeth will grow in proper position. We can do this painlessly. We have the most modernly-equipped Dental Surgeries in Australia, and our skilled Dentists and kind Nurses take special care with nervous children.

If you yourself have broken teeth, let us advise you. We can fit you with a set of pearly teeth on

AN UNBREAKABLE PLATE FROM ONE GUINEA.

We should like YOU to see these "National" Plates. You simply can't break them—stand on them—throw them with force on the floor, and they will not even crack. Will you let us look your own and your children's case OVER TO-DAY. Our work is guaranteed, and charges so strictly moderate.
